The Rules for calculating the operating costs for a certain flight when subsidizing an air route

Chapter 1. General provisions

1. These Rules for calculating the operating costs for a certain flight when subsidizing an air route shall be developed in accordance with paragraph 2 of the Rules for subsidizing air routes, approved by the resolution of the Government of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated December 31, 2010 No. 1511 and shall determine the procedure for calculating the operating costs for a certain flight when subsidizing an air route.

Chapter 2. Procedure for calculating the operating costs of a particular flight when subsidizing an air route

2. Operational costs for a certain flight when subsidizing air routes shall be calculated as follows:

Total operating costs = flight time x prime cost of flight hours for aircraft + airport services + fuel and lubricant materials + ANS + meteorological support + other expenses, where:

flight time - the total time from the beginning of the movement of the aircraft with the purpose of take-off until the moment the aircraft stops;

the prime cost of flight hours for aircraft - the prime cost, calculated in accordance with the order of the Minister of Transport and Communication of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated March 18, 2011 No. 159 "On approval of the Instructions for calculating the prime cost of flight hours when performing flights on subsidized routes" (registered in the Register of the state registration of regulatory legal acts No. 6856);

airport services - goods, works, aerodrome and ground services that are part of airport activities;

fuel and lubricant materials - the cost of aviation fuel and lubricants;

ANS - the cost of air navigation services;

meteorological support - the costs of the services of the meteorological support of a flight;

other expenses - expenses including those for the sale of tickets, transportation of goods and baggage, as well as expenses for in-flight meals for passengers and crew of the flight.
