Rules for the escort of suspects, accused and convicted

Chapter 1. General

1. These Rules for the escort of suspects, accused and convicted persons (hereinafter referred to as the Rules) determine the procedure for escorting suspects, accused persons and convicted persons (hereinafter referred to as escorted persons).

2. To carry out escort tasks in the internal affairs bodies, as well as directly in the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Police Departments of regions, cities of republican status and the capital, in the penal system institutions, escort units shall be established.

Convoing of accused and convicted persons shall be carried out by the National Guard units of the Republic of Kazakhstan (hereinafter - the National Guard) in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan "On the National Guard of the Republic of Kazakhstan".

In the absence of National Guard units in the settlement at the penal institution place, the accused and convicts shall be convoyed by the units of the Penitentiary System Committee of the of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

Footnote. Paragraph 2 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

3. The escort of suspects, accused and convicted persons is carried out along certain routes that are developed and approved by the administration of places of detention and serving sentences of internal affairs bodies.

With a compact arrangement of serviced facilities and the presence of roads, a ring escort is organized between temporary detention facilities, pre-trial detention facilities, penitentiary facilities, exchange offices and ships.

Schedules of movement of such convoys are developed taking into account the schedule of movement of the National Guard guards on planned railway, road convoy routes.

4. The Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Departments of Police of regions, the cities of regional significance, the capital and Transport participate in the development of planned routes and, jointly with the headquarters of military units, departments (divisions) of special transportations of the National Guard on the railways, determine the number of scheduled guard flights, exchange points, escort units (internal affairs bodies) that send convoys to these points to receive (surrender) suspects, accused and convicted.

Footnote. Paragraph 4 as amended by Order № 758 of the Acting Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.09.2022 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

5. The escort of suspects, accused and convicted persons is carried out in a special vehicle . In the absence of a special vehicle, for short distances (up to 15 kilometers), escorting is carried out on a passenger utility vehicle or an open, closed cargo vehicle with the written permission of the head of the internal affairs body, territorial body of the penal system.

When escorting convicts held in penal institutions of minimum security, the type of vehicle, the composition and provision of the convoy with special means is determined by the decision of the head of the given institution.

6. If it is necessary to reinforce the escort along the way or if a large number of escorted persons are to be escorted for return escort, the head of the escort addresses the nearest internal affairs body to reinforce the escort with the forces and means available to the internal affairs body. If it is impossible to allocate additional escorts, the head of the internal affairs body, to whom the head of the convoy appealed for assistance, leaves a part of the escort being escorted to his temporary detention center and ensures their maintenance until further transfer.

7. A special vehicle is equipped with radio stations, flashing beacons and intercoms between the cab and the body. When escorting, folding metal corridors are also used (during boarding and alighting of suspects, accused and convicted persons, at off-site court hearings or guarding the accused in courtrooms).

8. Control over the movement of convoys is carried out by the duty officer of the internal affairs body through established radio and wire communication channels.

9. Three levels of convoy security are established: ordinary, reinforced and special:

1) an ordinary convoy is assigned based on:

for one or two escorts - two escorts;

three to six escorted - three escorts;

seven to ten escorted - seven escorts.

The chief of an ordinary convoy is an employee from among the junior commanding officers.

2) a reinforced convoy is appointed if there is information about the intention of one of the escort to escape, attack the guards, cause harm to themselves or others, due to the long route of the escort, difficult geographical and climatic conditions, for escorting by plane. The reinforced convoy is assigned based on:

- for one escort - three escorts;
- for two or four escorted - six escorts;
- for five or six escorted – in seven escorts;
- seven to eight escorted ten escorts;
- nine to ten escorted - twelve escorts.

The head of the reinforced convoy is an employee from among the middle commanding staff.

3) a special convoy is assigned based on one escort of at least 4 escorts. A special convoy is assigned during the escort of persons:

held criminally liable or convicted of crimes for which the Criminal Code of the Republic of Kazakhstan established an exceptional measure of punishment - the death penalty or life imprisonment;

- whose actions are recognized by the court as a particularly dangerous recidivism;
- who have committed grave, especially grave crimes, who previously escaped or attempted to commit it, who attacked escorts and personnel of places of detention;
- prosecuted or convicted of crimes that caused a great public outcry.

The chief of the special convoy is an employee of the internal affairs agency from among the middle or senior commanding staff.

The composition, type, strength, and armament of the detachment is determined by the commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs body, and the institution of the penal correction system.

The escort route is developed jointly with the operational services and agreed with the leadership of the Departments of Police of regions, cities of the republican significance and the capital, the territorial body of the penal system.

Handcuffs are used to limit the freedom of movement of the escorted with an ordinary convoy, while reinforced and with a special convoy for the need to fix the escorted, handcuffs with a chain point are used, combined handcuffs and bracelets connected by a chain, restricting freedom of movement of hands and stride length.

The composition of an ordinary, reinforced and special convoy is armed with firearms and ammunition, has special equipment: gas weapons, handcuffs, rubber sticks, as well as communications equipment (radio stations), a signal pistol, and a metal detector.

The composition of the reinforced and special convoy is additionally equipped in body armor.

Convoying is carried out using service dogs.

Footnote. Paragraph 9 as amended by Order № 758 of the Acting Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.09.2022 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

10. The escort is escorted to the toilet one at a time by the chief of the escort and the escort following in front and behind the escort. The toilet door, while being escorted in it, remains ajar, the handcuffs are removed, the window is fixed in the closed position and.

When escorting women, the staff of the internal affairs bodies - women - are included in the convoy.

11. The suspects, the accused and the convicted to be escorted shall be provided with food and material support along the route by the internal affairs body, from where the escorted individual leaves, in accordance with the order of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated June 5, 2023 № 448 “On the approval of natural norms of nutrition and material and subsistence provision for suspects, accused and convicted persons detained in penal correctional institutions”.

Footnote. Paragraph 11 - in the wording of the order of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 24.01.2024 № 65 (shall enter into force upon expiry of ten calendar days after the day of its first official publication).

Chapter 4. The procedure for the reception of suspects, accused and convicted for escort

30. The head of the pre-trial detention center, the temporary detention center or the institution of the penal correctional system, on the eve of the day the convoys are sent, prepares the corresponding documents for each of them.

31. The convoy should go to the reception center for suspects, accused and convicted, where the head of the convoy:

- 1) present a prescription to the duty officer at the temporary detention facility, the penal institution , in accordance with Appendix 5 to these Rules;
- 2) receives the relevant documents on escorted persons and checks the correctness of their execution, determines the placement of escorted by cameras of a special vehicle, informs the escorts about suspects, accused and convicted persons who require enhanced supervision;
- 3) calculates and arranges the convoy for a personal search and guards suspects, accused and convicted for the time they were taken for escort, accepts for temporary storage the weapons and ammunition of the escorts allocated for the search and placement of escorted by cameras of a special vehicle;
- 4) inspects the premises where the reception of suspects, accused and convicted persons will be carried out in order to find objects that can be used to escape or attack.

Documents on suspects and personal files of the accused and convicted are transferred to the head of the convoy in sealed packages. They are glued on certificates of personal affairs in the form, in accordance with Appendix 6 to this Regulation with photographs of these persons.

In cases where the suspect, accused or convicted person to be escorted is inclined to escape or attack the convoy, he is sentenced to an exceptional measure of punishment - the death penalty, on the information on a personal matter the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system from where the escort is dropped out is affixed .

Reception of persons sent for escort is carried out one at a time and consists in their oral questioning by the head of the convoy, on the state of health, the presence of complaints and applications, reconciliation of the results of the survey with documents, a personal search, and searches of things.

A food certificate in the form is issued for each convoy or group of them sent to one destination at the institution of the penal correction system, the temporary detention center or the temporary detention center, in accordance with Appendix 7 to these Rules.

32. Persons accepted for conveying shall be registered according to the documents available on them in the itinerary log, after which a bodily search, and search of their belongings and food shall be made. For these purposes, one serviceman for the search per 4-6 escorted persons shall be assigned from the convoy unit.

The head of the convoy shall make entries in the itinerary log on the search and examination results, indicating the name of the officer who carried out the search.

The things and items found with the escorted persons that are not allowed for storage in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated March 30, 1999 "On the procedure and conditions for detention of persons in special institutions, special premises providing temporary isolation from society" shall be confiscated.

Piercing and cutting and other articles that can be used by escorted persons to attack the convoy or cause any bodily harm to themselves or others, shall be seized and handed over to the head of the convoy in a separate package, indicating the details of the person to whom they belong. The seized items shall be returned to the escorted persons after they have been delivered to their final destination.

Footnote. Paragraph 32 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

- 1) persons with incorrectly executed documents and without documents;
- 2) patients who are not subject to escort by the conclusion of a doctor (paramedic);
- 3) pregnant women, without the help of a doctor about the possibility of their escort;
- 4) not provided with food on the way and whether they are dressed out of season;

5) who were in contact with infectious patients who have not undergone a medical examination and laboratory examination, before receiving negative results.

34. Escorted persons with disabilities, the movement of which requires outside assistance, are accepted for escort only with accompanying persons allocated by the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system, where the escort is leaving. At the final destination point, such escorted persons are accompanied with the help of police officers allocated by the territorial internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system. Persons with an infectious form of tuberculosis are accepted for escort with accompanying persons only with the written instructions of a doctor. Women with pregnancy for a period of more than six months and women with children under the age of two months are accepted for escort accompanied by a medical worker allocated by the internal affairs agency, the institution of the penal correction system, from where the convoyed leaves or by the medical and preventive health care institution.

Footnote. Paragraph 34 as amended by Order № 758 of the Acting Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.09.2022 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

35. In the event of the death of a convoy en route, the head of the convoy transfers the corpse of the deceased or deceased, as well as his belongings, on receipt (in any form) to the nearest internal affairs agency.

Upon death, a protocol is drawn up in arbitrary form in triplicate, indicating the presence (absence) of external signs of violent death and a corresponding entry is made in the travel journal. One copy of the protocol is handed over to the head of the internal affairs department, which informs the relatives of the deceased (if any) about the place of his burial, the second to the prosecutor's office, and the third remains with the head of the convoy. Subsequently, the report of the forensic medical examination is attached to the protocol.

Chapter 5. Convoying suspects, accused and convicted vehicles

36. Before boarding the escorted to a special vehicle, the head of the convoy checks the condition of his body, the serviceability of lighting, intercom, communications, ventilation, doors and locks of cameras, the strength of the benches and other equipment. Takes measures to remove items that can be used to escape or attack and eliminate identified deficiencies.

37. Landing of escorted to a special vehicle is made after the driver's report on readiness for movement. The vehicle is fed close to the entrance doors (gates) of the building, where the convoys are kept, and from where they will exit. If available, a folding metal corridor is installed.

The convoys in the convoy are led one by one to the door of the vehicle body, the head of the convoy turns them into the body one by one, checking them by name and out loud. In the back, one of the escorts without weapons, in accordance with the instructions of the chief of the escort, places the escorts through the chambers, repeating the score aloud, the rest of the escorts observe the landing in the vehicle.

38. The escorted persons shall be placed in the cells of a special vehicle in compliance with the requirements for their internal isolation specified in separate certificates in the personal files of the escorted or determined, when setting the task of escorting, by the commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system.

39. The escort of suspected, accused and convicted men and women, as well as minors, without appropriate isolation from each other is not allowed. Separate from other suspects, accused and convicted and in isolation from each other, patients with an infectious form of pulmonary tuberculosis are escorted , with mental and infectious diseases.

40. After the convoys are landed, the head of the convoy carries out a control check of compliance with the requirements for their isolation, gives instructions on the placement of the convoy and takes place in the vehicle cabin. The keys to the locks of the cameras are stored at the head of the convoy. The cameras of a special vehicle must be lit for the entire time they are being escorted. If there are two escorts in the body, one of them is appointed senior.

41. When the air temperature drops to minus thirty degrees Celsius and is in transit for more than two hours, as well as during snowstorms, heavy snow drifts and in other cases when movement is difficult, the head of the convoy hands the convoys to the nearest temporary detention center to keep them up to improvement of weather conditions, as reported by the unit commander or the head of the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system, who appointed the convoy.

42. When disembarking the convoys at the final destination to the values, the driver, at the direction of the chief of the convoy, stops the vehicle in a predetermined place, if possible, excluding unauthorized persons. The escorted convoys line up one at a time (two at a time) and follow the command of the chief of the convoy to the premises.

43. Only one suspect, accused or convicted person who is placed in the back seat between two escorts is escorted in a passenger utility vehicle. On the way, handcuffs are put on him in a position from the front or the arm of one (two) escorts. The vehicle doors are locked in the closed position, the windows do not open.

44. Transportation of convoys in an open cargo vehicle is allowed only after building up the sides (not less than thirty centimeters) and equipment in the front and rear parts of the body of rigidly fixed escort benches. In escorted cargo vehicles, an overview of the terrain and the possibility of signaling to the cab of the vehicle are provided.

45. Convoys are placed in an open freight vehicle in rows on the floor of the body (indoor on benches) and face in the direction opposite to the movement. In the middle ranks are placed persons for whom special supervision is established. The convoy , led by the head of the convoy, is located on benches in the front and rear of the body, and one escort is in the cab.

46. The head of the convoy authorizes the departure of the vehicle after clarifying the signals with the driver, checking the location of the escorts, escorts and the strength of the fastening of the side hooks or chains.

47. When escorting leaders of the criminal environment or a large number of escorted by three or more special vehicles, the convoy is escorted to the destination of the vehicle escort with police symbols.

48. The commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs agency, the institution of the penal correction system, sending the escort, reports the date and time of departure of the special vehicle to the head of the authority at the final destination, as well as to the intermediate units of the internal affairs bodies.

Chapter 6. Convoying suspects, accused and convicted on airplanes

49. On airplanes, suspects, accused and convicted persons shall be escorted with the written permission of the heads of the police departments of regions, cities of republican status and the capital, the leadership of the authorized body of the penal system.

Footnote. Paragraph 49 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

50. When escorting suspects, accused and convicted on airplanes, the following requirements must be taken into account :

1) the operator and the aircraft commander are notified of the transportation of passengers in custody no later than three hours before the departure of the aircraft;

2) the seats occupied by escorted persons and the escort are located in the rear part of the passenger compartment, but not in the recreation area or near the exit, or directly opposite the latter, as well as emergency exit hatches;

3) the escorts are presented to the personnel of the aviation security service, the duty officer of the internal affairs agency for transport to the airport , the aircraft commander and flight attendants.

51. Before boarding, police officers, together with aviation security specialists and a crew member, inspect the cabin (compartment) of the aircraft, where the escort will be accommodated, carry out a personal search, as well as search for their hand luggage. Smoking accessories are seized and, together with hand luggage, are handed over to the luggage compartment of the aircraft.

Boarding the escorted to the aircraft is carried out before the general boarding of passengers, and boarding - only after all passengers.

52. Upon delivery of escorted persons to the aircraft, a special vehicle is delivered to the aircraft gangway, and at the end of boarding, the vehicle is taken to the parking lot, where it is located before the aircraft takes off. The place of stay of a special vehicle with escorted ones and its parking before take-off is agreed in advance with the airport administration and the aviation security service.

53. Embarkation and disembarkation of the escorted aircraft is carried out by the assigned convoy, with the participation of additionally allocated employees from the internal affairs agencies sending the escort, meeting at the destination airport, as well as the linear departments of the internal affairs, and the aviation security officer of the airport. In this case, the convoy and additional employees are lined up in a corridor in two lines, two and fifteen meters from the escort. Also, escorts are located at the front door of the aircraft, on the opposite side and inside the aircraft. The escort during boarding and disembarking is carried out in the doctors one at a time, accompanied by the chief of the convoy and the escorts.

54. Transportation of escorted persons on airplanes is carried out only in handcuffs in the "front" position.

Placing escorted in an airplane is made in one cabin. The guards are seated in front, on the side and behind them.

After the departure and before the landing of the aircraft, one of the escorts carries out service, standing on the line of the first row of seats, on which the escort is placed, facing them. The escort is changed by the chief of the convoy every thirty minutes.

55. In order to strengthen security, two officers of the internal affairs bodies are additionally singled out, who attach it to themselves with two pairs of handcuffs put on the hands of the escort.

56. The transfer of escort provided to passengers of the aircraft is carried out by the chief of the convoy, but not more than two escorted. Knives and forks are not issued. The escorts take food alternately at different times with escorted persons.

57. Arrangements for organizing convoys at airports, ensuring their departure and reception are carried out by the heads of territorial and linear internal affairs bodies, respectively, of the point of departure and destination.

58. The head of the convoy:

1) upon arrival at the airport, informs the duty officer on the internal affairs body, the UIS institution about the departure time, flight number and the number of convoys;

2) accompanied by an employee of the airport's internal affairs body, in a special vehicle, along with escorted persons, through the security service post, to the aircraft parking lot, where he is awaiting a call by a police officer and an aviation security officer conducting an inspection;

3) prior to boarding the escorted to the aircraft, together with the officer of the aviation security service and a member of the crew of the aircraft inspects the Pass fat salon. Before boarding the aircraft, taking into account additional employees, organizes guarding of the escorted, in accordance with the requirements of these Rules;

4) puts handcuffs on escorted convicts, warns them of the observance of the rules of conduct in the aircraft, carries out a personal check, as well as searches of baggage and hand luggage. Hand baggage is deposited in the luggage compartment of the aircraft;

5) land the convoys on board the aircraft before the general boarding of the passengers. The first convoy to the cabin of the aircraft is escorted by two escorts and the head of the convoy. After placing the escort, two escorts remain in the cabin for his protection, and the convoy chief returns for the next. The second and next escorts are escorted by the escort and the chief of the convoy ;

6) on all matters of protection during escort on aircraft, maintains contact with the crew of the aircraft and ensures that the personnel of the convoy and the convoys comply with all the requirements established on board for passengers;

7) in case of an airplane landing at intermediate points with a parking duration of more than 1.5 hours, transfers the convoys to a room isolated from passengers, and with an additional delay of departure for the night, to the temporary detention center of the nearest territorial internal affairs body ;

8) after transferring the escorted to the temporary detention center, the pre-trial detention center, the institution of the penal correction system, records the delivery of weapons and ammunition by the personnel of the convoy for temporary storage to the officer on duty at the internal affairs body, informs him of his further location;

9) reports to the head of his internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system on the fulfillment of the assignment, acts further on his instructions.

Chapter 7. Convoying suspects, accused and convicted in wagons of passenger trains , on river and sea vessels

59. The carriage of persons escorted on sea and river vessels, in passenger train carriages, shall be permissible only if there are no planned escort ways on these routes or if it is impossible to deliver the escorted persons to the destination in another way, with the written permission of the heads of the Police Departments of regions, cities of republican status and the capital, territorial body of the penal system.

Footnote. Paragraph 59 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

60. Convoying by rail is carried out in special wagons, the movement of which is carried out on the basis of a set of timetables for wagons with passenger and postal-baggage trains.

61. Convoying in compartment cars of passenger trains is allowed. Escorted persons are accommodated separately in the last compartment of the wagon. The escort route is coordinated with the linear police departments on transport. Transportation of escorted persons in reserved seats is not allowed.

62. Before boarding a passenger train escorted into the compartment carriage, the convoy inspects the carriage and the last compartment where the escort will be stationed.

The escorted persons are put into the compartment car before the general boarding of the passengers, and the disembarkation - only after all the passengers.

63. When the escort is delivered to the train, a special vehicle is delivered to the car's vestibule, and at the end of boarding, the vehicle is taken to the parking lot, where it is located before the train is dispatched. The parking place of a special vehicle is agreed in advance with the administration of the railway station.

64. Boarding and disembarking suspects, accused, and convicts from a compartment carriage of a passenger train is carried out by the appointed convoy, with the participation of additionally assigned outfits from the internal affairs bodies, the penal correction system institutions sending the convoy, meeting at the destination, and also the linear police departments for transport. At the same time, the convoy and the additional outfit are lined up by a corridor in two lines: two and fifteen meters from the escorted ones. Guards line up at the front door of the car, on the opposite side and inside the car. The escort during embarkation and disembarkation is carried out in handcuffs one at a time, accompanied by the chief of the convoy and the escorts.

65. The transportation of suspects, accused and convicted in a compartment carriage of a passenger train is carried out only in handcuffs in the "front" position, while the window in the compartment is locked in the closed position.

66. In order to strengthen security, two officers are additionally allocated, who, with two pairs of handcuffs put on the hands of the escort, attach him to themselves.

67. Arrangements for organizing convoys in passenger train cars, on river and sea vessels, and ensuring their departure and reception are carried out by the heads of territorial and linear internal affairs bodies, respectively, of the point of departure and destination.

68. The head of the convoy:

1) upon arrival at the station, informs the duty officer on the internal affairs body about the numbers of passenger trains with which a special or compartment car will be sent, the time of their departure, the number of escorts and the convoy;

2) prior to boarding the escorted to the compartment car, inspects the car and the last compartment, where the escort will be accommodated. Before boarding a wagon, taking into account an additional outfit, arrange guarding of the escorted, in accordance with the requirements of these Rules;

3) puts handcuffs on escorted convicts, warns them of compliance with the requirements of behavior in the compartment carriage of a passenger train, performs a personal check, as well as baggage screening;

4) landing escorted convoys into the car until the general boarding of passengers. The first convoy to the wagon was escorted by two escorts and a convoy commander. After placing the escorted, two escorts remain in the compartment of the car to guard him, and the head of the convoy returns for the next. The second and subsequent escorts are escorted by the escort and the chief of the convoy;

5) on all matters of protection during escort in passenger trains, maintains contact with the police squad in transport accompanying the passenger train;

6) when the passenger train is delayed at night, transfers the convoys to a room isolated from passengers, to the temporary detention center of the internal affairs agency in transport or to the nearest territorial internal affairs agency;

7) in the event of a car malfunction, its uncoupling and replacement along the route, the head of the convoy, in agreement with the head of the train, takes measures to transfer the escorted and the convoy to another compartment car of the same train. In this case, a separate (last) compartment of the wagon is also provided;

8) after the transfer of suspects, accused and convicted persons to a temporary detention center, the pre-trial detention center, the institution of the penal correction system shall record the delivery of weapons and ammunition by the personnel of the convoy for temporary storage to the officer on duty at the internal affairs body, notifying him of their further location;

9) reports to the head of his internal affairs body on the fulfillment of the assignment, acts further on his instructions, if it has not been agreed in advance;

10) at the time of putting the suspects, accused or convicted persons to the toilet, establish a guard post in the vestibule of the car.

69. The commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system, sending the escort, takes measures to strengthen the protection of the escort when boarding them on the river or sea vessel, and also informs the head of the internal affairs body at the final destination about the time of arrival of the convoy the nature of the assistance he should be given.

70. Convoys are delivered to the marina at least one to two hours before the general boarding of passengers and, if possible, directly to the gangway of the vessel. Prior to disembarking them from a special vehicle, the head of the escort resolves the issue with the ship's captain about the allocation of isolated premises for the escort and escort (the latter should not be placed on open decks), inspects the premises intended for the maintenance of escorted, closes the windows in them (portholes), checks the serviceability of lighting, ventilation, sets at the door of the guard (guards) from among the guards subordinate to him.

71. Convoys are sent to the ship one or two, accompanied by the chief of the convoy. At the same time, additional police units serve on the shore, opposite the bow and stern of the vessel.

At the end of the landing, the presence of escorts is checked by recounting and by accompanying documents. The movement of escorted persons during the boarding (disembarkation) of passengers is not allowed.

72. The guards for escorted convoys are installed at windows (portholes) and doors (hatches), which are closed.

73. At the berths of the ship, etc., and boarding (disembarking) passengers, as well as passing dangerous areas for navigation, the convoy strengthens control over the behavior of suspects, accused and convicted persons. During a storm, special attention is paid to taking measures to prevent possible convoy attacks and accidents involving convoy personnel and escorts.

Chapter 8. Convoying suspects, accused and convicted on foot

74. The escort of suspects, accused and convicted on foot is carried out:

1) at railway stations, marinas, and airports - from a special vehicle (premises of exchange points) to cars, ships, aircraft, if there are no access roads between them;

2) from a special vehicle - to cells for holding escorted in court buildings or to designated premises for visiting sessions of courts, to the restricted area of pre-trial detention facilities, to the place of investigation, medical institutions;

3) from the place of detention of those who escaped from prison, the penal institutions or the convoy - to the nearest point of surrender if it is not possible to use vehicles;

4) from a penal institution - in the event of an emergency of a natural, man-made or other nature that threatens the life of convicts, to another guarded institution or a safe place.

It is not allowed to escort suspects, accused and convicted on foot in cities and other settlements on passenger platforms (marinas) during boarding and disembarking passengers on trains (ships), through train station premises and other crowded places.

75. When escorting on foot, suspects, accused and convicted, depending on their number and width of the road, build up 2-4 people in a convoy.

Convicts held in a medium-security institution are escorted by convoys of no more than 200 people at a distance of not more than 200 meters, of mixed, maximum, complete and emergency security - convoys of not more than 100 people at a distance of not less than 300 meters from one another.

The convoy is positioned as follows:

1) in the presence of two escorts - one is 1-1.5 meters on the left side and several behind the escort, the other on the right, at the same distance behind them;

2) in the presence of three escorts - two escorts on both sides of the escorted, the head of the convoy - behind the whole group;

3) in the presence of four or more escorts - one of them in front, the rest on the sides, the head of the convoy - behind the convoy. Depending on the conditions, the head of the convoy reduces or increases the distance between escorts and escorts.

76. A group of convoys follows the right side of the carriageway in the direction of movement of vehicles. In order to prevent cases of collision with vehicles, guards following the front and rear of the convoy are provided with red flags, and in the dark and in low visibility conditions, the lights turned on: in front - white, back - red.

77. On the ferries, the escorted are located in the middle of the deck, and the guards are put up on the stern and bow. In the boat, the escorts are placed at the bottom, facing the opposite direction to the movement, and the escorts are one behind the escorts and the other aft.

78. At an air temperature below minus thirty degrees Celsius, during floods, snow drifts and other adverse conditions, the convoy stops in the nearest village and then acts in accordance with the requirements of these Rules.

Chapter 9. The core of the reception and delivery of escorted to exchange points

79. The escorted are delivered to the exchange office before the scheduled guard arrives at it. The commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs body, the institution of the penal correction system, before sending the convoy to the exchange office, through the administration of the station (wharf, airport), clarifies possible changes in the arrival schedule of the train (plane, sea or river vessel), which is followed by a scheduled guard.

80. At the exchange point, the convoy chief specifies the duration and stopping place (stop) of the special car (vehicle, plane, ship) that runs along the planned escort route, and depending on this, determines the further order of delivery of the escorted to the arriving guard. Parking with a special vehicle is selected, if possible, five to ten meters from the stop of a special car. Advance delivery of escorted to the stopping point of the specified transport is allowed only at railway stations with a short train stop.

81. After disembarking from a special vehicle, the escorted are lined up in a convoy one at a time and, guarded by escorts, follow to the landing site. Convoyed persons, for whom special supervision is established, as well as those subject to isolation from all other suspects, accused and convicted, are escorted separately.

At railway stations, the escort is exchanged on the opposite side of the passenger boarding (disembarking). The guards are guarded in two lines. To the front of the working platform of a special carriage, from the opposite side of the embarkation (disembarkation) of the escorted, it is set up well in advance of the arrival of the train at the station.

82. The chief of the convoy shall present to the arriving chief of the guard of the National Guard his service certificate and an order for the right to receive (surrender) the escorted, be convinced of the presence of the same order from the head of the guard, inform him of the guarded escorts and proceed to exchange them with.

After the delivery of the escorted, the head of the convoy accepts for subsequent escort of suspects, accused and convicted from the guard in accordance with the requirements of these Rules.

A suspect, accused, or convicted person is deemed to be taken into custody after receiving his serial number aloud.

83. With the introduction of planned routes or with a change in the schedule of trains (sea or river vessels, airplanes), the headquarters of the military units of the National Guard are sent to the relevant convoy units, the internal affairs body, the establishment of the penal correction system, extracts from the route schedules of movement of the planned guards of the National Guard .

Based on the extract from the route schedule of the National Guard's planned guards, the commander of the escort unit, the head of the internal affairs body, the UIS institution develops a schedule of convoys to the exchange point for the reception (delivery) of escorts. In cases where fifteen or more suspects are to be convoyed to the exchange office, accused or convicted, the unit commander, the head of the internal affairs body, the UIS institution shall agree in advance with the commander of the National Guard escort unit on the possibility of escorting this amount.

84. New exchange offices on the planned escort routes shall be opened by the decision of the Main Command of the National Guard on the motion of the Police Departments of regions, cities of republican status and the capital, territorial bodies of the penal system. The territorial bodies of the penal system shall notify the commander of the convoy unit, from which the planned escort is assigned, about the need to close the exchange office on the injunction of Police Departments of the regions, cities of republican scale and the capital.

Footnote. Paragraph 84 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

Chapter 10. Convoying suspects and accused to courts

85. Convoying of suspects and accused persons to courts shall be carried out by orders of the chiefs of the police departments of regions, cities of republican status and the capital, after the acceptance of these institutions for servicing.

Footnote. Paragraph 84 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

86. The acceptance of a court for servicing is formalized by the commission inspection report, which indicates:

1) the name of the court and the escort unit of the police (internal affairs body), their exact addresses;

2) characteristics of courtrooms, convoy premises and the maintenance of the accused, providing them with the necessary equipment to prevent escape, equipment (furniture), communications and signaling;

3) the procedure for the manufacture of removable equipment, the allocation of premises for the maintenance of the accused and the placement of the convoy at the venues for visiting court hearings;

- 4) escort routes from a special vehicle to cells for escorting escorted persons to courtrooms and back;
- 5) the procedure for interaction with the leaders of the court;
- 6) deficiencies in the equipment of the court premises, the timing for their elimination and the officials responsible for this.

On the basis of the act of commission inspection, an order is issued to accept the court for service, and one copy is sent in c .

Police officers examine the scope and conditions of service, determine the required number of convoys, the security system for suspects and accused, the main and alternate routes for their escort from the remand prison (temporary detention center).

Servicing of the court shall be terminated on the initiative of the Ministry of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan, Police Departments, Police headquarters and city, regional police departments in the event of unfit technical facilities and equipment of the convoy premises, courtrooms and other court premises for the maintenance of the escorted.

The basis for the transfer of the accused from the pre-trial detention center to the temporary detention center is a court request.

Footnote. Paragraph 86 - as amended by Order № 374 of the Minister of Internal Affairs of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 05.05.2020 (shall be enforced upon expiry of ten calendar days after the date of its first official publication).

87. For each serviced court, a police escort unit develops a security plan and personnel calculation in case of emergency. The escort of suspects, accused and convicted persons to premises where there are no toilets and isolated rooms for the placement of the convoy and escorted , as well as telephone communications with the police escort unit, is not allowed by the internal affairs body.

88. In cases of serious and very serious crimes, and the crimes committed by members of organized crime groups and organizations, developed a special plan that includes stronger version of service, including the placement of police officers in plain clothes among nahodyaschihs I in the courtroom.

By agreement with the administration of the detention center, these processes can be carried out in separate rooms at the place of detention of suspects and accused.

89. The routes for escorting suspects and accused from the pre-trial detention center or temporary detention center to the court and vice versa are established along the street with the least traffic and citizens.

90. The convoy departs from the escort unit, the internal affairs body in such a way as to take the escorted to the remand prison, the temporary detention center and deliver them to their destination no later than thirty minutes before the hearing.

Upon arrival at the court, the head of the convoy reports to the presiding judge on the delivery of the escorted, checks the condition of the cells for their maintenance, inspects the court room (s), corridors and stairwells.

If cases are heard at the same time in several halls, senior guards are appointed, who are instructed on the order of service. To guard one escorted in the courtroom, at least two escorts are allocated, if necessary, at the same time, a post (s) is set up at the cameras for the escort.

The cameras must meet the requirements of the separate contents of the various categories of escorted, be equipped with benches fixed to the floor, metal bars on the windows, ventilation, lighting, door locks and sight holes in them. Light sources and ventilation niches are fenced with a metal mesh or grill, switches are installed outside the chambers.
