Footnote. Paragraph 2 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021; № 50-VII of 14.06.2021; dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

II. Investigation

1.The purposes of conducting of investigation

3. The introduction of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure upon import of goods is preceded by an investigation conducted for the purposes of establishment of:

existence of increased import to the customs territory of the Union and serious damage of a branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this or threat of its causing;

existence of dumping or subsidized import to the customs territory and material damage of a branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this, or threat of its causing or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states.

2. The body conducting the investigations

4. The body conducting the investigations shall act within the powers, provided to it by international treaties and acts, constituting the right of the Union.

5. The body conducting the investigations shall present a report, containing proposals on feasibility of application or extension of the term of validity of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure or revision or cancellation of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure, with the annex of project of relevant decision of Commission to the Commission according to results of investigation.

6. Revision of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure shall provide its change, cancellation or liberalization on the results of the reinvestigation.

7. The body conducting the investigations shall present a report, containing suggestions on feasibility of introduction and application of preliminary special, preliminary antidumping or preliminary compensatory duty, with the annex of project of relevant decision of Commission before completion of the investigation in the cases, provided by paragraphs 15-22, 78-89, 143-153 of this Minute.

8. Provision of evidences and details to the body conducting the investigations, as well as correspondence with the body, conducting the investigation shall be carried out in Russian language, and original documents which are composed in a foreign language shall be accompanied by a translation in Russian language (with certificate of such translation).

III. Special protective measures

1. General principles of application of special protective measure

9. Special protective measure shall be applied in relation of goods, imported to the customs territory of the Union from exporting third country, irrespective of the country of its origin, except for:

1) the goods, originating from the developing or least developed third country-user of the system of tariff preferences of the Union, until the share of import of these goods from such country does not exceed 3 percent from the total volume of import of such goods to the customs territory of the Union, upon condition, that the total share of import of these goods from the developing or least developed third countries, on the share of each of which is not more than 3 percent of the total volume of import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union does not exceed 9 percent from the total volume of import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union;

2) the goods, originating from the state-participant of Commonwealth of Independent States, being the party of Agreement on the free trade area dated 18 October, 2011, upon execution of conditions, established by Article 8 of specified Agreement.

10. Commission shall adopt decision on distribution of special protective measure to the goods, originating from developing or least developed third country and excluded from validity of special protective measure in accordance with paragraph 9 of this Minute, in the case if according to the results of reinvestigation, conducted by the body, conducting the investigation in accordance with paragraphs 31,33 and 34 of this Minute is established, that the share of import of goods from such developing or least developed third country exceeds the indicators, established by paragraph 9 of this Minute.

11. Commission shall adopt decision on distribution of special protective measure to the goods, originating from the state – participant of Commonwealth of Independent States, being the party of Agreement on the free trade area dated 18 October, 2011, excluded from validity of special protective measure in accordance with paragraph 9 of this Minute, in the case if according to the results of reinvestigation, conducted by the body, conducting the investigation, in accordance with paragraphs 31,33 and 34 of this Minute is established that conditions, specified in article 8 of specified Agreement are not performed.

2. Establishment of serious damage of a branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing due to increased import

12. For the purposes of establishment of serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing due to increased import to the customs territory of the Union, the body conducting the investigations, in the course of investigation shall access the objective factors, which may be expressed in the quantitative indices and which render assistance to the economic position of the branch of economy of the member states, as well as the following:

1) rate and volume of increase of import of goods, being the object of investigation, in the absolute indices and relative indices to the total volume of production or consumption of similar or directly competitive goods in the member states;

2) the share of imported goods, being the object of investigation, in the total sales of these goods and similar or directly competitive goods on the market of the member states;

3) the price level of imported goods, being the object of investigation, in comparison with the price level for similar or directly competitive goods, produced in the member states;

4) change of the volume of sales on the market of the member states of similar or directly competitive goods, produced in the member states;

5) change of the volume of production of similar or directly competitive goods, productivity, use of production capacities, the amounts of profit and losses, as well as employment level in the branch of economy of the member states.

13. Serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing due to increased import shall be established on the basis of results of analysis of all evidences and details, relating to the case and available to the body, conducting the investigation.

14. The body conducting the investigations, in addition to increased import shall analyze other known factors, due to which the serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states is caused or the threat of its causing is created in the same period. The specified damage shall not be referred to the serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing due to increased import to the customs territory of the Union.

3. The introduction of preliminary special duty

15. In the critical circumstances where a delay of application of a special protective measure would result in damage to the branch of economy of the member states, which will be difficult to eliminate later, the Commission may adopt decision on introduction of preliminary special duty on the basis of preliminary conclusion of the body, conducting the investigation for the term, not exceeding 200 calendar days before completion of relevant investigation, in accordance with which there are clear proofs that the increased import of goods, being the object of investigation, is caused or threatens to cause a serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states.

16. The body conducting the investigations shall inform the authorized body of exporting third country, as well as other known interested persons on possible introduction of preliminary special duty in written form.

17. At the request of the authorized body of exporting third country on conducting of consultation on the issue of introduction of preliminary special duty, such consultations shall be initiated after adoption of decision on introduction of preliminary special duty by Commission.

18. In the case if according to the results of investigation the absence of the ground for introduction of special protective measure is established by the body, conducting the investigation, or decision on non-application of special protective measure is adopted in accordance with paragraph 272 of this Minute, the amounts of preliminary special duty shall subject to return to in the manner according to the annex to this Minute.

The body conducting the investigations shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states on the absence of grounds for introduction of special protective measure or on adoption of decision on non-application of special protective measure by Commission.

19. In the case if according to the results of investigation the decision on application of special protective measure (as well as by introduction of import or special quota) is adopted, the term of validity of preliminary special duty shall be counted to the total term of validity of special protective measure, and the amounts of preliminary special duty shall subject to crediting and distribution from the date of entering of decision on application of special protective measure, adopted according to the results of investigation, to the legal force, in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute, in recognition of provisions of paragraphs 20 and 21 of this Minute.

20. In the case if according to the results the investigation the introduction of a lower rate special duty, than the rate of preliminary special duty is recognized as appropriate, the amounts of preliminary special duty, relevant to the amounts of special duty, calculated according to the established rate of special duty shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute.

The amounts of preliminary special duty, exceeding the amounts of special duty, calculated according to established rate of special duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute.

21. In the case if according to the results of investigation the introduction of a higher rate of special duty, than the rate of preliminary special duty is recognized as appropriate, the difference between the amounts of special duty and preliminary special duty shall not be charged.

22. Decision on introduction of preliminary special duty shall be applied, as a rule, not later than 6 months from the date of commencement of investigation.

4. Application pf special protective measure

23. The special protective measure shall be applied by decision of the Commission in the amount and during the term, which are necessary for prevention or elimination of serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing, as well as for facilitation the adaptive process of the branch of economy of the member states to the changing economic conditions.

24. Where a special safeguard measure is applied by establishing an import or special quota, the amount of such import or special quota shall not be less than the average annual volume of imports of the product under investigation (in quantitative or value terms) for the preceding period, except in cases where it is necessary to establish a smaller amount of import or special quota to eliminate serious damage to a sector of the economy of Member States or the threat of causing it.

Footnote. Paragraph 24 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

25. When distributing an import or special quota between exporting third countries, those who are interested in delivering the goods that are the subject of the investigation to the customs territory of the Union shall be allowed to hold consultations on the issue of distributing the import or special quota between them.

Footnote. Paragraph 25 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

26. If it is not possible to hold the consultations provided for in paragraph 25 of this Protocol or if no agreement on such distribution is reached during the consultations, the import or special quota shall be distributed among exporting third countries that have an interest in exporting the goods that are the subject of the investigation to the customs territory of the Union in the proportion established during the import of these goods from these exporting third countries in the previous period based on the total volume of imports of such goods in quantitative or value terms.

In this case, any special factors that could or may affect the course of trade in the given product shall be taken into account.

Footnote. Paragraph 26 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

27. Where the percentage increase in imports of a product that is the subject of an investigation from individual exporting third countries has increased disproportionately concerning the overall increase in imports of such product over the 3 years preceding the date of applying an investigation, the Commission may distribute the import or special quota between such exporting third countries, taking into account the absolute and relative indicators of the increase in imports of that product into the customs territory of the Union from such exporting third countries.

The provisions of this paragraph shall apply only if the investigating body establishes the existence of serious damage to a sector of the economy of the Member States.

Footnote. Paragraph 27 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

28. The procedure for applying a special protective measure in the form of an import or special quota shall be established by a decision of the Commission. If such a decision provides for import licensing, licenses shall be issued in the manner established by Article 46 of the Treaty.

Footnote. Paragraph 28 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

29. Ceased to be in force by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

5. The term of validity and revision of special protective measure

30. The term of validity of special protective measure shall not exceed 4 years, except for the case of extension of the term of validity of such measure in accordance with paragraph 31 of this Minute.

31. The term of validity of special protective measure, specified in paragraph 30 of this Minute may be extended by decision of the Commission, if according to the results of reinvestigation, conducted by the body, conducting the investigation, it is established that for elimination of serious damage to the branch of economy of the member states or threat of its causing it is necessary extension of the term of validity of special protective measure, and there are the evidences that the measures, contributing the adaptation of the branch to the changing economic conditions are taken by the relevant branch of economy.

32. Upon adoption of decision on extension of the term of validity of special protective measure by Commission, such measure may not be more restrictive than the special protective measure valid on the date of adoption of this decision.

33. In the case if the term of validity of special protective measure exceeds 1 year, the Commission shall defuse such special protective measure through the equal time intervals during the term of its validity.

In the case if the term of validity of special protective measure exceeds 3 years, the body, conducting the investigation shall conduct reinvestigation, not later than expiration of the half of the term of validity of such measure according to the results of which the special protective measure may be maintained, defused or cancelled.

For the purposes of this paragraph under mitigation of special protective measure shall be regarded the increase of the volume of import quota or special quota or reduction of the rate of special duty.

34. In addition to the reinvestigation, specified in paragraph 33 of this Minute, the reinvestigation may be conducted at the initiative of the body, conducting the investigation, or upon application of the interested person for the purposes of:

1) determination of feasibility of the change, liberalization or cancellation of special protective measure in connection with the changed consequences, as well as specification of goods, being the object of the special protective measure, if there are the grounds to believe that such goods may not be produced in the Union in the course of application of this special protective measure;

2) establishment of the share of developing or least developed third countries in the total volume of import of goods to the customs territory of the Union;

3) establishment of the fact of performance of criteria, determined by Article 8 of specified Agreement for the state - participant of Commonwealth of Independent States, being the party of Agreement on the free trade area dated 18 October, 2011.

35. Application on conducting of the reinvestigation for the purposes, specified in subparagraph 1 of paragraph 34 of this Minute may be applied by the body, conducting the investigation, if after introduction of special protective measure has passed at least one year.

36. Upon conducting of reinvestigation in recognition of relevant differences shall be applied provisions, relating to conducting of investigation.

37. The total term of validity of special protective measure, including the term of validity of preliminary special duty and the term, on which the validity of special protective measure is extended shall not exceed 8 years.

38. Special protective measure may not be re-applied to the goods, to which the special protective measure is previously applied during the term equal to the term of validity of previous special protective measure. Upon that the term during of which the special protective measure is not applied may not be less than 2 years.

39. The special protective measure, the term of validity of which is not more than 180 calendar days, irrespective of provisions, established by paragraph 38 of this Minute may be re-applied to the same goods, if passed at least 1 year from the date of introduction of preceding special protective measure and special protective measure is not applied to such goods more than 2 times within 5 years, preceding the date of introduction of a new special protective measure.

IV. Antidumping measure

1. General principles of application of antidumping measure

40. The goods shall be subject of dumped import, if the export price of these goods is lower than their normal value.

41. Period of investigation for which the details are analyzed for the purposes of determination of existence of dumped import shall be established by the body, conducting the investigation. Upon that such period shall be established, as a rule, equal to 12 months, preceding the date of filing of application on conducting of investigation, for which there are the statistical data, but in any case this period shall not be less than 6 months.

2. Determination of margin of dumping

42. Margin of dumping shall be determined by the body, conducting the investigation on the basis of comparison:

1) weighted-average normal value of goods with weighted-average export price of goods;

2) normal value of goods on individual transactions with export priced of goods on individual transactions;

3) weighted-average normal value of goods with export prices of goods on individual transactions upon condition of significant differences in price of goods depending on buyers, regions or period of supply of goods.

43. Comparison of export price of goods with its normal value shall be carried out on the same stage of trade operation and in relation of cases of sale of goods, occurring as far as possible at the same time.

44. Upon comparison of export price of goods with its normal value shall be carried out their correction in recognition of differences, having an influence on comparability of prices, as well as differences of conditions and characteristics of supplies, taxation, stages of trade operations, quantitative indicators, physical characteristics, as well as any other differences, in relation of which the evidences of their impact on comparability of prices are presented.

The body, conducting the investigations is convinced that corrections in recognition of specified differences do not duplicate each other and distort the results of comparison of export price with normal value of goods.

The body conducting the investigations shall have a right to request information, necessary for ensuring of appropriate comparison of export price of goods with its normal value from the interested persons.

45. In the case if purchase and sales transactions of similar goods upon ordinary course of trade on the market of exporting third country are absent or due to the low volume of sales of the similar goods upon the ordinary course of trade or by virtue of special situation on the market of exporting third country is impossible to conduct an appropriate comparison of export price of goods with the price of similar goods upon sale on the market of exporting third country, the export price of goods shall be compared or with the comparable price of similar goods, imported from the exporting third country to other third country (upon condition that the price of similar goods is representative), or with the costs of production of goods in the country of its origin in recognition of necessary administrative, trade and general costs and profits.

46. In the case if the goods are imported to the customs territory of the Union from the third country, not being the country of its origin, the export price of such goods shall be compared with comparable price of similar goods on the market of third country.

Export price of goods may be compared with comparable price of similar goods in the country of its origin, if these goods are only transshipped through a third country, from which it is exported to the customs territory of the Union, or its production is not carried out in this third country, if there is no comparable price of similar goods.

47. In the case if upon comparison of export price of goods with its normal value require recalculation of their values of one currency to another, such recalculation shall be conducted with the use of official currency rate at the date of sale of the goods.

The currency rate, applied upon sale of currency for the term shall be used in the case if sale of foreign currency was directly related to the corresponding export supply of goods and is carried out for the term.

The body, conducting the investigations shall not consider currency movement and in the course of investigation provide at least 60 calendar days to the exporters for correction of their export prices in recognition of sustainable changes of currency rates in the period of investigation.

48. The body conducting the investigations, as a rule shall determine the individual margin of dumping for each known exporter and (or) producer of goods, presented the necessary details, allowing to determine the individual margin of dumping.

49. In the case if the body, conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on irreceivability of determination of individual margin of dumping for each known exporter and (or) producer of goods by reason of total number of exporters, producers or importers of goods, variety of goods or for any other reason, it may use restriction of determination of individual margin of dumping based on the reasonable number of interested persons or determine the margin of dumping in relation of selection of goods from each exporting third country, which on available information of the body, conducting the investigations is statistically representative and may be researched, not violating the progress of the investigation.

The selection of interested persons for the purposes of restriction of determination of individual margin of dumping shall be carried out by the body, conducting the investigations, preferably on the basis of consultations with relevant foreign exporters, producers and importers of goods, being the object of investigation, and with their consent.

In the case if the body, conducting the investigations uses the restriction in accordance with this paragraph, it shall also determine the individual margin of dumping in relation of each foreign exporter or foreign producer, which were not primarily selected, but provided the necessary details according to the established period for their consideration, except for the cases, when the number of foreign exporters and (or) foreign producers is so large that individual consideration may lead to violation by the body, conducting the investigations, the term of conducting of relevant investigation.

Voluntary provided responses of such foreign exporters and (or) foreign producers shall not be rejected by the body, conducting the investigation.

50. In the case if the body, conducting the investigations uses the restriction of determination of individual margin of dumping in accordance with paragraph 49 of this Minute, the amount of margin of dumping, calculated in relation of foreign exporters or foreign producers of goods, being the subject of dumped import shall not exceed the amount of weighted-average margin of dumping, determined in relation of foreign exporters or foreign producers of goods, being the subject of dumped import, selected for determination of individual margin of dumping.

51. If the exporters or producers of goods, being the object of investigation do not provide the requested information in a required form and established terms to the body, conducting the investigations or information, provided by them may not be verified or does not correspond to validity, the body conducting the investigations may determine the margin of dumping on the basis of another available information.

52. Except for the determination of individual margin of dumping for each known exporter and (or) producer of goods, which are presented the necessary details, allowing to determine the individual margin of dumping, the body conducting the investigations may determine the unified margin of dumping for all other exporters and (or) producers of goods, being the object of investigation on the basis of highest margin of dumping, determined in the course of investigation.

3. Determination of normal value of the goods

53. Normal value of the goods shall be determined by the body, conducting the investigations on the basis of prices of similar goods upon their sale in the period of investigation in the internal market of exporting third country upon ordinary course of trade to the buyers, not being the related persons with producers and exporters, being the residents of this third country for the use in the customs territory of exporting third country.

For the purposes of determination of normal value may be considered the prices of similar goods upon their sale in the internal market of exporting third country to the buyers, being the related persons with producers and exporters, being the residents of this third country, in the case if it is established that this relationship does not affect on the price policy of foreign producer and (or) exporter.

54. The volume of sale of similar goods upon ordinary course of trade in the internal market of exporting third country shall be considered as sufficient for determination of normal value of goods, if this volume is not less than 5 percent from the total volume of export of goods to the customs territory of the Union from exporting third country.

The lower volume of sale of similar goods upon ordinary course of goods shall be considered as acceptable for determination of normal value of goods, if there are the evidences that such volume is sufficient for ensuring of appropriate comparison of export price of goods with the price of similar goods upon ordinary course of trade.

55. Upon determination of normal value of goods in accordance with paragraph 53 of this Minute, the price of goods upon their sales to the buyers in the internal market of exporting third country shall be the averaged weighted price, on which the similar goods are sold to the buyers during the period of investigation, or the price of goods on each separate sale to the buyers within this period.

56. The sale of similar goods in the internal market of exporting third country or from exporting third country to other third country on low cost prices of production of the unit of similar goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs may be considered upon determination of normal value of goods only in the case, if the body, conducting the investigations establishes that such sale is carried out during investigation in the significant volume and at the prices, which may not ensure compensation of all costs for this period.

57. In the case if the price of similar goods, which at the time of its sale is below of production of the unit of similar goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs, exceeds the weighted - average cost of production of the unit of goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs in the period of investigation, such price shall be considered as ensuring compensation of all costs during the period of investigation.

58. Sale of similar goods at the low cost prices of production of the unit of similar goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs shall be considered as implemented in the significant amount, in the case if weighted-average price of similar goods on transactions, considered upon determination of normal value of goods is below of the weighted - average cost of production of the unit of similar goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs or volume of sale at the prices that is below of such cost of price shall consist at least 20 percent from the volume of sale on transactions, considered upon determination of normal value of the goods.

59. Cost of production of the unit of the similar goods in recognition of administrative, trade and general costs shall be calculated on the basis of data, presented by exporter or producer of goods, upon condition that such data correspond to the generally accepted principles and rules of accounting and reporting in the exporting third country and fully reflect the costs, related with production and sale of goods.

60. The body, conducting the investigation shall consider all available evidences of proper distribution of costs of production, administrative, trade and general costs, including the data, presented by the exporter or producer of goods, being the object of investigation, upon condition that such distribution of costs is usually practiced by this exporter or producer of goods, in particular in relation of establishment of relevant period of depreciation, deductions on capital investments and covering of other costs of development of production.

61. Costs of production, administrative, trade and general costs shall be corrected in recognition of one-time costs, related with development of production, or consequences, upon which in the period of investigation make an impact of operations, carried out in the period of organization of production on the costs. Such corrections shall reflect the costs at the end of period of organization of production, and in the case if the period of organization of production exceeds the period of investigation – for the latest stage of the organization of production, corresponding to the period of conducting of investigation.

62. Total quantitative indicators of administrative, trade and general costs and profits that are typical for this branch of economy shall be determined on the basis of actual data on production and sale of similar goods upon ordinary course of trade, presented by exporter or producer of goods, being the subject of dumped import. If such total quantitative indicators are impossible to determine by the specified method they may be determined on the basis:

1) actual amounts, received and spent by the exporter or producer of goods, being the object of investigation, in connection with production and sale of the same category of goods in the internal market of exporting third country;

2) weighted-average actual amounts, received and spent in connection with production and sale of similar goods in the internal market of exporting third country by other exporters or producers of such goods;

3) other method upon condition, that the amount of profit, determined in this manner does not exceed the profit, usually received by other exporters or producers of the same category of goods upon their sale in the internal market of exporting third country.

60. In the case of dumped import from the exported third country, in which the prices in the internal market are directly regulated by the state or there is a state monopoly of foreign trade, the normal value of goods may be determined on the basis of price or calculated value of similar goods in an appropriate third country (comparable for the purposes of investigation with the specified exporting third country) or price of similar goods upon their supplies from such third country on export.

In the case if determination of normal value of goods in accordance with this paragraph is not possible, the normal value of goods may be determined on the basis of price, paid or subjected to payment for the similar good in the customs territory of the Union and corrected in recognition of profit.

4. Determination of export price of goods

64. Export price of goods shall be determined on the basis of data on its sale in the period of investigation.

65. In the absence of data on export price of goods, being the subject of dumped import, or upon incurrence of reasonable doubts in reliability of details on export price of these goods of the body, conducting the investigations due to the fact that exporter and importer of goods are the related persons (as well as by virtue of connection of each of them with the third person), or in the existence of restrictive business practice in the form of collusion in relation of export price of such goods, its export price may be calculated on the basis of price, on which the imported goods shall be firstly resold to the independent buyer, or by other method, which may be determined by the body, conducting the investigations, if the imported goods are not resold to the independent buyer or not resold in the form in which it was imported to the customs territory of the Union. Upon that for the purposes of comparison of export price of goods with its normal value shall be also considered the expenses (as well as the customs duties and taxes), paid in the period between the import and resale of goods, as well as profit.

5. Establishment of damage of a branch of the economy of the member states due to the dumped import

66. For the purposes of this section under the damage of a branch of economy of the member states shall be regarded the material damage to the branch of economy of the member states, threat of its damage or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states.

67. Damage to a sector of the economy of Member States due to dumped imports shall be determined based on the results of an analysis of the volume of dumped imports and the impact of dumped imports on the prices of similar goods on the market of Member States, as well as the resulting impact of dumped imports on producers of similar goods in Member States.

Footnote. Paragraph 67 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

68. The period of investigation for which the details are analyzed for the purposes of determination of existence of damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import shall be established by the body, conducting the investigation.

69. Upon analysis of the volume of dumped import, the body conducting the investigations shall determine whether there was a substantial increase of dumped import of goods, being the object of investigation (in the absolute indicators or concerning the production or consumption of similar goods in the member states).

70. Upon impact analysis of dumped import on the prices of similar goods on the market of the member states, conducting the investigations shall establish:

1) whether there were the prices of goods being the subject of dumped import, significantly lower than the prices of similar goods on the market of the member states;

2) whether the dumped import led to a significant reduction in prices of similar goods on the market of the member states;

3) whether the significantly dumped import prevented to the price increase of similar goods on the market of the member states, which would have occurred in the case of absence of such import.

71. In the case if the subject of investigations, conducted simultaneously is the import of goods to the customs territory of the Union from more than one of exporting third country, the body conducting the investigations may evaluate the joint impact of such import only in the case, if it establishes the following:

1) margin of dumping, determined in relation of import of goods, being the object of investigation from each of exporting third country exceeds the minimum allowable margin of dumping, and the volume of import of these goods from each of the exporting third country shall not be insignificant in recognition of provisions of paragraph 223 of this Minute;

2) assessment of joint impact of import of goods is possible in recognition of conditions of competition between the imported goods and similar goods, produced in the member states .

72. The analysis of the impact of dumped imports on the economic sector of the Member States shall consist of an assessment of all economic factors and indicators related to the state of the economic sector of the Member States, including:

an existing or possible future reduction in sales of the product, profits, production, market share of the product in the Member States, productivity, investment income or utilisation of production capacity;

factors influencing the prices of goods on the market of Member States;

dumping margin size;

a past or possible future negative impact on cash flow, inventory, employment levels, wages, growth rates of product production, and the ability to attract capital and/or make investments.

The above list of factors and indicators is not exhaustive. At the same time, neither one nor several factors can be decisive in establishing the damage to the economic sector of the Member States as a result of dumping imports.

For re-investigations in connection with the expiry of an anti-dumping measure, the degree of recovery of the economic situation of a sector of the economy of Member States after the impact of previously dumped imports shall be analyzed.

Footnote. Paragraph 72 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

73. Conclusion on existence of cause and effect relationship between the dumped import and damage of a branch of economy of the member states shall be based on analysis of all evidences and details, relating to the case and available to the body, conducting the investigations.

74. The body conducting the investigations, besides the dumped import shall analyze other known factors, as a result of which the damage of a branch of economy of the member states is caused in the same period.

Factors that may be considered relevant include, inter alia, the volume and prices of imports not sold at dumping prices, reduced demand or changes in consumption patterns, restrictive trade practices by foreign producers and producers of the Member States and competition between such producers, technological advances, and the export performance, and productivity of a Member State's economy.

The damage caused due to these factors of the branch of economy of the member states shall not be related to the damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import to the customs territory of the Union.

Footnote. Paragraph 74 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

75. Impact of dumped import on the branch of the member states shall be evaluated in respect to production of similar goods in the member states, if the available data allow allocating production of similar goods on the basis of such criteria, as production process, sale of similar goods by their producers and profit.

In the case if the available data does not allow allocating production of similar goods, the impact of dumped import on the branch of economy of the member states shall be evaluated in respect to production of the narrowest group or nomenclature of goods, which includes the similar goods and which has the necessary data.

76. When establishing a threat of causing material damage to a sector of the economy of Member States as a result of dumping imports, the investigating body shall take into account all available factors, including the following:

significant growth rates of dumped imports, indicating a real possibility of a significant increase in such imports;

the presence of sufficient export opportunities for the exporter of the goods that are the subject of dumped imports, or the obvious inevitability of their significant increase, which indicate a real possibility of a significant increase in dumped imports of the given goods, taking into account the ability of other export markets to accept any additional exports of the given goods;

level of the product that is the subject of dumped imports, if such price level may lead to a significant reduction or containment of the price of a similar product on the market of Member States and a further increase in demand for the product that is the subject of the investigation; stocks of the goods that are the subject of the investigation.

However, none of these factors can be decisive and significant for establishing the threat of causing material damage to the economic sector of the Member States as a result of dumping imports.

Footnote. Paragraph 76 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

77. Decision on existence of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states shall be adopted in the case, if in the course of investigation at the results of analysis of factors, specified in paragraph 76 of this Minute, the body conducting the investigations came to conclusion on necessity of continuation of dumped import and causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states by such import in the case of failure to take antidumping measure.

Footnote. Paragraph 74 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

6. Introduction of preliminary antidumping duty

78. In the case if information, received by body, conducting the investigations, before completion of investigation certifies on existence of dumped import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this, the decision on application of antidumping measure by introduction of preliminary antidumping duty for the purposes of prevention of damage to the branch of economy of the member states, caused by the dumped import in the period of conducting of investigation shall be adopted by Commission on the basis of report, specified in paragraph 7 of this Minute.

79. Preliminary antidumping duty may not be introduced earlier than 60 calendar days from the date of commencement of investigation.

80. The rate of preliminary antidumping duty shall be sufficient for elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states, but not more than the amount of pre-calculated margin of dumping.

81. In the case if the rate of preliminary antidumping duty is equal to the amount of pre-calculated margin of dumping, the term of validity of preliminary antidumping duty shall not exceed 4 months, except for the case if the term is extended to 6 months on the basis of request of exporters, the share of which in the volume of dumped import of goods, being the object of investigation composes the major part.

82. In the case if the rate of preliminary antidumping duty is less than the pre-calculated margin of dumping, the term of validity of preliminary antidumping duty shall not exceed 6 months, except for the case, if this term is extended to 9 months on the basis of request of exporters, the share of which in the volume of dumped import of goods, being the object of investigation composes the major part.

83. In the case if according to the results of investigation it is established by the body conducting the investigations that there are no grounds for introduction of antidumping measure, or the decision on non-application of antidumping measure is adopted in accordance with paragraph 272 of this Minute, the amounts of preliminary antidumping duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute.

The body conducting the investigations shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states on the absence of grounds for introduction of antidumping measure or on adoption of decision on non-application of antidumping measure by Commission.

84. In the case if according to the results of investigation the decision on application of antidumping measure is adopted on the basis of existence of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states or significant slowdown of creation of a branch of economy of the member states, the amounts of preliminary antidumping duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

85. In the case if according to the results of investigation the decision on application of antidumping measure is adopted on the basis of existence of material damage of a branch of economy of the member states or the threat of its causing (upon condition that non-introduction of preliminary antidumping duty would have led to determination of existence of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states), the amounts of preliminary antidumping duty from the date of entering of decision on application of antidumping measure into legal force shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute in recognition of provisions of paragraphs 86 and 87 of this Minute.

86. In the case if according to the results of investigation, the introduction of lower rate of antidumping duty than the rate of preliminary antidumping duty is recognized as appropriate, the amounts of preliminary antidumping duty, relevant to the amounts of antidumping duty, calculated according to the established rate of antidumping duty shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

The amounts of preliminary antidumping duty, exceeding the amount of antidumping duty , calculated according to the established rate of antidumping duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

87. In the case if according to the results of investigation the introduction of a higher rate of antidumping duty than the rate of preliminary antidumping duty is recognized as appropriate, the difference between the amounts of antidumping duty and preliminary antidumping duty shall not be charged.

88. Preliminary antidumping duty shall be applied upon condition of simultaneous continuation of the investigation.

89. Decision on introduction of preliminary antidumping duty shall be adopted, as a rule, not later than 7 months from the date of commencement of investigation.

7. Acceptance of goods, being the object of investigation, price obligations by the exporter

90. The investigation may be suspended or terminated by the body, conducting the investigation, without introduction of preliminary antidumping duty or antidumping duty upon reception by them of goods, being the object of investigation, price obligations in written form from the exporter on price revision of these goods or on termination of its export to the customs territory of the Union on prices lower of its normal value (in the presence of persons in the member states related with exporter it is also necessary the applications of these persons on support of these obligations), if the body conducting the investigations come to the conclusion that adoption of specified obligations will eliminate the damage, caused by the dumped import, and Commission adopts the decision on their approval.

The price level of goods according to these obligations shall not be higher than necessary for elimination of margin of dumping.

Increase of the price of goods may be less than the margin of dumping, if such increase is sufficient for elimination of damage of a branch of economy of the member states.

91. Decision on approval of price obligations shall not be adopted by the Commission until the body, conducting the investigations does not come to the preliminary conclusion on existence of dumped import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this.

92. Decision on approval of price obligations shall not be adopted by the Commission, if the body conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on unacceptability of their approval in connection with a large number of real or potential exporters of goods, being the object of investigation or by other reasons.

The body conducting the investigations, as far as possible shall give the reasons to the exporters, on which the approval of their price obligations was considered as unacceptable and provide an opportunity to make comments in connection with this.

93. The body conducting the investigations shall direct to each exporter, accepted the price obligations, the request on provision of their non-confidential version to have a possibility to provide it to the interested persons.

94. The body, conducting the investigations may offer to the exporters to accept the price obligations but may not require their acceptance.

95. In the case of adoption of decision on approval of price obligations by the Commission, the antidumping investigation may be continued at the request of exporter of goods or by the decision of body, conducting the investigations.

If according to the results of investigation the body, conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on the absence of dumped import or damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by it, the exporter accepted the price obligations shall be automatically released from such obligations, except for the case, when the specified conclusion is the result of the existence of such obligations to a significant extent. In the case if the made conclusion is the result of existence of price obligations to a significant extent, the decision that such obligations shall remain in force during the necessary period of time may be adopted by the Commission.

96. In the case if according to the results of investigation the body conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on existence of dumped import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by it, the price obligations accepted by the exporter shall continue to have effect in accordance with their conditions and provisions of this Minute.

97. The body, conducting the investigations shall have a right to request from the exporter , the price obligations of which were approved by the Commission, the details concerning their execution as well as the consent to the verification of these details.

Non-presentation of requested details in the term, established by the body conducting the investigations, as well as disagreement to the verification of these details shall be considered as the violation of price obligations accepted by the exporter.

98. In the case if violations or revocations of price obligations by the exporter the Commission may adopt the decision on application of antidumping measure by introduction of preliminary antidumping duty (if the investigation is not yet complete) or antidumping duty (if the final results of investigation certify on existence of grounds for its introduction).

In the case of violation of price obligations by the exporter, the opportunity to comment in connection with such violations shall be provided to it.

99. The rate of preliminary antidumping duty or antidumping duty, which may be introduced in accordance with paragraph 98 of this Minute shall be determined in the decision of Commission on approval of price obligations.

The Decision of the Commission to approve price commitments may specify the document required for confirming information about the exporter or manufacturer and the requirements for completing such document.

Footnote. Paragraph 99 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

8. Introduction and application of antidumping duty

100. Antidumping duty shall be applied in relation of goods, which are supplied by all exporters and are the subject of dumped import, caused a damage to the branch of economy of the member states (except for the goods, supplied by the exporters, the price obligations of which were approved by the commission in accordance with paragraphs 90-99 of this Minute) .

101. The amount of antidumping duty shall be sufficient for elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states, but not more than the amount of calculated margin of dumping.

The Commission may adopt a decision on introduction of antidumping duty in the amount less than the amount of calculated margin of dumping, if such amount is sufficient for elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states.

102. The Commission shall establish the individual amount of the rate of antidumping duty in relation of goods, supplied by each exporter or producer of goods, being the subject of dumped import for which the individual margin of dumping was calculated.

When establishing an individual amount of such an anti-dumping duty rate, the Commission shall have the right to determine the document required for confirming information about the exporter or manufacturer for whom the individual amount of the anti-dumping duty rate has been established, and the requirements for completing such a document.

Footnote. Paragraph 102 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

103. Except for the individual amount of the rate of antidumping duty, specified in paragraph 102 of this Minute, the Commission shall establish the single rate of antidumping duty for goods, supplied by all other exporters or producers of goods from the exporting third country, for which the individual margin of dumping was not calculated, on the basis of the highest margin of dumping, calculated in the course of investigation.

104. Antidumping duty may be applied in relation of goods, placed under the customs procedure, the condition of placement of which is the payment of antidumping duties, not earlier than 90 calendar days before the date of introduction of preliminary antidumping duty, if according to the results of investigation, the body conducting the investigations is simultaneously established the following, in relation of these goods:

1) earlier the dumped import, which caused the damage is occurred, or importer knew or should have known that the exporter supplies the good at the price less than its normal value and that such import of goods may damage the branch of economy of the member states;

2) the damage to the branch of economy of the member states is caused by the essentially increased dumped import during relatively short time period, which in recognition of duration and volume, as well as other circumstances (as well as rapid growth of stock reserves of imported goods) may significantly reduce the effect of reducing from introduction of antidumping duty upon condition, that the opportunity to make comments is provided to the importers of these goods before the end of investigation.

105. After the date of the commencement of the investigation, the investigating authority shall publish on the official website of the Union a notification containing a warning of the possible application, under paragraph 104 of this Minute, of an anti-dumping duty in respect of the goods which are the subject of the investigation.

Decision on publication of such notification shall be adopted by the body, conducting the investigations, at the request of the branch of economy of the member states, contained the sufficient evidences of execution of conditions, specified in paragraph 104 of this Minute, or on its own initiative in the existence of available evidences of the body conducting the investigations.

Antidumping duty may not be applied in relation of goods, placed under the customs procedures, the condition of placement of which is the payment of antidumping duties, before the date of official publication of notification, specified in this paragraph.

Footnote. Paragraph 105 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

106. The additional methods of notification of interested persons on possible application of antidumping duty may be established by the legislation of the member states in accordance with paragraph 104 of this Minute.

9. The term of validity and revision of antidumping measure

104. Antidumping measure shall be applied by the decision of Commission in the amount and during the term, which are necessary for elimination of the damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import.

108. The term of validity of antidumping measure shall not exceed 5 years from the date of commencement of application of such measure or from the date of completion of the reinvestigation, which is conducted in connection with the changed circumstances and simultaneously concerned the analysis of dumped import and caused damage to the branch of economy of the member states or which is conducted in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure.

109. The reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure shall be conducted on the basis of application in written form, filed in accordance with paragraphs 186-198 of this Minute or on its own initiative of the body, conducting the investigations.

The reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure shall be conducted in the existence of details on possibility of renewal or continuation of dumped import and causing the damage to the branch of economy of the member states upon termination of validity of the antidumping measure in the application.

An application on conducting of reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure shall be filed not later than 6 months before expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure.

The reinvestigation shall be initiated before expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure and completed within 12 months from the date of its commencement.

Application of antidumping measure shall be extended by the decision of Commission before completion of reinvestigation conducted in accordance with this paragraph. Antidumping duties shall be paid on the rates of antidumping duties, which were established in connection with application of antidumping measure, the term of validity of which is extended in connection with conducting of reinvestigation during the term, on which the application of relevant antidumping measure is extended in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duties.

In the case if according to the results of reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure it is established by the body, conducting the investigations that there are no the grounds for application of antidumping measure, or the decision on non-application of antidumping measure is adopted in accordance with paragraph 272 of this Minute, the amounts of antidumping duty, charged in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duties, during the term, on which the application of antidumping measure is extended shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

The body conducting the investigations shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states on the absence of the grounds for application of antidumping measure or on adoption of decision on non-application of antidumping measure by the Commission.

Validity of antidumping measure shall be extended by the Commission in the case, if according to the reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of antidumping measure, the possibility of renewal or continuation of dumped import and causing damage to the branch of economy of the member states is established by the body conducting the investigations. The amounts of antidumping duties, charged in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duties shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute during the term on which the application of antidumping measure was extended from the date of entering of decision of Commission on extension of antidumping measure to the legal force.

110. Upon the application of the interested person, in the case if after introduction of antidumping measure passed at least 1 year, or on the initiative of the body, conducting the investigations may be conducted the reinvestigation for the purposes of determination of feasibility of continuation of application of antidumping measure and (or) its revision (as well as revision of individual amount of the rate of antidumping duty) in connection with the changed circumstances.

Depending on the purposes of filing of application on conducting of reinvestigation, such application shall contain the evidences that in connection with the changed circumstances of:

continuation of application of antidumping measure is not required for counteraction to the dumped import and elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import;

the current amount of antidumping measure exceeds the amount, sufficient for counteraction to the dumped import and elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import;

the current antidumping measure is not sufficient for counteraction to the dumped import and elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped import.

The reinvestigation conducted in accordance with this paragraph shall be completed during 12 months from the date of its commencement.

111. The reinvestigation may be also conducted for the purposes of establishment of individual margin of dumping for the exporter or producer, who are not carried out in the period of investigation of supply of goods, being the subject of dumped import. Such reinvestigation may be commenced by the body, conducting the investigations, in the case of filing of application on its conducting by the specified exporter or producers, containing the evidences that the exporter or producer of goods is not related with exporters and producers, in relation of which the antidumping measure is applied, and that the exporter or producer carries out the supplies of goods, being the object of investigation, to the customs territory of the Union or related by contractual obligations on supply of significant volumes of such goods to the customs territory of the Union, termination or revocation of which will lead to the significant losses or to the significant penalties for this exporter or producer of goods.

In the period of conducting of reinvestigation for the purposes of establishment of individual margin of dumping for the exporter or producer in relation of supplies of goods, being the object of investigation, to the customs territory of the Union, by this exporter or producer, the antidumping duty shall not be paid before adoption of decision according to the results of specified reinvestigation. Upon that in relation of such goods, imported (imported) to the customs territory of the Union in the period of conducting of reinvestigation shall be provided ensuring of payment of antidumping duty in the manner provided by the Custom Code of the Eurasian economic union, for ensuring of payment of imported customs duties, in recognition of features, established by this paragraph.

The body conducting the investigations shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states on the date of commencement of reinvestigation.

Ensuring of payment of antidumping duty shall be provided by the monetary means (money) in the amount of the sum of antidumping duty, calculated on the single rate of antidumping duty, established in accordance with paragraph 103 of this Minute.

In the case if according to the results of reinvestigation the decision on application of antidumping measure is adopted, the antidumping duty shall subject to the payment for the period of conducting of such reinvestigation. The amount of ensuring from the date of entering of decision on application of antidumping measure, adopted according to the results of reinvestigation, to the legal force shall subject to crediting of payment of antidumping duty in the amount, determined based on the established rate of antidumping duty, calculation and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute, in recognition of provisions to this paragraph.

In the case if according to the reinvestigation, the introduction of the highest rate of antidumping duty is recognized as appropriate than the rate, on the basis of which the amount of ensuring of payment of antidumping duty is determined, the difference between the amounts of antidumping duty, calculated on the rate, established according to the reinvestigation and single rate of antidumping duty shall not be charged.

The amounts of ensuring, exceeding the amounts of antidumping duty, calculated on the established rate of antidumping duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by the Customs Code of the Eurasian economic union.

The reinvestigation provided by this paragraph shall be conducted in the possibly shortest time, which may not exceed 12 months.

112. Provisions of section VI of this Minute concerning provision of evidences and conducting of antidumping investigation shall be applied in relation of reinvestigation, provided by paragraphs 107-113 of this Minute in recognition of relevant differences.

113. Provisions of paragraphs 107-112 of this Minute shall be applied in relation of obligations, adopted by the exporter in accordance with paragraphs 90-99 of this Minute, in recognition of relevant differences.

10. Establishment of evasion of antidumping measure

114. For the purposes of this section the evasion of antidumping measure shall be regarded as the change of the method of supplies of goods for evasion from payment of antidumping duty or from execution of price obligations, accepted by the exporter.

115. The reinvestigation for the purposes of establishment of evasion of antidumping measure may be initiated upon the application of the interested person or on its own initiative of body, conducting the investigations.

116. The application specified in paragraph 115 of this Minute shall contain the evidences :

1) evasion of antidumping measure;

2) cancellation of effect of antidumping measure due to its evasion and influence of this factor on the volumes of production and (or) sale and (or) prices of similar goods in the market of the member states;

3) existence of dumped import of goods (integrated parts and (or) derivatives of such goods) in the results of evasion of antidumping measure. Upon that for the normal value of goods, its integrated parts or derivatives shall be applied their normal value, determined in the course of investigation, according to the results of which the antidumping measure was introduced by the Commission, in recognition of relevant corrections for the purposes of comparison.

117. The reinvestigation for the purposes of establishment of evasion of antidumping measure shall be completed during 9 months from the date of its commencement.

118. The antidumping duty on the integrated parts and (or) derivatives goods, being the subject of dumped import, imported to the customs territory of the Union from the exporting third country, as well as on goods, being the subject of dumped import and (or) its integrated parts and (or) derivatives, imported to the customs territory of the Union from other exporting third country, charged in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duties may be introduced by Commission for the period of reinvestigation, conducted in accordance with paragraphs 115-120 of this Minute.

119. In the case if according to the results of reinvestigation, conducted in accordance with paragraphs 115-120 of this Minute, the evasion of antidumping measure, the amount of antidumping duty, paid in accordance with paragraph 118 of this Minute and in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duty are not established by the body, conducting the investigations shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

The body conducting the investigation shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states that the evasion of antidumping measure is not established.

120. The antidumping measure in the case of establishment of evasion of antidumping measure may be distributed by the Commission to the integrated parts and (or) derivatives foods, being the subject of dumped import, imported to the customs territory of the Union from the exporting third country, as well as on the goods, being the subject of dumped import and (or) its integrated parts and (or) derivatives, imported to the customs territory of the Union from other exporting third country according to the results of reinvestigation, conducted in accordance with paragraphs 115-120 of this Minute. The amounts of antidumping duties, paid in the manner established for collection of preliminary antidumping duties shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute from the date of entering of decision of Commission on introduction of antidumping measure, specified in this paragraph into legal force.

11. Establishment of absorption of anti-dumping duties

Footnote. Section IV has been supplemented with subsection 11 in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

$120^{1.}$ If no more than 2 years have passed since the introduction of an anti-dumping measure or a change in the amount of anti-dumping duty based on the results of a repeat investigation provided for in paragraph 110 of this Protocol, the interested party shall have the right to file an application containing evidence that, after the introduction of the anti-dumping measure or a change in the amount of anti-dumping duty based on the results of a repeat investigation provided for in paragraph 110 of this Protocol, a decrease in export prices or a decrease, no change or an insufficient increase in the selling prices of imported goods on the Union market was recorded. Based on this application, a repeat investigation may be initiated to establish the absorption of the anti-dumping duty.

$120^{2.}$ The re-investigation to establish the absorption of anti-dumping duties must be completed within 9 months from the date of its commencement.

$120^{3.}$ Information on the dynamics of the export prices or sales prices of imported goods on the Union market specified in paragraph 120^{1} of this Protocol must be submitted in the application in accordance with paragraph 120^{1} of this Protocol for a period of at least 6 months immediately preceding the date of submission of the application.

$120^{4.}$ To establish the absorption of anti-dumping duty, a comparison shall be made between export prices in the period covered by the re-investigation to establish the absorption of anti-dumping duty and export prices in the period used to determine the amount of anti-dumping duty in effect. In making this comparison, adjustments shall be made, where necessary, to the export prices being compared to take into account differences in the terms and characteristics of supplies, taxation, stages of trade operations, quantitative indicators, physical characteristics, and any other differences affecting the comparability of such prices. The export price in the period covered by the re-investigation to establish the absorption of anti-dumping duty shall be determined in accordance with paragraphs 64 and 65 of this Protocol.

120^{5}. Interested parties shall have the right to provide, within the time limits specified in the notification of the commencement of a repeat investigation to establish the absorption of the anti-dumping duty, justifications for the reduction of export prices or the reduction, absence of change or insufficient increase in the selling prices of imported goods on the Union market, including evidence of the need to change the normal cost. Justifications and evidence provided by interested parties after the expiration of the specified time limit may not be taken into account by the body conducting the investigation.

120^{6}. In the event of an absorption of anti-dumping duty being established, the dumping margin shall be recalculated taking into account the export price in the period considered during the re-investigation to establish the absorption. In this case, the normal value of the goods shall be taken to be the normal value determined during the anti-dumping investigation (including the re-investigation provided for in paragraph 110 of this Protocol), based on which the anti-dumping duty in effect on the date of commencement of the re-investigation to establish the absorption of anti-dumping duty was calculated. The normal value may be changed if evidence of the need to change it is provided in accordance with paragraph 120^{5} of this Protocol.

120^{7}. If the recalculated dumping margin exceeds the amount of the dumping margin based on which the current anti-dumping duty was established, the Commission shall have the right to increase the current anti-dumping duty by the amount necessary to eliminate this difference.

120^{8}. If the recalculated dumping margin does not exceed the amount of the dumping margin based on which the current anti-dumping duty was established, the anti-dumping measure shall continue to be in effect without changes.

V. Compensatory measures

121. The subsidies in this Minute shall be regarded as:

1) financial assistance, carried out by the subsiding body, giving the additional advantages to the recipient of grants and rendered within the territory of exporting third country, as well as in the form of:

direct transfer of monetary means (as well as in the form of dotation, loans and purchase of shares) or obligations on transfer of such means (as well as in the form of loan guarantees); charge-off means or full or partial refusal from collection of means, which may be received to the income of exporting third country (as well as by provision of tax credits), except for the cases of exception of exported goods from taxes or duties, charged from the similar goods, intended for internal consumption, or except for reduction or refund of such taxes or duties in the amounts, not exceeding actually paid amounts;

preferential or free provision of goods or services, except for the goods or services, intended for support or development of common infrastructure, in other words infrastructure, not related with the specific producer and (or) exporter;

preferential purchase of goods;

2) any form of support of incomes or prices, giving the additional advantages to the recipient of grants, the direct or indirect results of which is increase of export of goods from exporting third country or reduction of import of similar goods in the third country.

1. Principles of allocation of subsidies of exporting third country to the specific

122. The subsidy of exporting third country shall be specific, if only the separate organizations are allowed to use the subsidy by the subsidizing body or legislation of exporting third country.

123. In this section the separate organizations shall be regarded as the concrete producer and (or) exporter, or the specific branch of economy of exporting third country, or the group (union, association) of producers and (or) exporters or the branch of economy of exporting third country.

124. The subsidy shall be specific, if the number of separate organizations, which are allowed to the use of this subsidy, is restricted by organizations, located in a specific geographic region, being under the jurisdiction of subsidizing body.

125. The subsidy shall not be specific, if the general objective criteria or conditions, which determine the unconditional right for the use of subsidy are established by the legislation of exporting third country or subsidizing body and its amount (as well as depending on the number of employees, engaged in production process, or on the volume of release of products) is strictly observed.

126. In any case the subsidy of exporting third country shall be specific subsidy, if provision of such subsidy is accompanied by:

1) restriction of number of separate organizations, which are allowed to the use of subsidy ;

2) preferential use of subsidy by the separate organizations;

3) provision of disproportionately large amounts of subsidy to the separate organizations;

4) choose of concessional (preferential) method of provision of subsidy to the separate organizations by the subsidizing body.

127. Any of subsidy of exporting third country shall be specific subsidy, if:

1) subsidy is related with export of goods in accordance with the legislation of the exporting third country or actually as the only condition or one of the several conditions. The subsidy shall be considered as actually related with export of goods, if its provision, not related with export of goods in accordance with the legislation of exporting third country, in practice, related with export of goods or export earnings occurred or possible in future. In its own right the fact of provision of subsidy by the exporting enterprise does not mean provision of subsidy, related with the export of goods in the meaning of this paragraph;

2) subsidy is related in accordance with the legislation of exporting third country or actually as the only condition or one of the several conditions with the use of goods, produced in the exporting third country, instead of the imported goods.

128. The decision of body, conducting the investigations, on allocation of subsidy of exporting third country to the specific shall be based on the evidences.

2. Principles of determination of the amount of specific subsidy

129. The amounts of specific subsidy shall be determined on the basis of amount of benefit, derived by the recipient of such subsidy.

130. The amounts of benefit, derived by the recipient of specific subsidy shall be determined on the basis of the following principles:

1) participation of subsidizing body in the capital of organization shall not be considered as provision of benefit, if such participation may not be recognized as not corresponding to the usual investment practice (including provision of risk capital) in the territory of exporting third country;

2) credit, provided by the subsidizing body shall not be considered as provision of benefit, if there is no the difference between the amount, which organization-recipient of credit pays for the state credit, and the amount that it would have paid for the comparable commercial loan, which this organization may receive in the credit market of exporting third country. In the contrary case the benefit is the difference between these amounts;

3) credit guarantee shall not be considered as provision of benefit by the subsidizing body, if there is no the difference between the amounts, which organization-recipient of guarantee pays for the credit, and the amount that it would have paid for the comparable commercial loan without the state guarantee. In the contrary case the benefit is the difference between these amounts with correction for difference in the commissions;

4) the supply by the subsidising body of goods or services or the procurement of goods shall not be regarded as providing a benefit unless the goods or services are supplied for less than adequate remuneration or the procurement is for more than adequate remuneration. The adequacy of remuneration shall be determined on the basis of existing market conditions of purchase and sale of these goods and services in the market of exporting third country, including the price, quality, availability, liquidity, transportation and other conditions of purchase or sale of goods.

3. Establishment of damage of a branch of economy of the member states due to the subsidized import

131. For the purposes of this section under the damage of a branch of economy of the member states shall be regarded the material damage to the branch of economy of the member states, the threat of its causing or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states.

132. Damage to a sector of the economy of Member States due to subsidized imports shall be determined based on the results of an analysis of the volume of subsidized imports and the impact of subsidized imports on the prices of similar goods on the market of Member States, as well as the resulting impact of subsidized imports on producers of similar goods in Member States.

Footnote. Paragraph 132 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

133. Period of investigation, for which the details are analyzed for the purposes of determination of existence of damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the subsidized import shall be established by the body, conducting the investigations.

134. Upon analysis of the volume of subsidized import the body, conducting the investigations shall determine whether there was a significant increase of subsidized import of the goods, being the object of the investigation (in the absolute terms or relative to production or consumption of similar goods in the member states).

135. In the case if the subject of investigations, conducted simultaneously, is the subsidized import of any of goods to the customs territory of the Union from more than one exporting third country, the body conducting the investigations may evaluate the joint effect of such import only in the case, if it determines the following:

1) the amount of subsidy in each exporting third country on these goods is more than 1 percent of its value and the volume of subsidized import from each of the exporting third country is insignificant in accordance with paragraph 228 of this Minute;

2) the assessment of joint impact of import of goods, being the subject of subsidizing import is possible in recognition of conditions of competition between the imported goods and conditions of competition between the imported goods and similar goods, produced in the member states.

136. Upon analysis of impact of subsidized import on the prices of similar goods in the market of the member states, the body conducting the investigations shall establish:

1) whether there were the prices of goods, being the subject of subsidized import, significantly lower than the prices of similar goods in the market of the member states;

2) whether subsidized import led to a significant reduction in prices of similar goods in the market of the member states;

3) whether the subsidized import prevented to the price increase of similar goods in the market of the member states, which is occurred in the case of absence of such import.

137. The analysis of the impact of subsidized imports on the economic sector of the Member States shall consist of assessing all economic factors and indicators related to the state of the economic sector of the Member States, including:

an existing or possible future reduction in production, sales of goods, market share of goods in Member States, profits, productivity, investment income or utilisation of production capacity;

factors influencing the prices of goods on the market of Member States; past or possible future negative impact on cash flow, inventory, employment, wages, growth rates of production, ability to attract capital and/or make investments.

The above list of factors and indicators is not exhaustive. At the same time, neither one nor several factors can be decisive in determining the damage to the economic sector of the Member States due to subsidized imports.

For re-investigations in connection with the expiry of the countervailing measure, the degree of recovery of the economic situation of the sector of the economy of the Member States after the impact of previously subsidized imports shall be analyzed.

Footnote. Paragraph 137 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

138. Impact of subsidized import on the branch of economy of the member states shall be estimated relating to production of similar goods in the member states, if available data allows allocating the production of similar goods on the basis of such criteria, as production process, sale of similar goods by their producers and profit.

In the case if available data do not allow to allocate production of similar goods, the impact of subsidized import on the branch of economy of the member states shall be estimated relating to production of narrowest group or nomenclature of goods, which include the similar goods and on which have the necessary data.

139. When establishing a threat of causing material damage to a sector of the economy of Member States as a result of subsidized imports, the investigating body shall take into account all available factors, including the following:

the nature, and amount of the subsidy or subsidies and their possible impact on trade; significant growth rates of subsidized imports, indicating a real possibility of a significant increase in such imports;

the presence of sufficient export capacity on the part of the exporter of the product that is the subject of subsidized imports, or the obvious inevitability of a significant increase in these capacities, which (indicates the real possibility of a significant increase in the subsidized import of this product, taking into account the ability of other export markets to accept any additional export of this product;

level of a product that is the subject of subsidised imports, if such price level may lead to a significant reduction or containment of the price of a similar product on the market of stocks of goods that are the subject of subsidized imports.

Member States and a further increase in demand for the product that is the subject of subsidised imports;

However, none of these factors can be decisive in determining the threat of causing material damage to a sector of the economy of Member States as a result of subsidized imports.

Footnote. Paragraph 139 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

140. Decision on existence of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states shall be adopted in the case, if in the course of investigation according to the results of analysis of factors, specified in paragraph 139 of this Minute, the body conducting the investigations came to the conclusion on necessity of continuation of subsidized import and causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states by such import in the case of non-adoption of compensatory measures.

141. Conclusion on existence of cause and effect relationship between the subsidized import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states shall be based on analysis of all evidences and details, relating to the case and available to the body, conducting the investigations.

142. The body conducting the investigations, besides the subsidized import shall analyze other known factors, as a result of which the damage is caused to the branch of economy of the member states in the same period.

The damage caused to the branch of economy of the member states due to these factors shall not be referred to the damage to the branch of economy of the member states due the subsidized import to the customs territory of the Union.

4. Introduction of preliminary compensatory duty

143. In the case if information, received by body, conducting the investigations, before completion of investigation certifies on existence of subsidized import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this, the decision on application of compensatory measure by introduction of preliminary compensatory duty for the term up to 4 months for the purposes of prevention of damage to the branch of economy of the member states, caused by the subsidized import in the period of conducting of investigation shall be adopted by the Commission on the basis of report, specified in paragraph 7 of this Minute.

144. Preliminary compensatory duty may not be introduced earlier than 60 calendar days from the date of commencement of investigation.

145. Preliminary compensatory duty shall be introduced in the amount, equal to the pre-calculated value of specific subsidy of exporting third country for one of the subsidized and exported goods.

146. In the case if according to the results of investigation it is established by the body conducting the investigations that there are no grounds for introduction of compensatory measure, or the decision on non-application of antidumping measure is adopted in accordance with paragraph 272 of this Minute, the amounts of preliminary compensatory duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by the annex to this Minute.

The body conducting the investigation shall timely inform the customs bodies of the member states on the absence of grounds for introduction of compensatory measure or on adoption of decision on non-application of compensatory measure by Commission.

147. In the case if according to the results of investigation the decision on application of compensatory measure is adopted on the basis of existence of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states, the amounts of preliminary compensatory duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

148. In the case if according to the results of investigation the decision on application of compensatory measure is adopted on the basis of existence of material damage of a branch of economy of the member states or the threat of its causing (upon condition that non-introduction of preliminary compensatory duty would have led to determination of existence of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states), the amounts of preliminary compensatory duty from the date of entering of decision on application of antidumping measure into legal force shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute in recognition of provisions of paragraphs 149 and 150 of this Minute.

149. In the case if according to the results of investigation, the introduction of lower rate of compensatory duty than the rate of preliminary compensatory duty is recognized as appropriate, the amounts of preliminary compensatory duty, relevant to the amounts of compensatory duty, calculated according to the established rate of compensatory duty shall subject to crediting and distribution in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

The amounts of preliminary compensatory duty, exceeding the amount of compensatory duty, calculated according to the established rate of compensatory duty shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

150. In the case if according to the results of investigation the introduction of a higher rate of compensatory duty than the rate of preliminary compensatory duty is recognized as appropriate, the difference between the amounts of compensatory duty and preliminary compensatory duty shall not be charged.

151. Preliminary compensatory duty shall be applied upon condition of simultaneous continuation of the investigation.

152. Preliminary compensatory duty shall be applied in accordance with paragraphs 164-168 of this Minute.

153. Decision on introduction of preliminary compensatory duty shall be adopted, as a rule, not later than 7 months from the date of commencement of investigation.

5. Adoption of voluntary obligations by the subsidizing third country or exporters of goods, being the object of investigation

154. The investigation may be suspended or terminated without introduction of compensatory duty upon adoption of decision by the Commission on approval of one of the following voluntary obligations (in written form), received by the body conducting the investigations:

exporting third country agrees to cancel or reduce subsidizing or take the relevant measures for the purposes of elimination of consequences of subsidizing;

exporter of goods, being the object of investigation agrees to review the prices of such goods (in the existence of persons in the member-states, related with exporter – to ensure support of obligations of exporter on price revision by these persons) established by them, so that the results of analysis of obligations, accepted by the exporter, the body conducting the investigations came to the conclusion that acceptance of such voluntary obligations will eliminate the damage to the branch of economy of the member states.

According to these obligations, the increase of price of goods, being the object of investigation shall not exceed the amount of specific subsidy of exporting third country, calculated in relation of the unit of subsidized and exported goods.

Increase of price of goods, being the object of investigation may be less than the amount of specific subsidy of exporting third country, calculated on the unit of subsidized and exported goods, if such increase is sufficient for elimination of the damage to the branch of economy of the member states.

155. Decision on approval of voluntary obligations shall not be adopted by the Commission until the body conducting the investigations does not come to the preliminary conclusion on existence of subsidized import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states, conditioned by this.

Decision on approval of voluntary obligations of exporter of goods, being the object of investigation shall not be adopted by the Commission before reception of the consent of the authorized body of exporting third country for acceptance of obligations, specified in the third item of paragraph 154 of this Minute by the exporters.

156. Decision on approval of voluntary obligations shall not be adopted by the Commission, if the body conducting the investigations came to the conclusion on unacceptability of their approval in connection with the large number of real or potential exporters of goods, being the object of investigations, or for other reasons.

The body conducting the investigations, as far as possible shall inform the exporters the reasons on which the approval of their voluntary obligations was considered as unacceptable, and shall offer them the opportunity to make the comments in connection with this.

157. The body conducting the investigations shall direct the request on provision of their non-confidential version to each exporter and authorized body of the exporting third country, which are accepted the voluntary obligations, to have the opportunity to provide it to the interested persons.

158. The body, conducting the investigations may offer to the exporting third country or exporter of goods, being the object of investigation to accept the voluntary obligations but may not require their acceptance.

159. In the case of adoption of decision on approval of voluntary obligations by the Commission, the compensatory investigation may be continued at the request of exporting third country or by the decision of body, conducting the investigations.

In the case if according to the results of investigation the body, conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on the absence of subsidized import or damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by it, the exporting third country or exporters accepted the voluntary obligations shall be automatically released from such obligations, except for the case, when the specified conclusion is the result of existence of such obligations to a significant extent. In the case if the made conclusion is the result of existence of voluntary obligations to a significant extent, the decision that such obligations shall remain in force during the necessary period of time may be adopted by the Commission.

160. In the case if according to the results of investigation the body conducting the investigations comes to the conclusion on existence of subsidized import and damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by it, the accepted voluntary obligations shall continue to have effect in accordance with their conditions and provisions of this Minute

161. The body conducting the investigations shall have a right to request the details, concerning their execution, as well as the consent for verification of these details from the exporting third country or exporter.

Non-provision of requested details in the term, established by the body conducting the investigations, as well as disagreement for verification of these details shall be considered as violation by the exporting third country or exporter of accepted voluntary obligations.

162. In the case of violation of voluntary obligations by the exporting third country or exporter or revocation of such obligations, the Commission may adopt the decision on application of compensatory measure by introduction of preliminary compensatory duty (if the investigation is not yet completed) or compensatory duty (if the final results of investigation certify on existence of the grounds for its introduction).

The opportunity to make the comments in connection with violation shall be provided to the exporting third country or exporter in the case of violation by them of accepted voluntary obligations.

163.The rate of preliminary compensatory duty or compensatory duty, which may be introduced in accordance with paragraph 162 of this Minute shall be determined in the decision of Commission on approval of voluntary obligations.

The Decision of the Commission to approve voluntary commitments may specify the document required for confirming information about the exporter and, if necessary, also about the manufacturer and the requirements for completing such a document.

Footnote. Paragraph 163 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

6. Introduction and application of compensatory duty.

164. The decision on introduction of compensatory duty shall not be adopted by the Commission, if the specific subsidy of exporting third country was revoked.

165. The decision on introduction of compensatory duty shall be adopted after the exporting third country, providing specific subsidy was proposed to conduct the consultations , from which the country rejected or in the course of conducting of which the mutually acceptable decision was not reached.

166. Compensatory duty shall be applied in relation of goods, which are supplied by all exporters and are the subject of subsidized import, causing damage to the branch of economy of the member states (except for the goods, supplied by the exporters, the voluntary obligations of which were approved by the Commission).

In relation of goods, supplied by separate exporters, the individual amount of the rate of compensatory duty may be established by the Commission.

When establishing an individual amount of such a rate of countervailing duty, the Commission shall have the right to determine the document required for confirming information about the exporter for whom the individual rate of countervailing duty has been established, and, if necessary, also about the manufacturer and the requirements for completing such a document.

Footnote. Paragraph 166 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

167. The rate of compensatory duty shall not exceed the amount of specific subsidy of exporting third country, calculated on the unit of subsidized and exported goods.

In the case if the subsidy is provided in accordance with different programs of subsidizing , it is considered their total amount.

The rate of compensatory duty may be less than the amount of specific subsidy of exporting third country, if such rate is sufficient for elimination of damage to the branch of economy of the member states.

168. Upon determination of the rate of compensatory duty shall be considered the opinion of consumers of the member states, on the economic interests of which the introduction of compensatory duty may affect, received in written form to the body conducting the investigations.

169. Compensatory duty may be applied in relation of goods, placed under the customs procedure, the condition of placement of which is the payment of compensatory duty, not earlier than 90 calendar days before the date of introduction of preliminary compensatory duty, if according to the results of investigation, the body conducting the investigations is simultaneously established the following, in relation of these goods:

1) the damage that would be difficult to remove later, caused by the significantly increased import of goods, in relation of which the specific subsidies are paid or provided, during the relatively short period of time;

2) it is necessary to apply the compensatory duty for the purposes of prevention of recurrence of damage in relation of imported goods, specified in subparagraph 1 of this paragraph.

170. After the date of the commencement of the investigation, the investigating authority shall publish on the official website of the Union a notification containing a warning of the possible application under 169 of this Minute, of a countervailing duty in respect of the goods which are the subject of the investigation.

The decision on publication of such notification shall be adopted by the body conducting the investigations, at the request of a branch of economy of the member states, contained sufficient evidences of execution of conditions, specified in paragraph 169 of this Minute, or on its own initiative in the existence of such evidences available to the body conducting the investigations.

Compensatory duty may not be applied in relation of goods, placed under the customs procedures, the condition of placement of which is the payment of compensatory duties, before the date of official publication of notification, specified in this paragraph.

Footnote. Paragraph 170 as amended by Law № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

171. The additional methods of notification of interested persons on possible application of compensatory duty may be established by the legislation of the member states in accordance with paragraph 169 of this Minute.

7. The term of validity and revision of compensatory duty.

172. Compensatory measure shall be applied by the decision of Commission in the amount and during the term, which are necessary for elimination of the damage to the branch of economy of the member states due to the subsidized import.

173. The term of validity of compensatory measure shall not exceed 5 years from the date of commencement of application of such measure or from the date of completion of the reinvestigation, which is conducted in connection with the changed circumstances and simultaneously concerned the analysis of subsidized import and caused damage to the branch of economy of the member states or which is conducted in connection with expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure.

174. The reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure shall be conducted on the basis of application (in written form), filed in accordance with paragraphs 186-198 of this Minute or on its own initiative of the body, conducting the investigations.

The reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure shall be conducted in the existence of details on possibility of renewal or continuation of subsidized import and causing the damage to the branch of economy of the member states upon termination of validity of the compensatory measure in the application.

An application on conducting of reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure shall be filed not later than 6 months before expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure.

The reinvestigation shall be initiated before expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure and completed within 12 months from the date of its commencement.

Application of compensatory measure shall be extended by the decision of Commission before completion of reinvestigation conducted in accordance with this paragraph. Compensatory duties shall be paid on the rates of compensatory duties, which were established in connection with application of compensatory measure, the term of validity of which is extended in connection with conducting of reinvestigation during the term, on which the application of relevant compensatory measure is extended in the manner established for collection of preliminary compensatory duties.

In the case if according to the results of reinvestigation in connection with expiration of the term of validity of compensatory measure it is established by the body, conducting the investigations that there are no the grounds for application of compensatory measure, or the decision on non-application of compensatory measure is adopted in accordance with paragraph 272 of this Minute, the amounts of compensatory duty, charged in the manner established for collection of preliminary compensatory duties, during the term, on which the application of compensatory measure is extended shall subject to return to in the manner provided by annex to this Minute.

The term of presentation of response may be extended by the body conducting the investigations according to the request, motivated and stated in written form.

212. In the case if the interested person refuses to the body conducting the investigations in provision of necessary information, does not provide it in the established term or provide unreliable information, thus essentially making the conducting of investigation difficult, this interested person shall be recognized as uncooperative and preliminary or final conclusion may be made by the body conducting the investigations on the basis of available information.

Non-provision of requested information in the electronic form or in the electronic format, determined in the request of the body, conducting the investigations shall not be regarded by the body conducting the investigations as refusal from cooperation upon condition that the relevant interested person may prove that full execution of criteria of provision of information , determined in the request of the body, conducting the investigations is impossible or related with significant material charges.

In the case if the body conducting the investigations does not consider the information provided by the interested person, by reasons other than specified in the first item of this paragraph, this person shall be informed of the reasons and grounds of adoption of such decision and he (she) shall be made the opportunity to make the comments in this connection in the term, determined by the body conducting the investigations.

If upon preparation of preliminary or final conclusion of the body conducting the investigations, including determination of normal value of goods (upon conducting of antidumping investigation), the provisions of first item of this paragraph are applied and the information is used (as well as provided by the applicant), the information used upon preparation of such conclusions shall be verified with the use of available information, received from the third party sources or from the interested persons, upon condition, that conducting of such verification does not make the course of investigation difficult and does not lead to violation of the terms of its conducting.

213. The body conducting the investigations shall direct the copies of the statement or its non-confidential version (in the case if the statement contains the confidential information) to the authorized body of exporting third country and known exporters, as well as provide such copies to other interested persons at their request in short time from the date of adoption of decision on commencement of antidumping or compensatory investigation.

In the case if the number of known exporters is large, the copy of the statement or its non-confidential version shall be directed only to the authorized body of exporting third country.

The body conducting the investigations shall provide the copies of the statement or its non-confidential version (in the case if the statement contains the confidential information) to the participants of special protective investigation at their request.

In the course of investigation, the body conducting the investigations shall provide an opportunity to make acquainted with details, provided in written form by any interested person as the evidences, relating to the subject of investigation to the participants of investigation on their request in recognition of necessity of protection of confidential information.

In the course of investigation the body conducting the investigations shall provide an opportunity to make acquainted with other details, concerning the investigation and used by them in the course of investigation, but not being confidential information to the participants of investigation.

214. The body conducting the investigations shall conduct consultations on the subject of conducted investigation at the request of interested persons.

214. In the course of investigation all interested persons shall be provided an opportunity to protect their interests. For this purpose the body conducting the investigations shall provide the opportunity to all interested persons at their request to meet in order that they may present opposing viewpoints and offer a rebuttal. Such possibility shall be provided in recognition of observation of confidentiality of information. All interested persons shall not be obliged to present at the meeting, and the absence of any of the interested person does not entail causing of damage to its interests.

216. The consumers, using the goods, being the object of investigation in the manufacturing of products, representatives of public associations of consumers, bodies of the state power (administration), local government bodies, as well as other persons shall have a right to present the details that are relevant to the investigation to the body conducting the investigations.

217. The term of conducting the investigation shall not exceed:

1) 9 months from the date of commencement of investigation on the basis of the statement on application of special protective measure. This term may be extended by the body, conducting the investigations, but not more than 3 months;

2) 12 months from the date of commencement of investigation on the basis of the statement on application of antidumping or compensatory measure. This term may be extended by the body, conducting the investigations but not more than 6 months.

218. Conducting of investigation shall not prevent the commission of customs operations in relation of goods, being the object of investigation.

219. The date of completion of investigation shall be the date of consideration of the report by the Commission according to the results of investigation and project of act of the Commission, specified in paragraph 5 of this Minute.

In the case if the body conducting the investigations made the final conclusion on the absence of the grounds for application, revision or cancellation of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure, the date of completion of investigation shall be recognized the date of publication of the relevant notification by the body conducting the investigations.

In the case of introduction of preliminary special duty, preliminary antidumping duty or preliminary compensatory duty, the investigation shall be completed before the expire of validity of relevant preliminary duty.

220. In the case if the body conducting the investigations, in the course of investigation, establishes the absence of the grounds, provided by the second or third item of paragraph 3 of this Minute, the investigation shall be completed without introduction of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure.

221. In the case if during 2 calendar days, directly preceding the date of commencement of investigation, one of the producer, supported the statement, specified in paragraph 186 of this Minute (in recognition of inclusion it to the group of persons within the meaning of section XIII of Agreement) has such share of production of similar or directly competitive goods (upon conducting of investigation, preceding the application of special protective measure) or similar goods (upon conducting of investigation, preceding the application of antidumping or compensatory measure) in the customs territory of the Union, upon which in accordance with the method of assessment of the state of competition, approved by the Commission, the position of this producer (in recognition of inclusion it to the group of persons) on the relevant trade market of the Union may be recognized as dominant, the structure subdivision of Commission, authorized in the scope of control of observation of general rules of competition on the cross-border markets shall make an assessment of consequences of influence of special protective, antidumping or compensatory measure on the competition in the relevant trade market of the Union at the request of the body conducting the investigations.

3. Features of conducting of the antidumping investigation

222. Antidumping investigation shall be terminated without introduction of antidumping measure, if the body conducting the investigations establishes that the margin of dumping is less than the minimum allowable margin of dumping or the volume of occurred or possible dumped import, or the amount of material damage conditioned by this import, or the threat of its causing, or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states shall be insignificant.

Upon that under the minimum of allowable margin of dumping shall be regarded as the margin of dumping, the amount of which does not exceed 2 percent.

223. The volume of dumped import from the determined exporting third country shall be insignificant, if it is less than 3 percent from the total volume of import of goods, being the object of investigation, to the customs territory of the Union, upon condition that the exporting third country, the individual share of each of which in the total volume of import consists less than 3 percent from the total volume of import of goods, being the object of investigation to the customs territory of the Union that in case of accumulation has not more than 7 percent from the total volume of import of goods, being the object of investigation to the customs territory of the Union.

224. The body conducting the investigations shall inform the interested persons on main findings, made according to the results of investigation before adoption of decision according to the results of antidumping investigation, in recognition of necessity of protection of confidential information and provide an opportunity to make its comments.

The term of provision of comments of the interested persons shall be established by the body conducting the investigations, but may not be less than 15 calendar days.

4. Features of conducting of compensatory investigation

225. The body conducting the investigations shall offer to conduct consultations for the purposes of specification of situation concerning the existence, amount and consequences of provision of supposed specific subsidy and achievement of mutually acceptable decision to the authorized body of exporting third country, from which the goods, in relation of which it is proposed to introduce a compensatory measure, are exported after acceptance of the statement for consideration and before adoption of decision on commencement of investigation.

Such consultations may be continued in the course of investigation

226. Conducting of consultation, specified in paragraph 225 of this Minute shall not prevent to adopt a decision on commencement of investigation and application of compensatory measure.

227. Compensatory investigation shall be terminated without introduction of compensatory measure, if the body conducting the investigations establishes that the amount of specific subsidy of exporting third country is minimum or the volume of occurred or possible subsidized import, or the amount of material damage to the branch of economy of the member states conditioned by this import, or the threat of its causing or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states is insignificant.

228. The amount of specific subsidy shall be recognized as minimum, if it consists less than 1 percent from the cost of goods, being the object of investigation.

The volume of subsidized import, as a rule shall be recognized as insignificant, if it consists less than 1 percent from the total volume of import of similar goods to the customs territory of the Union upon condition that the exporting third country, individual share of each of which in the import consists less than 1 percent from the total volume of import of similar goods to the customs territory of the Union, in case of accumulation has not more than 3 percent from the total volume of import of similar goods to the customs territory of the Union .

229. Compensatory investigation in relation of goods, being the subject of subsidized import and originating from the developing or least developed third country-user of the system of tariff preferences of the Union shall be terminated in the case if the body conducting the investigations establishes that the total volume of specific subsidies of exporting third country, provided in relation of these goods does not exceed 2 percent of its value per unit of goods or share of import of these goods from such third country in the total volume of import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union consists less than 4 percent upon condition, that the total share in the import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union from the developing or least developed countries, the share of each of which has less than 4 percent from the total volume of import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union does not exceed 9 percent from the total volume of import of these goods to the customs territory of the Union.

230. The body conducting the investigations shall inform all interested persons on main findings, made in the course of investigation according to the results of compensatory investigation before adoption of decision in recognition of necessity of protection of confidential information and provide the opportunity to make their comments.

The term of provision of comments of interested persons shall be established by the body conducting the investigations, but may not be less than 15 calendar days.

5. Features of determination of the branch of economy of the member states in the case of dumped or subsidized import

231. Upon conducting of antidumping or compensatory investigation, the branch of economy of the member states shall have the meaning, established by Article 49 of Agreement, except for the cases, specified in paragraphs 232 and 233 of this Minute.

232. In the case if producers of similar goods in the member states are also the importers of goods, supposedly being the subject of dumped or subsidized import, or related with exporters or importers of goods, supposedly being the subject of dumped or subsidized import , under the branch of economy of the member states may be regarded only other producers of similar goods in the member states.

Producers of similar goods in the member states shall be considered as related with exporters or importers of goods, supposedly being the subject of dumped or subsidized import in the case if:

the separate producers of similar goods in the member states directly or indirectly control the exporters or importers of goods, being the object of investigation;

the separate exporters or importers of goods, being the object of investigation directly or indirectly control producers of similar goods in the member states;

the separate producers of similar goods in the member states and exporter of importers of goods being the object of investigation, are directly or indirectly controlled by a third person;

the separate producers of similar goods in the member states and foreign producers, exporters or importers of goods, being the object of investigation, directly or indirectly control the third person upon condition that the body conducting the investigations has reasons to suppose that behavior of these producers different from unrelated persons is conditioned by such relation.

233. In the exceptional cases upon determination of the branch of economy of the member states, the territory of these states may be considered as the territory, on which there are 2 or more territorially detached competitive markets, and producers in the member states within one of the specified markets may be considered as the separate branch of economy of the member states, if such producers sell in this market for the purposes of consumption or processing at least 80 percent of similar goods, produced by them, and the demand in this market on the similar goods is not satisfied to a significant extend by the producers of these goods, located in the rest territory of the member states.

In these cases the existence of material damage of the branch of the member states, the threat of its causing or significant slowdown of creation of the branch of economy of the member states due to the dumped or subsidized import may be established, even if the damage is not caused to the main part of the branch of economy of the member states, upon condition that the sale of goods, being the subject of dumped or subsidized import concentrates on one of the specified competitive markets, and dumped or subsidized import causes the damage to all or almost all producers of similar goods in the member states within one of such market.

234. In the case if the branch of economy of the member states has the meaning, established by paragraph 233 of this Minute, and according to the results of investigation the decision on application of antidumping or compensatory measure is adopted, such measure may be applied in relation of all import of goods to the customs territory of the Union.

In the specified case the antidumping or compensatory duty shall be introduced only after provision of an opportunity to stop the export of these goods to this territory on dumping prices (upon dumped import) or on subsidized prices (upon subsidized import) by the body conducting the investigations to the exporters of goods or accept the relevant obligations in relation of conditions of export to the customs territory of the Union upon condition that such opportunity was not used by the exporters.

6. Public hearings

235. The body conducting the investigations shall provide conducting of public hearings on the basis of application, presented by any of participants of investigation in written form and the term, established by this Minute.

236. The body conducting the investigations shall be obliged to direct a notification on time and place of conducting of public hearings, as well as the list of issues, considered in the course of conducting of public hearings to the participants of investigation.

The date of conducting of public hearings shall be appointed not early than 15 calendar days from the date of direction of relevant notification.

237. Participants of investigation or their representatives, as well as persons, involved by them for the purposes of provision of available details, relating to investigation shall have a right to participate in the public hearings.

In the course of public hearings the participants of investigation may express their views and provided the evidences relating to the investigation. Representative of the body, conducting the investigations shall have a right to ask the questions, concerning the matter of facts reported by them to the participants of public hearings. Participants of investigation shall also have a right to ask the questions to each other and shall be obliged to reply to them. Participants of public hearings shall not be obliged to disclose information, recognized as confidential.

238. Details provided in the course of public hearings orally shall be taken into account in the course of investigation, if during 15 calendar days after the date of conducting of public hearings they were provided by the participants of investigation to the body conducting the investigations in written form.

7. Collection of information in the course of investigation

239. After adoption of decision on commencement of antidumping or compensatory investigation, the body conducting the investigations shall direct the list of questions, on which they have to answer to the known exporters and (or) producers of goods, being the object of investigation.

The list of issues shall be also directed to the producers of similar or directly competitive goods (in the case of conducting of special protective investigation) or similar goods (in the case of conducting of antidumping or compensatory investigation) in the member states.

In the case of necessity, the list of issues may be also directed to the importers and consumers of goods, being the object of investigation.

240. The persons, specified in paragraph 239 of this Minute, to which the list of questions was directed shall be obliged to present their responses to the body conducting the investigations during 30 calendar days from the date of its reception.

At the motivated and stated in written form request of persons, specified in paragraph 239 of this Minute, this term may be extended by the body, conducting the investigations, not more than 14 calendar days.

241. The list of issues shall be considered as received by the exporter and (or) producer of goods from the date of transfer directly to the representative of exporter and (or) producer or through 7 calendar days from the date of mailing.

The responses for the questions, included to the list shall be considered as received by the body conducting the investigations, if they are received to the body conducting the investigations, in the confidential and non-confidential version not later than 7 calendar days from the date of expiration of 30-days term, specified in paragraph 240 of this Minute or from the date of expiration of the term of extension.

242. The body conducting the investigations shall be convinced of the accuracy and reliability of information presented by the interested persons in the course of investigation.

For the purposes of verification of information, presented in the course of investigation, or reception of additional information, related with conducted investigation, in the case of necessity, the body conducting the investigations may conduct verification:

in the territory of third country upon condition of reception of the consent of relevant foreign exporters and (or) producers of goods, being the object of investigation, and absence of objections from a third country, which was officially notified on coming verification;

on the territory of the Member State, subject to the consent of the importers of the goods which are the subject of the investigation and/or the manufacturers of similar or directly competitive goods (in the case of a special protection investigation) or similar goods (in the case of an anti-dumping or countervailing investigation) concerned.

Verification shall be carried out after reception of responses to the lists of questions, directed in accordance with paragraph 239 of this Minute, except for the cases, when the foreign producer or exporter voluntary agrees to conduct verifications before direction of these responses and in the absence of objection from the relevant third country.

After reception of the consent of relevant participants of investigation and before commencement of verification, the list of documents and materials that shall be presented to the employees, directed for conducting of verification shall be directed to them. The body conducting the investigations shall notify a third country on addresses and names of foreign exporters or producers, which plan to verify, as well as on dates of conducting of such verifications.

In the course of verification may be requested other documents and materials, necessary for approval of reliability of information, presented in the responses to the list of issues.

In the case if upon conducting of verification, the body conducting the investigations is intended to involve experts, not being the employees of this body for such verification, participants of investigation, in relation of which it is supposed to carry out verification activities shall be notified in advance on such decision of the body conducting the investigations. Participation of such experts in verification shall be allowed only in the existence of possibility of application of sanctions for violation by them of confidentiality of information, received in connection with verification.

The compulsory requirements to the objects of technical regulation, as well as rules of identification of products, form, schemes and procedures of compliance assessment shall be established in the technical regulations of the Union.

The relevant international standards (rules, guidelines, recommendations and other documents, adopted by international organizations on standardization), except for the cases, when the relevant documents are absent or do not correspond to the purposes of adoption of technical regulations of the Union, as well as due to the climatic and geographical factors or technological and other features shall be applied as the ground for development of technical regulations of the Union. In the case of absence of necessary documents shall be applied the regional documents (regulations, guidelines, decision, standards, rules and other documents), national (state) standards, national technical regulations or their projects.

The technical regulations of the Union may also contain the requirements to terminology, packing, marking, labeling and rules of their application, sanitary requirements and procedures, as well as veterinary and sanitary, quarantine phytosanitary requirements, having a general nature.

The technical regulations of the Union may contain the specific requirements, reflecting the features, related with climatic and geographical factors or technological features specific to the member states, and valid only in the territories of the member states.

The technical regulations of the Union in recognition of the risk level of causing of harm may contain the special requirements to products or products and processes of design (including research), production, construction, installation, equipment, operation, storage, transportation, sale and utilization related with requirements to products, requirements to terminology, packing, marking, labeling and rules of their application, ensuring protection of separate categories of citizens (minors, pregnant women, nursing mothers, disabled persons).

Technical regulation of the Union shall be developed in recognition of recommendations on the content and model structure of technical regulation of the Union, approved by Commission.

Footnote. Paragraph 3 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021; dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

4. To comply with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union, the Commission shall approve a list of international and regional (interstate) standards, and in their absence, national (state) standards, the application of which voluntarily ensures compliance with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union (hereinafter referred to as the List of standards).

The list of standards shall not be approved in cases where the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union can be met directly.

The voluntary application of the relevant standards included in the specified list shall be a sufficient condition for compliance with the requirements of the relevant technical regulations of the Union.

Failure to apply the standards included in the specified list cannot be considered non-compliance with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union.

In the event of non-application of standards included in the specified list, or the event of their absence, conformity assessment shall be carried out based on a risk analysis, taking into account the recommendations adopted by the Council of the Commission.

To conduct research (testing) and measurements when assessing the conformity of objects of technical regulation with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union, the Commission shall approve a list of international and regional (interstate) standards, and in the absence of these, national (state) standards of the Member States, as well as research (testing) and measurement methods containing rules and methods of research (testing) and measurements, including rules for sampling, necessary for the application and implementation of the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union and the assessment of conformity of objects of technical regulation (hereinafter referred to as the List of rules and methods of research (testing) and measurements).

The list of rules and methods of research (testing) and measurements shall not be approved in cases where the technical regulations of the Union do not contain requirements for conducting conformity assessment or when the assessment of conformity with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union can be carried out without conducting research (testing) and measurements.

The development and adoption of the specified lists of standards shall be carried out in accordance with the procedure approved by the Commission.

Before the development of the relevant interstate standards, the list of rules and methods of research (testing) and measurements may include research (testing) and measurement methods certified (validated) and approved in accordance with the legislation of the Member State. The list of the indicated research (testing) and measurement methods shall be provided to the Commission by the authorized bodies of the Member States.

International and regional standards are applied after their adoption as interstate or national (state) standards.

To comply with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union, the Member States shall coordinate standardization work, including the application of standards, in accordance with the procedure approved by the Council of the Commission.

Footnote. Paragraph 4 as amended by the laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII; dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

5. Compliance assessment of objects of technical regulation, established in the technical regulations of the Union shall be conducted in the forms of registration (state registration), tests, approval of compliance, expertize and (or) in other form.

Compulsory approval of compliance shall be carried out in the forms of declaration of compliance and certification.

Forms, schemes and procedures of compliance assessment shall be established in the technical regulations of the Union on the basis of model schemes of compliance assessment, approved by the Commission.

Compliance assessment of products released into circulation with the requirements of technical regulations of the Union shall be carried out before release it into circulation.

Compulsory approval of compliance shall be conducted only in the cases, established by the relevant technical regulation of the Union, and exclusively for compliance with the requirements of technical regulation of the Union.

Upon compliance assessment, the applicant may be the legal entity or individual as individual entrepreneur, being the producer or seller, or person authorized by producer registered in the territory of the member states in accordance with its legislation.

Persons authorized by manufacturers must be included in the unified register of persons authorized by manufacturers. The procedure for the formation and maintenance of the indicated register shall be determined by the Council of the Commission.

The circle of applicants shall be established in accordance with technical regulation of the Union.

Conformity assessment documents shall be drawn up in electronic form and/or on paper in the manner approved by the Commission.

Unified forms of documents on compliance assessment and rules of their execution shall be approved by the Commission.

Documents confirming the conformity of products with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union shall apply to each unit of product released into circulation during the period of validity of the document confirming the conformity of products with the requirements of the technical regulations of the Union, during the shelf life or service life of the product.

Unified registers of issued or received documents on compliance assessment shall be placed on official site of the Union in the Internet. Formation and maintenance of specified unified register shall be carried out in the manner approved by the Commission.

Accredited bodies on compliance assessment (as well as the bodies on certification, testing laboratories (centers)), carrying out the works on compliance assessment with the requirements established by technical regulation of the Union shall be included in the unified register of bodies on compliance assessment of the Union. Inclusion of bodies on compliance assessment in this register, as well as formation and maintenance shall be carried out in the manner approved by the Commission.

Declarations of conformity with technical regulations of the Union shall be registered pursuant to the procedure established by the Commission.

Where technical regulations of the Union establish requirements for the conduct of conformity assessment work by conformity assessment bodies (including certification bodies and testing laboratories (centres)) included in the Union's unified register of conformity assessment bodies, such work shall, at the choice of the applicant, be carried out in any conformity assessment bodies having valid accreditation in the required accreditation field and included in this register.

The bodies of the member state, authorized for conducting of specified works shall carry out registration (state registration) of objects of technical regulation in accordance with the legislation of the member state.

Footnote. Paragraph 5 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021; dated 30.01.2024, 2024 № 56-VIII; dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

6. Products complying with the requirements of technical regulations of the Union, distributing to these products, and undergone the procedure of compliance assessment, established by the technical regulations of the Union shall subject to compulsory marking by the single sign of circulation of products on the market of the Union.

Image of a single sign of circulation of products on the market of the Union and procedure of its application shall be approved by Commission.

Upon circulation of products in the territory of the Union, the marking of products shall be made in Russian language and in the existence of relevant requirements in the legislation of the member states in the state (state) language (languages) of the member state, in the territory of which the products are sold.

7. Before the date of entering of technical regulation of the Union into legal force, the products in relation of which the same compulsory requirements, the same forms and schemes of approval of compliance are established by the member states, the same or comparable methods of researches (tests) and measurements of products are applied upon conducting of compulsory approval of compliance and which are included in the unified list of products, subjected to the compulsory approval of compliance with issuance of certificates of compliance and declarations on compliance on the unified form shall be allowed to circulation in the territory of the Union, if it is undergone the established procedures of approval of compliance in the territory of the member state with observation of the following conditions:

conducting of certification by the body on compliance assessment, included to the unified register by the body on compliance assessment of the Union;

performance of tests in the testing laboratories (centers), included to the unified register of bodies on compliance assessment of the Union; execution of certificates of compliance and declarations on compliance on the unified form.

The specified unified list of products, unified forms of specified certificate of compliance and declaration on compliance and rules of their execution shall be approved by Commission.

8. Import of products, subjected to the compulsory compliance assessment in the customs territory of the Union shall be carried out in the manner approved by Commission.

9. The member state, governed by protection of their legal interests may take emergency measures on prevention of release of unsafe products into circulation. In this case the member state shall immediately inform other member states on adopted emergency measures and begin the process of consultations and negotiations on this issue.

10. Commission shall form the information system in the field of technical regulation, which is a part of integrated information system of the Union.

11. To ensure that technical regulation within the Union corresponds to the level of economic development of the Member States and the level of scientific and technological development, a mandatory periodic assessment of the scientific and technical level shall be carried out concerning technical regulations of the Union that have entered into force and the lists of standards provided for in paragraph 4 of this Protocol. The procedure for conducting the assessment at the scientific and technical level, including its frequency, shall be approved by the Commission.

Footnote. Annex 9 has been supplemented with paragraph 11 in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

ANNEX № 10
to Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union

MINUTE
on conducting of coordinated policy in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements

1. This Minute is developed in accordance with section X of Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union and determines the principles of carrying out of coordinated policy in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements by the member states for the purposes of ensuring of comparability of results of measurements and results of (approval) compliance assessment of products with the requirements of technical regulations of the Union and measurements of quantitative indicators of products.

2. The concepts used in this Minute shall have the following meanings:

“certification of procedures (methods) of measurements” – research and approval of compliance of procedures (methods) of measurements with the metrological requirements to the measurements;

“unit of measurement” – the value of fixed amount, to which the number value, equal to the unit is conditionally assigned, and which is applied for quantitative expression of values homogeneous with it;

“uniformity of measurements” – the state of measurements, upon which the results of these measurements are expressed in the units of measurements, allowed to application in the member states, and indicators of accuracy of measurements are not beyond the established limits;

“measurement” – a process of experimental reception of one or more quantitative values of measurement, which may be reasonably assigned to the value;

“calibration of measurements means” – a set of operations, establishing the relationship between the value of measurement, received with the aid of measurement means, and value of measurement, reproduced by standard of unit of measurement of the same kind, for the purposes of determination of actual metrological characteristics of measurement means;

“International system of units (SI)” – a system of units, adopted by the General conference on measures and weights, based on the International system of values and including the name and designations, sets of detachable devices, their names, designation and rules of application;

“procedure (method) of measurements” – a set of specific operations upon measurement, execution of which ensures reception of results of measurements with established indicators of accuracy;

"metrological traceability " - a property of a measurement result according to which the result can be related to a national standard through a documented unbroken chain of verifications and calibrations;

“metrological examination” – an analysis and assessment of correctness and completeness of the application of metrological requirements, rules and regulations, related with uniformity of measurements;

"national standard" - a standard of a unit of quantity, including a primary standard, recognized by a Member State for use in state or economic activities as a basis for assigning a value of a quantity to other standards of units of quantity of the same kind;

"reference value of a quantity" - a value of a quantity that is used as a basis for comparison with values of quantities of the same kind;

“verification of measurement means” – a set of operations, executed for the purposes of approval of compliance of measurement means with the compulsory metrological requirements;

“reference procedure (method) of measurements” – a procedure (method) of measurements, used for reception of results of measurements, which may be applied for assessment of correctness of measured values, received with the aid of other procedures (methods) of measurements of values of the same kind, as well as for calibration of measurement means or for determination of characteristics of standard samples;

"intercomparison of standards" – establishment of relations between the results of measurements upon reproduction and transfer of units of measurement by the standards of units of measurement of the same level of accuracy;

"measurement means" – technical means, intended for measurements and having metrological characteristics;

"standard sample" – material (substance) with established indicators of accuracy of measurements and metrological traceability, sufficiently homogeneous and stable in relation of determined properties in order to use it upon measurement or upon assessment of qualitative properties in accordance with intended appointment;

"approval of type of measurement means" - a decision of the body of the state power (administration) of the member state in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements on permission of application of measurement means of approved type in the territory of the member state on the basis of favorable results of tests;

"approval of type of standard sample" – a decision of the body of the state power (administration) of the member state in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements on permission of application of standard sample of approved type in the territory of the member state on the basis of favorable results of tests;

"value scale" – an ordered set of values of measurement that serves as the original basis for measuring the corresponding value;

"standard of unit of measurement" – technical tool (a set of tools), intended for reproduction, storage and transfer the units of measurement or value scales.

Footnote. Paragraph 2 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

3. The member states shall conduct a coordinated policy in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements by harmonization of the legislation of the member states in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements and conducting of coordinated actions, providing:

1) creation of mechanisms of mutual recognition of results of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements by approval of rules of mutual recognition of results of works on ensuring of the uniformity of measurements;

2) the use of standards of units of measurement, measuring instruments, standard samples and certified measurement methods (techniques), for which Member States ensure metrological traceability of the results obtained with their help to the International System of Units (SI), to national standards and (or) to international standards of units of measurement;

3) mutual provision of uniformity of measurements in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, contained in the relevant information funds of the member states;

4) application of coordinated procedures of execution of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity measurements.

Footnote. Paragraph 3 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

4. The member states shall take measures, directed to harmonization of the legislation of the member states in the field of ensuring of the uniformity of measurements in relation of establishment of requirements to measurements, units of measurements, standards of units of measurements and value scales, measurement means, standards of samples, procedures (methods) of measurements on the basis of documents, adopted by the international and regional organizations on metrology and standartization.

5. The member states shall carry out the mutual recognition of results of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, executed by the bodies of the state power (administration) or legal entities of the member states, authorized (notified) in accordance with the legislation of its state for execution of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, according to the approved procedures of conducting of these works and rules of mutual recognition of results on ensuring of uniformity of measurements.

Recognition of results of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements shall be carried out in relation to the measurements means, produced in the territories of the member states.

6. To ensure metrological traceability of measurement results, standards of units of measurement, and standard samples of Member States to national standards and the International System of Units (SI), Member States shall organize work to create and improve standards of units of measurement, define and develop a nomenclature of standard samples, and establish the equivalence of standards of units of measurement of Member States through their regular comparison.

Footnote. Paragraph 6 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

7. The information funds of the member states in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements shall form the regulatory legal acts of the member states, regulatory and international documents, international treaties of the member states in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, certified procedures (methods) of measurements, measurement means in the fields regulated by the member states, details on standards of units of measurements and value scales, approved types of standard samples and approved types of measurement means.

Maintenance of information funds shall be carried out in accordance with the legislation of the member states, mutual provision of details contained in the information funds shall be organized by the bodies of the state power (administration) of the member states, specified in paragraph 5 of this Minute in the manner established by Commission.

8. The member states shall vest the bodies of the state power (administration) with the relevant powers in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, which conduct the consultations, directed to coordination of positions of the member states and carry out coordination and conducting of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements.

9. Commission shall approve the following documents:

1) the list of off-system units of measurements, applied upon development of technical regulations of the Union, including their correlation with International System of Units (SI);

2) rules of mutual recognition of results of works on ensuring of uniformity of measurements;

3) procedure of conducting of works in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, as well as:

procedure of conducting of metrological examination of project of technical regulation of the Union, project of the list of standards, in the result of application of which the observation of requirements of technical regulation of the Union, project of the list of standards, contained the rules and methods of researches (tests) and measurements, as well as the rules of selection of samples, necessary for application and execution of requirements of technical regulation of the Union and carrying out of compliance assessment of objects of technical regulation shall be provided on a voluntary basis; procedure of organization of conducting of interlaboratory comparison tests (interlaboratory intercomparison);

procedure of metrological certification of procedure (method) of measurements;

the order of certification of procedure (method) of measurements, applied as reference procedure (method) of measurements; procedure of approval of the type pf measurements means;

procedure of approval of the type of standard sample;

procedure of organization of verification and calibration of measurement means;

4) procedure of mutual provision of details in the field of ensuring of uniformity of measurements, contained in the information funds of the member states.

ANNEX №11
to Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union

MINUTE
on recognition of results of works on accreditation of bodies on compliance assessment

1. This Minute is developed in accordance with section X of Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – the Agreement) and determines the conditions of mutual recognition of results of works on accreditation of bodies on compliance assessment.

2. The concepts used in this Minute shall have the following meanings:

"appeal" – application of body on compliance assessment to the body on accreditation on revision of decision, adopted by the body on accreditation in relation of this body on compliance assessment;

"certification of expert on accreditation" – approval of compliance of individual with the established requirements and recognition of its competence on conducting of works on accreditation;

"complaint" – an application, contained the expression of dissatisfaction with the actions (omission) of body on compliance assessment or body on accreditation on the part of any person and requiring the answer;

"applicant for accreditation" – a legal entity, registered in accordance with the legislation of the member states and pretending to reception of accreditation as the body on compliance assessment;

"body on accreditation" – the body or legal entity, authorized in accordance with the legislation of the member states for conducting of accreditation;

"technical expert" – an individual, having the special knowledge in the determined field of accreditation, entailed and appointed by the body on accreditation for participation in the accreditation of bodies on compliance assessment and included to the register of technical experts;

"expert on accreditation" – an individual certified and appointed by the body on accreditation in the manner established by the legislation of the member state for conducting of accreditation of bodies on compliance assessment and included to the register of experts on accreditation.

3. The member states shall carry out harmonization of the legislation in the scope of accreditation by:

adoption of rules in the field of accreditation on the basis of international standards and other documents, adopted by international and regional organizations on accreditation; application of interstate standards in the field of accreditation, developed on the basis of international standards; ensuring and organization of conducting of interlaboratory comparative tests (interlaboratory intercomparison); information exchange in the field of accreditation on the basis of principles of transparency of information, gratuitousness and timeliness.

The member states shall mutually recognize accreditation of bodies on compliance assessment (as well as bodies on certification and testing laboratories (centers)) in the national systems of accreditation of the member states upon execution of provisions of Article 54 of Agreement by the bodies on accreditation.

4. Bodies on accreditation shall carry out the following powers:

1) carry out formation and maintenance of: register of accredited bodies on compliance assessment;

register of experts on accreditation;
register of technical experts;
national part of the unified register of bodies on compliance assessment of the Union;

2) provide details from registers of accredited bodies on compliance assessment, experts on accreditation and technical experts, as well as other details and documents, relating to accreditation and provided by Agreement, to the integrated information system of the Union;

3) offer an opportunity to the representatives of bodies on accreditation to carry out the mutual comparative assessment for the purposes of achievement of equivalence of procedures , applied in the member states;

4) consider and adopt decisions in relation of appeals, filed by the bodies on compliance assessment on revision of decisions, adopted by the body on accreditation in relation of these bodies on compliance assessment;

5) consider and adopt decisions in relation of complaints from individuals or legal entities of the member states on the activity of bodies on accreditation, as well as on activity of bodies on compliance assessment, accredited by them.

4[1]. Accreditation bodies, to ensure the exchange of information on decisions taken in accordance with the powers provided for in subparagraphs 4 and 5 of paragraph 4 of this Protocol, shall interact in the manner established by the Council of the Commission.

Footnote. Annex 11 has been supplemented with paragraph 41 in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

5. Relevant information on body on accreditation shall be provided by it to the Commission for placement on the official site of the Union in the Internet.

6. The bodies on accreditation shall ensure harmonization of requirements, presented to the competence of experts on accreditation and technical experts for the purposes of ensuring of equivalent level of competence of experts on accreditation and technical experts.

to Agreement
on Eurasian Economic Union

PROTOCOL on the application of sanitary, veterinary-sanitary and quarantine phytosanitary measures, emergency phytosanitary measures Footnote. The title as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

I. General provisions

1. This Protocol has been developed in accordance with Section XI of the Treaty on the Eurasian Economic Union and shall define the procedure for the application of sanitary, veterinary-sanitary and quarantine phytosanitary measures, and emergency phytosanitary measures.

Footnote. Paragraph 1 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.

2. The concepts used in this Minute shall have the following meanings:

“audit of foreign official system of supervision” – procedure of determination of ability of foreign official system of supervision to ensure the level of safety of goods, subjected to veterinary control (supervision), at least equivalent to the unified veterinary (veterinary and sanitary) requirements;

“veterinary control (supervision) – an activity of the authorized bodies in the field of veterinary, directed to prevention of import and distribution of agents of contagious animal diseases, as well as common to human and animals, and goods, not corresponding to the unified veterinary (veterinary and sanitary) requirements, as well as prevention, detection and suppression of violations of requirements of international treaties and acts, constituting the Law of the Union and the legislation of the member states in the field of veterinary;

“veterinary and sanitary measures” – compulsory for execution of requirement and procedures, applied for the purposes of prevention of animal diseases and protection of population from diseases, common to human and animals in connection with arising risks, as well as in the case of transmission or distribution them by animals, with feeds, raw materials and products of animal origin, as well as transport vehicles within the customs territory of the Union;

"a veterinary certificate" means a document issued by an authorised veterinary authority or a competent authority of a third country for goods subject to veterinary control (surveillance) to be imported, moved (transported) and certifying their safety in veterinary and sanitary terms and (or) the welfare of the administrative areas of the places of production of these goods for infectious animal diseases, including diseases common to humans and animals;

"state sanitary and epidemiological supervision (control)" - the activities of authorized bodies in the field of sanitary and epidemiological welfare of the population, carried out taking into account the assessment of the risk of harmful effects on human health of products (goods) subject to sanitary and epidemiological supervision (control), environmental factors, aimed at preventing, detecting and suppressing violations of mandatory requirements established by the Commission and the legislation of the Member States in the field of sanitary and epidemiological welfare of the population;

“unified veterinary (veterinary and sanitary) requirements” – requirements, presented to goods controlled to the veterinary control (supervision), their circulation and objects, subjected to veterinary control (supervision), directed to non-admission of occurrence, import and distribution of agents of contagious animals disease, as well as common to human and animals, and goods of animal origin, dangerous in the veterinary and sanitary relation, in the customs territory of the Union;

“unified quarantine phytosanitary requirements” – requirements, presented to the regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods), subjected to quarantine phytosanitary control (supervision) in the customs border of the Union and in the customs territory of the Union, its circulation and regulated objects, directed to non-admission of occurrence, import and distribution of quarantine objects in the customs territory of the Union;

“unified rules and regulations of ensuring of plant quarantine” – the rules, procedures, instructions, procedures of quarantine phytosanitary inspections, methods of examination of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods), subjected to quarantine phytosanitary control (supervision) in the customs border of the Union and in the customs territory of the Union, identification of quarantine objects, conducting of laboratory researches and examinations, disinfection and other most important measures, carried out by the authorized bodies on plant quarantine;

“unified sanitary and epidemiological, hygienic requirements to products (goods), subjected to the sanitary and epidemiological supervision (control)” – a document, contained the requirements compulsory for observation and established by the Commission, presented to controlled sanitary and epidemiological supervision (control) of products (goods), directed to prevention of harmful effect on the human factors of environment and ensuring of favorable conditions of human life and activities;

“animals” – all species of animals, including birds, bees, aquatic animals and wildlife species;

“plant quarantine” – a legal regime, providing the system of measures on protection of plants and products of plant origin from quarantine objects in the customs territory of the Union;

“quarantine objects” – hazardous organisms, are absent or stenotopic in the territories of the member states and introduced in the unified list of quarantine objects of the Union;

“quarantine phytosanitary security” – ensuring of the state of security of the customs territory of the Union from risks, arising upon penetration and (or) distribution of quarantine objects;

“quarantine phytosanitary control (supervision) – an activity of the authorized bodies on plant quarantine, directed to revelation of quarantine objects, establishment of quarantine phytosanitary state of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods), execution of international obligations and observation of the legislation of the member states in the field of plant quarantine;

"quarantine phytosanitary measures" – the requirements, rules and procedures compulsory for execution and applied for the purposes of ensuring of protection of customs territory of the Union of importation and distribution of quarantine objects and reduction of losses caused by them, as well as removal of obstacles in the international trade of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods);

"object subjected to the veterinary control (supervision)" – organization or person, participating in manufacturing (production), processing, transportation and (or) storage of goods, controlled to the veterinary control (supervision);

"batch of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods)" – a number of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods), intended for sending by one transport vehicle to the one point of destination to one recipient;

"batch of regulated veterinary control (supervision) of goods" – a number of regulated veterinary control (supervision) of goods, intended for sending by one transport vehicle to the one point of destination to one recipient and executed by one veterinary certificate;

"regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods)" – plants, products of plant origin, cargos, soil, organisms, materials, container, packing, included to the list of regulated products (regulated cargos, regulated materials, regulated goods), subjected to quarantine phytosanitary control (supervision) in the customs border of the Union and in the customs territory of the Union, and transferred through the customs border of the Union and customs territory of the Union, which may be carriers of quarantine objects and (or) facilitate to their distribution and in relation of which it is necessary to take the quarantine phytosanitary measures;

The amounts of fines, penalties, paid for the violation of the terms of payment of indirect taxes shall not subject to return.

6. The volume of goods, rates of excises, having an effect on the date of dispatch of excisable goods, exported to the member states, as well as the amounts of excises shall be reflected in the relevant tax declaration on excises.

7. The taxation body shall verify the validity of application of the zero rate of VAT and (or) exemption from the payment of excises, tax deductions (set off) on the specified taxes, as well as shall take (make) the relevant decision according to the legislation of the member state, from the territory of which the goods are exported.

In the event of failure to apply to the tax authority of a Member State, this tax authority shall have the right to adopt (issue) a decision to confirm the validity of the application of the zero VAT rate and (or) exemption from excise taxes, tax deductions (credits) for the indicated taxes concerning transactions involving the sale of goods exported from the territory of this Member State to the territory of another Member State, provided that this tax authority has received confirmation in electronic form from the tax authority of another Member State of the fact of payment of indirect taxes in full (exemption from payment of indirect taxes) or information on the fact of collection of indirect taxes in accordance with paragraph 211 of this Protocol.

The tax authority of the Member State from whose territory the goods were exported, upon establishing that the data and documents submitted by the taxpayer, as provided for in paragraph 4 of this Protocol, are inaccurate, shall inform the tax authority of the Member State into whose territory the goods were imported of the established circumstances.

Footnote. Paragraph 7 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

8. The tax authority shall collect indirect taxes and penalties in the manner and amount stipulated by the legislation of the Member State from whose territory the goods were exported, and shall also apply methods of ensuring the fulfilment of obligations to pay indirect taxes, penalties and liability measures established by the legislation of that Member State, including in the following cases:

provided by the taxpayer on the movement of goods and the payment of indirect taxes does not correspond to the data obtained through the exchange of information between the tax authorities of the Member States;

submitted by the taxpayer, as provided for in paragraph 4 of this Protocol, do not correspond to the evidence available to the tax authorities of the absence of movement of goods into the territory of a Member State, which is indicated in the transport (consignment) and (or) other documents;

the tax authority of the Member State into whose territory the import of goods is declared has withdrawn the application due to the evidence it has of the absence of import of goods.

In this case, indirect taxes are subject to payment to the budget (VAT amounts previously accepted for deduction (credit) are subject to restoration) for the tax (reporting) period in which the date of shipment of goods falls, unless another tax (reporting) period is established by the legislation of the member state whose tax authority received information about the withdrawal of the application.

The tax authority of a member state that has received information about the withdrawal of an application by a tax authority of another member state (on the recognition of such withdrawal as invalid - based on the results of an appeal), within 5 working days from the date of receipt of such information, shall send the taxpayer a notice (request) about the fact and basis for the withdrawal (on the recognition of such withdrawal as invalid) and the introduction, if necessary, of changes and additions to tax returns arising from such withdrawal (recognition of such withdrawal as invalid).

In the event of withdrawal of an application in connection with the establishment by the tax authority of the Member State into whose territory the goods specified in the agreement (contract) provided for in subparagraph 5 of paragraph 20 of this Protocol were to be imported of the fact of the absence of import of such goods, the application of the VAT tax rate and the accrual of excise duties, the accrual of VAT and excise amounts, but to which a zero rate and exemption were previously applied in connection with the receipt of the application, as well as the submission of a tax return shall be carried out for the tax (reporting) period in which the date of shipment of the goods falls unless another tax (reporting) period is established by the legislation of the Member State whose tax authority received information about the withdrawal of the application.

Footnote. Paragraph 8 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

9. Provisions of this section in a part of VAT shall be also applied in relation of goods, being the result of execution of works on agreements (contracts) on their production, exported from the territory of the member state, in the territory of which the works are executed on their production, to the territory of another member state. The goods that are the results of execution of works on processing of give and take raw materials shall not be related to the specified goods.

10. Taxation base for the imposition of excises of goods that are the result of execution of works on agreement (contract) on processing of give and take raw materials shall be determined as the volume, number (other indicators) of excisable goods, produced from the give and take raw materials, in natural units, in relation of which the fixed (specific) rates of excises are established, or as the cost of excisable goods, produced from the give and take raw materials in relation of which the ad valorem excise rates are established.

11. Taxation base on VAT upon export of goods upon changing it in the direction of increase (reduction) due to the increase (reduction) of price of goods sold or reduction of the number (volume) of goods sold in connection with their return due to the inadequate quality and (or) equipment shall be corrected in the tax (report) period, in which the participants of agreement (contract) are changed the price (discussed a return) of exported goods, unless otherwise provided by the legislation of the member state.

Upon export of goods (leasing subjects) from the territory of one member state to the territory of another member state on lease agreement (contract), providing the transfer of a right of ownership to them to the lessee, on agreement (contract) of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things) on agreement (contract) of production of goods shall be applied the zero rate of VAT and (or) exemption from the payment of excises (if such operation subjects to imposition of excises in accordance with the legislation of the member state) upon presentation of documents, provided by paragraph 4 of this Minute to the taxation body.

The tax base on VAT upon export of goods (leasing subjects) from the territory of one member state to the territory of another member state on lease agreement (contract), providing the transfer of a right of ownership to them to the lessee shall be determined on the date, provided by lease agreement (contract) for the payment of each lease payment, in the amount of the original cost of goods (leasing subjects), corresponding to each lease payment.

The tax deductions (set off) shall be made in the manner provided by the legislation of the member state, in a part, corresponding to the cost of goods (leasing subjects) on each lease payment.

The tax base on VAT upon export of goods from the territory of one member state to the territory of another member state on lease agreement (contract) of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things) shall be the cost of transferred (provided) goods, provided by agreement (contract), in the absence of the cost in the agreement (contract) – the cost, specified in the transportation documents, in the absence of the cost in the agreement (contract) and transportation documents – the cost of goods, reflected in the account.

12. The legislation of the member state regulating the principles of determination of a price for the purposes of taxation may be applied for ensuring of completeness of the payment of indirect taxes.

III. Procedure of collection of indirect taxes upon import of goods

13. Collection of indirect taxes on goods, imported to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state (except for the case, established by paragraph 27 of this Minute and (or) placement of imported goods under the customs procedure of free customs zone or free warehouse) shall be carried out by the taxation body of the member state , to the territory of which the goods are imported, on place of registration of taxpayer – owners of goods, including the taxpayers, applied the special regimes of taxation, as well as in recognition of features, provided by paragraphs 13.1 – 13.5 of this Minute.

For the purposes of this section the owner of goods shall be recognized the person who has a property right of goods or to whom the transfer of the property right of goods is provided by agreement (contract).

When importing goods acquired by a taxpayer of one Member State from an individual who has a place of registration or permanent residence in another Member State and who is not an individual entrepreneur of that Member State, taxes shall be paid in accordance with this section.

Footnote. Paragraph 13 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII

13.1. If the goods are purchased on the basis of agreement (contract) between the taxpayer of one member state and taxpayer of another member state, the payment of indirect taxes shall be made by the taxpayer of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, - by the owner of goods, or, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, - by commissioner, attorney or agent.

13.2. If the goods are purchased on the basis of agreement (contract) between the taxpayer of one member state and taxpayer of another member state and upon that the goods are imported from the territory of the third member state, the indirect taxes shall be paid by the taxpayer of the member state, in the territory of which the goods are imported – by the owner of goods.

13.3. If the goods are sold by the taxpayer of one member state through the commissioner, attorney or agent to the taxpayer of another member state and imported from the territory of the first or third member state, the payment of indirect taxes shall be made by the taxpayer of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, - by the owner of goods or, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, - by the commissioner, attorney or agent.

13.4. If the taxpayer of one member state purchases the goods, previously imported to the territory of this member state by the taxpayer of another member state, the indirect taxes on which they were paid, the payment of indirect taxes shall be made by the taxpayer of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, - by the owner of goods or, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, by the commissioner, attorney or agent (in the case, if the goods are sold by the taxpayer of another member state through the commissioner, attorney or agent).

If the taxpayer of one member state purchases the goods, previously imported to the territory of this member state by the commissioner, attorney or agent (taxpayer of this member state) by agreement (contract) of commission, order or agency agreement (contract) with the taxpayer of another member state, the indirect taxes on which are not paid, the payment of indirect taxes shall be made by the taxpayer of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, - by the owner of goods or, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, - by the commissioner, attorney or agent, imported the goods.

13.5. If the goods are purchased on the basis of agreement (contract) between the taxpayer of the member state and taxpayer of the state, that is not a member of the Union, and upon that the goods are imported from the territory of another member state, the indirect taxes shall be paid by the taxpayer of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, - by the owner of goods or, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, - by the commissioner, attorney or agent (in the case if the goods are sold through the commissioner, attorney or agent).

14. For the purposes of payment of VAT, the tax base shall be determined on the date of making registration of imported goods of the taxpayer (but not later than the term, established by the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported) on the basis of the cost of purchased goods (as well as the goods that are the result of execution of works on agreement (contract) on their production), as well as the goods, received by agreement (contract) of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things), the goods that are the product of processing of give and take raw materials, and excises, subjected to the payment on excisable goods.

The cost of the purchased goods, as well as the goods that are the result of execution of works on agreement (contract) on their production shall be the price of transaction, payable for suppliers for the goods (works, services) according to the conditions of agreement (contract).

The cost of the goods, received on the countertrade (barter) agreement (contract), as well as agreement (contract) of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things) shall be the cost of goods, provided by agreement (contract), in the absence of the cost in the agreement (contract) – the cost, specified in the transportation documents, in the absence of the cost in the agreement (contract) and transportation documents – the cost of goods, reflected in the account.

For the purposes of determination of the tax base, the cost of goods, (as well as the goods, that are the result of execution of works on agreement (contract) on their production), expressed in the foreign currency shall be translated to the national currency at the exchange rate of the national (central) bank of the member state on the date of reception of goods to the account.

Upon import of products of processing of give and take raw materials to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state, the tax base shall be determined as the cost of executed works on processing of give and take raw materials and excises, payable on excisable products of processing. Upon that the cost of executed works on processing of give and take raw materials, expressed in the foreign currency shall be translated to the national currency at the exchange rate of the national (central) bank of the member state on the date of reception of products of processing to the account.

When importing goods from the territory of one Member State to the territory of a free (special, exclusive) economic zone, the boundaries of which fully or partially coincide with sections of the customs border of the Union operating in the Russian Federation as of July 1, 2016 (hereinafter referred to as the SEZ), by taxpayers who are residents of the SEZ, on the date of accepting the goods for accounting, VAT shall be calculated and paid in accordance with paragraph four of paragraph 19 of this Protocol. If the indicated goods were not sold or were sold without VAT before the end of the month in which 180 calendar days expire from the date of their acceptance for accounting, then the calculated VAT shall be subject to payment by taxpayers who are residents of the SEZ, in the part of imported goods that were not sold or were sold without VAT. In this case, the tax base for the specified goods that were not sold or were sold without VAT before the end of the month in which 180 calendar days expire from the date of their registration shall be determined in accordance with this paragraph.

Footnote. Paragraph 14 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 15.03.2023 № 210-VII.

15. Upon importation of goods (leasing subjects) to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state on lease agreement (contract), providing the transfer of the property right to them to the lessee, the tax base shall be determined in the amount of the cost of goods (leasing subjects), provided on the date of its payment by lease agreement (contract) (irrespective of the actual amount and the date of payment). The lease payment in the foreign currency shall be translated to the national currency at the exchange rate of the national (central) bank of the member state on the date, corresponding to the time (date) of determination of the tax base.

16. The tax base for imposition of excises shall be the volume, number (other indicators) of imported excisable goods, as well as the goods that are the product of processing of give and take raw materials, in natural units, in relation of which the fixed (specific) rates of excises are established, or the cost of imported excisable goods, as well as the goods that are the product of processing of give and take raw materials, in relation of which the ad valorem excise rates are established.

The tax base for calculation of excises shall be determined on the date of reception of imported excisable goods to the account by the taxpayer, as well as the goods that are the product of processing of give and take raw materials (but not later than the term, established by the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the excisable goods are imported).

17. The amounts of the indirect taxes, payable on the goods, imported to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state shall be calculated by the taxpayer on the tax rates, established by the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported.

18. The legislation of the member state regulating the principles of determination of a price for the purposes of taxation may be applied for ensuring of completeness of the payment of indirect taxes.

19. Indirect taxes, except for excise taxes on marked excisable goods, shall be paid no later than the 20th day of the month following the month:

acceptance of imported goods for registration, unless otherwise provided by this paragraph;

the period stipulated by the leasing agreement (contract).

Payment of VAT on goods imported from the territory of one Member State to the territory of the SEZ and not sold or sold without VAT before the end of the month in which 180 calendar days expire from the date of their acceptance for registration shall be made no later than the 20th day of the month following the month in which 180 calendar days expire from the date of acceptance of these goods for registration.

Payment of excise duties on marked excisable goods shall be made within the time limits established by the legislation of the Member State.

Footnote. Paragraph 19 - as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 15.03.2023 № 210-VII.

20. The taxpayer shall be obliged to present the relevant tax declaration on the form, established by the legislation of the member state, or in the form, approved by the competent body of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, as well as on lease agreement (contract) to the taxation body, not later than the 20th day of the month, following the month of record of imported goods (the date of payment, provided by the lease agreement (contract)). The taxpayer shall present the following documents to the taxation body together with the tax declaration:

1) an application in hard copy (in quadruplicate) and in electronic form of application in the electronic form with electronic (digital) signature of taxpayer;

2) a bank statement, approving the actual payment of indirect taxes on imported goods, or other document, approving execution of tax obligations on payment of indirect taxes, if it is provided by the legislation of the member state. If the taxpayer has the overpayment (collected) of the tax, charges or the amounts of indirect taxes, subjected to return (set off), both upon import of goods to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state, and upon sale of goods (works, services) in the territory of the member state, the taxation body shall take (make) a decision on their credit to the account of payment of indirect taxes on imported goods in accordance with the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported. In this case the bank statement (its copy), approving an actual payment of indirect taxes on imported goods shall not be presented. The documents, specified in this paragraph by the lease agreement (contract) shall be presented upon occurrence of the date of payment, provided by the lease agreement (contract);

3) transport (transportation) and (or) other documents, provided by the legislation of the member state, approving the transfer of goods from the territory of one member state to the territory of another member state. The specified documents shall not be presented, if the separate types of transfer of goods, as well as transfer of goods without the use of transport vehicles, execution of these documents is not provided by the legislation of the member state;

4) invoices, executed in accordance with the legislation of the member state upon dispatch of goods, in the case if their submission (creation) is provided by the legislation of the member state.

If the submission (creation) of invoice is not provided by the legislation of the member state or the goods are purchased from the taxpayer of the state that is not a member state, other document (documents), issued (made out) by the seller, approving the cost of imported goods shall be presented to the taxation body instead of the invoice;

5) agreements (contracts), on the basis of which the goods are purchased, imported to the territory of the member state from the territory of another member state;

in the case of leasing of goods (leasing subjects) – lease agreements (contracts); in the case of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things) – agreements (contracts) of the trade credit (commercial loan, a loan in the form of things) on production of goods; agreements (contracts) for processing of give and take raw materials;

6) information statement (in the cases, provided by paragraphs 13.2 – 13.2 of this Minute) , presented to the taxpayer of one member state by the taxpayer of another member state or by the taxpayer of the state that is not a member of the Union (signed by the head (individual entrepreneur) and affixed with the seal of organization), selling the goods imported from the territory of the third member state, on the following details on the taxpayer of the third member state and agreement (contract), concluded with the taxpayer of the third member state on purchase of imported goods:

number that identifies a person as a taxpayer of the member state;

full name of the taxpayer (organization (individual entrepreneur) of the member state;

location (place of residence) of the taxpayer of the member state;

number and date of agreement (contract);

number and date of specification.

In the case if the taxpayer of the member state, from which the goods are purchased, is not the owner of goods sold (is a commissioner, attorney or agent), the details, specified in the second-sixth item of this paragraph shall be also presented in relation of the owner of goods sold.

In the case of presentation of information statement in foreign language, it is compulsory to have a translation it into Russian language.

Information statement shall not be presented in the case, if details, provided by this subparagraph are contained in the agreement (contract), specified in subparagraph 5 of this paragraph;

7) agreements (contracts) of commission, orders or agency agreement (contract) (in the cases of their conclusion);

8) agreements (contracts), on the basis of which the goods are purchased, imported to the territory of the member state from the territory of another member state, by agreements (contracts) of commission, order or on agency agreement (contract) (in the cases, provided by paragraphs 13.2 – 13.5 of this Minute, except for the cases, when the indirect taxes are paid by the commissioner, attorney or agent).

The documents specified in subparagraphs 2-8 of this paragraph may be presented in the copies, certified in the manner established by the legislation of the member state, or in the electronic form in the manner established by the regulatory legal acts of the taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states. The format of the specified documents shall be determined by the regulatory legal acts of taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states.

The taxpayer shall present the documents, provided by subparagraphs 1-8 of this paragraph to the taxation body by the lease agreement (contract) upon the first payment of VAT. In the future, the taxpayer shall present the documents (their copies), provided by subparagraphs 1 and 2 of this paragraph to the taxation body together with tax declaration.

The documents specified in this paragraph, except for the application and information statement shall not be presented to the taxation body, if their non-presentation together with the tax declaration follows from the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported.

$20^{1.}$ A taxpayer who is a resident of a SEZ shall be obliged to submit a tax return and the documents specified in paragraph 20 of this Protocol (except for the document specified in subparagraph 2 of paragraph 20 of this Protocol) no later than the 20th day of the month following the month in which the imported goods are accepted for registration.

In addition, a taxpayer who is a resident of the FEZ shall also be obliged to submit a tax return specified in paragraph 20 of this Protocol no later than the 20th day of the month following the month in which 180 calendar days expire from the date of registration of goods imported from the territory of one Member State to the territory of the FEZ. The tax return must reflect information on the specified imported goods that were not sold and (or) sold within 180 calendar days from the date of their registration. Concerning imported goods that were not sold or sold without VAT, together with the tax return, a taxpayer who is a resident of the FEZ shall submit to the tax authority a bank statement confirming the actual payment of VAT on the imported goods, or another document confirming the fulfilment of tax obligations to pay VAT, if this is provided for by the legislation of the Member State into whose territory the goods were imported. If a taxpayer who is a resident of the FEZ has overpaid (collected) amounts of taxes, fees or amounts of indirect taxes subject to refund (credit), both when importing goods into the territory of one Member State from the territory of another Member State and when selling goods (works, services) in the territory of a Member State, the tax authority, in accordance with the legislation of the Member State into whose territory the goods are imported, decides to credit them against the payment of VAT on imported goods. In this case, a bank statement (a copy thereof) confirming the actual payment of VAT on imported goods shall not be submitted.

Footnote. The protocol has been supplemented with paragraph 20[1] in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 15.03.2023 № 210-VII.

21. Refined (instead of the previously submitted) application shall be presented both in hard copy (in quadruplicate) and in the electronic form, or in the electronic form with electronic (digital) signature of the taxpayer.

The documents, provided by subparagraphs 2-8 of paragraph 20 of this Minute shall be presented together with the refined (instead of the previously submitted) application, if they are not previously presented to the taxation body.

If presentation of refined (instead of the previously submitted) application does not entail making amendments to the previously presented tax declaration, the taxpayer shall not present the refined (additional) tax declaration, unless otherwise established by the legislation of the member state. Presentation of such refined application shall not entail recovery of the amounts of VAT, paid upon import of goods, previously accepted to deduction.

Refined (instead of the previously submitted) application shall not be presented in the cases, established by the legislation of the member state.

21[1]. If the tax authority of a Member State into whose territory goods are imported discovers that the taxpayer has understated (concealed) the tax base due to incomplete reflection (non-reflection) of the quantity of imported goods, this tax authority shall, upon request, inform the tax authority of the Member State from whose territory the goods are exported of the fact of levying indirect taxes, unless the legislation of the latter provides for the submission of a statement upon discovery of such understatement (concealment).

Footnote. Annex 18 has been supplemented with paragraph 21[1] in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

22. In the cases of non-payment, incomplete payment of indirect taxes on imported goods, payment of such taxes at a later date in comparison with the established paragraph 19 of this Minute, as well as in the cases of revelation of facts of non-presentation of tax declarations, presentation them with violation of the term, established by paragraph 20 of this Minute, or in the cases of inconsistency of data, specified in the tax declarations to the data, received within the exchange of information between the taxation bodies of the member states, the taxation body shall collect the indirect taxes and fines in the manner and amount, established by the legislation of the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported, as well as shall apply the methods of ensuring of execution of obligations on payment of indirect taxes, fines and penalties, established by the legislation of this member state.

The tax authority of the Member State into whose territory the goods are imported, upon establishing inaccurate data in the documents submitted by the taxpayer, as provided for in Paragraphs 20, 21, 23 and 24 of this Protocol, shall inform the tax authority of the Member State from whose territory the goods are exported of the established circumstances.

The tax authority of the Member State that has levied indirect taxes shall:

withdraw the application upon establishing the fact that there was no movement of goods into its territory and inform the tax authority of the Member State whose taxpayer applied the zero rate and/or exemption from excise duties of the fact and grounds for withdrawal;

inform the tax authority of the Member State whose taxpayer has applied the zero rate and /or exemption from excise duties that the decision of the tax authority to withdraw the application following an appeal has been declared invalid.

The application shall not be withdrawn if the tax authority discovers the fact of non-payment of indirect taxes on the import of goods in connection with the cancellation of its decision to offset taxes against the fulfilment of the obligation to pay indirect taxes on the import of goods and there are no grounds to consider the import of goods as failed.

If there is information indicating the inaccuracy of the data reflected in the documents submitted together with the tax return, as provided for in paragraph 20 of this Protocol, the tax authority of one Member State shall have the right to send a request to the tax authority of another Member State for confirming (not confirming) such information.

Footnote. Paragraph 22 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

23. Upon return of imported goods in the month of their record, the reflection of operations on import of these goods in the tax declaration shall not be made, if return of goods is carried out by the reason of inadequate quality and (or) equipment.

Return of goods by the reason of inadequate quality and (or) equipment shall be approved by the claim, coordinated by participants of agreement (contract), as well as the documents, corresponding to further performance of operations with such goods. Such documents may include the acts of acceptance-transfer of goods (in the case of absence of transportation of returned goods), transport (transportation) documents (in the case of transportation of returned documents), acts of destruction or other documents. In the case of partial return of such goods, the specified documents (their copies) shall be presented to the taxation body together with the documents, provided by paragraphs 20 of this Minute.

Upon return of imported goods on the specified reason, upon expire of the months, in which the goods are recorded, the taxpayer shall present the relevant refined (additional) tax declaration and documents (their copies), specified in the second item of this paragraph to the taxation body.

The documents, specified in the second item of this paragraph may be presented in the electronic form in the manner established by the regulatory legal acts of taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states. The format of specified documents shall be determined by the taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states.

In the case of partial return of goods by the reason of inadequate quality and (or) equipment, the refined (instead of the previously submitted) application shall be presented without reporting details on partially returned goods to the taxation body. The specified application shall be presented or in hard copy (in quadruplicate) and in electronic form, or in the electronic form with electronic (digital) signature of the taxpayer.

In the case of full return of all goods, the details of which were reflected in the previously presented application, by the reason of inadequate quality and (or) equipment, the refined (instead of the previously submitted) application shall not be presented to the taxation body. The taxpayer shall inform the taxation body on the requisites of previously submitted application, in which the details on fully returned goods were reflected, on the form and according to the procedure, which are established by the regulatory legal acts of the taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states.

Upon partial or full return of goods by the reason of inadequate quality and (or) equipment, the recovery of amounts of VAT, previously paid upon import of these goods and taken to a deduction shall be made in the tax period, in which the return of goods are made, unless otherwise provided by the legislation of the member state.

24. By increasing the cost of imported goods in the case of increase of their price upon expire of month, in which the goods were recorded by the taxpayer, the tax basis for the purposes of payment of VAT shall be increased by the difference between the changed and previous value of imported goods. Payment of VAT and presentation of the tax declaration shall be made not later than 20th of the month, following for the month, in which the participants of agreement (contract) changed the price of imported goods.

The difference between the changed and previous value of purchased imported goods are reflected in the tax declaration, together with which the taxpayer presents to the taxation body :

an application (with reflection of the difference between the changed and previous value) in hard copy (in quadruplicate) and in electronic form, or in electronic form with the electronic (digital) signature of the taxpayer; an agreement (contract) or other document, provided by participants of agreement (contract), which approves the increase of the price of imported goods, the corrective invoice (in the case if its submission (creation) is provided by the legislation of the member state). The specified documents may be presented in the copies, certified in the manner established by the legislation of the member state, or in the electronic form in the manner, established by the regulatory legal acts of the taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states. The format of the specified documents shall be determined by the regulatory legal acts of taxation bodies of the member states or other regulatory legal acts of the member states.

25. In the case of the use of goods, the import of which to the territory of the member state in accordance with its legislation is carried out without payment of indirect taxes, in other purposes, than those, in connection of which the exemption or other procedure of payment is provided, import of such goods shall subject to imposition of indirect taxes in the manner established by this section.

26. The amounts of indirect taxes paid (offset) on goods, imported to the territory of one member state from the territory of another member state shall subject to deductions (set off) in the manner provided by the legislation of the member state to the territory of which the goods are imported.

27. Collection of excises on goods, subjected to marking of excise marks (accounting and control marks, signs) shall be carried out by the customs bodies of the member state, unless otherwise provided by the legislation of the member state.

IV. Procedure of collection of indirect taxes upon execution of works of rendering of services

28. Collection of indirect taxes upon execution of works, rendering of services shall be carried out in the member state, the territory of which is recognized the place of implementation of works, services (except for the works, specified in paragraph 31 of this Minute).

Upon execution of works, rendering of services, the tax basis, the rates of indirect taxes, procedure of their collection and tax benefits (exemption from taxation) shall be determined in accordance with the legislation of the member state, the territory of which is recognized the place of implementation of works, services, unless otherwise established by this section.

to the Protocol on the procedure for collecting indirect taxes and the mechanism for monitoring their payment during the export and import of goods, performance of work, and provision of services

PROCEDURE for collecting value-added tax when providing services in electronic form Footnote. The protocol is supplemented with an annex in accordance with the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan from 22.02.2024 № 63-VIII.

I. General Provisions

1. This Procedure has been developed in accordance with Article 72 of the Treaty on the Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter referred to as the Treaty) and the Protocol on the procedure for collecting indirect taxes and the mechanism for monitoring their payment upon export and import of goods, the performance of work, and provision of services (Annex № 18 to the Treaty) (hereinafter referred to as the Protocol) and shall determine the procedure for collecting VAT when providing services in electronic form by a taxpayer of one member state to a taxpayer of another member state, as well as to individuals (who are not individual entrepreneurs and taxpayers in accordance with the legislation of another member state, but who meet the conditions for determining the place of business provided for in paragraph 6 of this Procedure).

2. The concepts used in this Procedure shall have the meanings defined in the Protocol.

II. Formation of a list of services in electronic form

3. Member States shall draw up a list of services in electronic form, which shall be approved by the Council of the Commission.

4. For the purposes of applying this Procedure and the Protocol, services in electronic form shall not include, in particular:

1) sale of goods (works, services), if, when ordering through an information and telecommunications network, including through the Internet, the delivery of goods (performance of work, provision of services) shall be carried out without the use of such an information and telecommunications network;

2) implementation (transfer of rights to use) software for any type of electronic device (including computer games) on tangible media and (or) databases on tangible media;

3) provision of services for providing access to the information and telecommunications network, including the Internet.

III. Determination of the place of implementation of the activities of the buyer of services in electronic form

5. The place of activity of an organization acquiring services in electronic form shall be recognized as the territory of a Member State if one of the following conditions is met:

1) the organization carries out activities in the territory of a member state based on state registration, except for the cases provided for in subparagraphs 2 and 3 of this paragraph;

2) the services are rendered to a branch, representative office, or permanent establishment of an organization located in that Member State, which is not the place of state registration of that organization, or is acquired for such a branch, representative office, or permanent establishment of the organization and consumed by it;

3) the location of the permanent executive body (place of management) of the organization is located in this member state, which is not the place of state registration of this organization, and in this member state the organization's business activities are carried out, and services are consumed.

6. The place of activity of an individual, including an individual entrepreneur, acquiring services in electronic form, shall be recognized as the territory of a Member State if one of the following conditions is met:

1) the place of residence (place of permanent or predominant residence) of the buyer is in that Member State;

2) the location of the bank in which the account used by the buyer to pay for the services is opened, or the location of the electronic money operator through which the buyer makes payment for the services is located in the territory of that Member State;

3) the network address of the purchaser used to purchase the services is registered in that Member State (belongs to the relevant address space);

4) the international country code of the telephone number used by the purchaser to purchase or pay for the services is assigned by that Member State.

7. The place of activity of an individual entrepreneur acquiring services in electronic form shall be determined based on the conditions provided for in paragraph 5 of this Procedure, applicable to organizations, if this is established by the regulatory legal acts of the member state in which the individual entrepreneur is registered, adopted after the entry into force of this Procedure.

8. If in accordance with the conditions provided for in paragraph 6 of this Procedure, the territory of more than one Member State may be recognized as the place of activity of an individual acquiring services in electronic form, the seller shall determine the place of activity of such an individual based on the simultaneous compliance with a greater number of the specified conditions in the territory of a Member State.

If an equal number of conditions specified in paragraph 6 are simultaneously met in the territories of several Member States, the seller shall independently determine the place of activity of such an individual based on the approaches applied by him for an unlimited number of buyers of services in electronic form.

IV. Payment of VAT when providing services in electronic form

9. To pay VAT, a taxpayer of one Member State providing services in electronic form to individuals whose place of business is recognized as the territory of another Member State shall be subject to registration with the tax authority of that other Member State, except for the cases provided for in paragraph 11 of this Procedure. Registration shall be carried out by using the information resource of the indicated tax authority on the Internet (hereinafter referred to as the Information resource) or, if provided for by the legislation of the Member State, by conditional registration with the tax authority of the Member State whose territory is the place of provision of such services.

10. To pay VAT, a taxpayer of one Member State providing services in the electronic form to organizations and (or) individual entrepreneurs whose place of business is recognized as the territory of another Member State, except for cases provided for in paragraph 11 of this Procedure, shall be subject to registration with the tax authority of that other Member State, if such an obligation is provided for by the legislation of that other Member State.

If the obligation to register a taxpayer-seller with the tax authority of a Member State, the territory of which is the place of sale of services in electronic form, is not provided for by the legislation of such Member State, then the obligations to calculate and pay (withhold) VAT shall be carried out by organizations and (or) individual entrepreneurs purchasing services in electronic form, in the manner prescribed by the legislation of their Member State.

If taxpayer-sellers have not registered with the tax authority of such other Member State (if the obligation to register is provided for by the legislation of the Member State at the place of the buyer’s business), then the obligation to calculate and pay (withhold) VAT shall be carried out by organizations and individual entrepreneurs purchasing services in electronic form, in the manner prescribed by the legislation of their Member State.

If the legislation of a Member State that is recognized as the place of business of the buyer provides for registration with the tax authority of such Member State only on the basis related to the provision of services in electronic form to individuals, including individual entrepreneurs, or to individuals who are not individual entrepreneurs, but the taxpayer-seller provides such services to both individuals, including individual entrepreneurs, and organizations, then concerning services purchased by organizations and (or) individual entrepreneurs in electronic form, the obligation to calculate and pay (withhold) VAT shall be carried out by such organizations and (or) individual entrepreneurs purchasing services in electronic form, in the manner prescribed by the legislation of the Member State that is recognized as the place of business of the buyer.

The list of organizations providing services in electronic form must be posted on the official websites of the tax authorities of the Member States on the Internet, indicating the date of registration of the indicated organizations with the tax authorities of the Member State in which the services are purchased in electronic form, the taxpayer's registration number, or the taxpayer identification number, or the taxpayer registration number (if any).

11. When a taxpayer of one Member State provides services in electronic form, the place of supply of which is recognized as the territory of another Member State, through the mediation of an organization (individual entrepreneur) registered with the tax authorities of that other Member State, participating in settlements directly with buyers of such services in that other Member State based on an agreement with the taxpayer providing services in electronic form, the calculation and payment (withholding) of VAT shall be made by such an intermediary in settlements, and not by the taxpayer providing services in electronic form.

When a taxpayer of one Member State provides services in electronic form, the place of supply of which is recognized as the territory of another Member State, through an organization (individual entrepreneur) registered with the tax authorities of the first Member State or with the tax authorities of other Member States whose territory is not recognized as the place of supply of such services, participating in settlements directly with buyers of such services in this other Member State based on an agreement with such a taxpayer providing services in electronic form, the calculation and payment (withholding) of VAT shall be made by such an intermediary in settlements, and not by the taxpayer providing services in electronic form, if the obligation to register and pay tax in this other Member State arises for such a taxpayer in accordance with paragraphs 9 and 10 of this Procedure.

In the case of the provision of services in electronic form with the participation of several intermediaries in settlements, the calculation and payment (withholding) of VAT shall be carried out by the one that directly carries out settlements with the buyer, regardless of whether such intermediary in settlements has an agreement with the taxpayer-seller.

In the cases specified in paragraphs one through three of this clause, the requirements of this Procedure for registration with the tax authority of another member state, filing tax returns, paying VAT and fulfilling other obligations that shall be defined by this Procedure for the taxpayer shall apply to the specified settlement intermediary.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to cases where a taxpayer-seller provides services in electronic form independently, as well as through its branch, representative office, or permanent establishment located in a Member State that is the place where services are provided in electronic form.

12. When providing services in electronic form, the procedure for registering (deregistering) with the tax authority taxpayers providing such services and intermediaries in settlements specified in paragraph 11 of this Procedure, the tax base, VAT rates, the procedure for calculating and the deadlines for paying VAT, tax benefits (exemptions from taxation), as well as the procedure for the return (offset) of overpaid VAT amounts shall be determined in accordance with the legislation of the Member State whose territory is recognized as the place of supply of such services, unless otherwise provided for in paragraph 15 of this Procedure.

13. If a taxpayer of one Member State is registered with the tax authority of another Member State for the payment of VAT on services in electronic form rendered in the territory of that other Member State, and at the same time carries out other transactions for the sale of works and services provided for in subparagraphs 1-4 of paragraph 29 of the Protocol, the place of sale of which is recognized as the territory of that other Member State, then for these other transactions VAT shall be paid in the manner determined by paragraphs 9 and 10 of this Procedure, unless otherwise established by the legislation of that other Member State.

14. If a taxpayer of one Member State is subject to registration or is registered with the tax authority of another Member State on the grounds specified in paragraphs 9-11 of this Procedure, he/she shall submit to the tax authority the relevant tax return in the form established by the legislation of the Member State whose territory is recognized as the place of supply of services, or in the form approved by the competent authority of that Member State. The indicated tax return shall be submitted to the tax authority through the information resource of the tax authority of the Member State whose territory is recognized as the place of supply of services.

If the tax return is not submitted in accordance with the legislation of the Member State, the taxpayer shall pay the VAT by the due date without fulfilling the obligation to submit to the tax authority the tax return provided for in the first paragraph of this paragraph.

As part of the control measures, the tax authority of the Member State whose territory is recognized as the place of supply of services in electronic form shall have the right to request from the taxpayer providing such services the information necessary to confirm the place of supply of services, the completeness and timeliness of payment of VAT, and the payment document (documents) confirming payment of VAT by the established deadline, or a copy thereof.

The requested documents must be submitted to the requesting tax authority in electronic form within 30 calendar days from the date specified in the tax authority's request. Based on the taxpayer's application, the tax authority may extend the deadline for submitting information and/or payment documents.

15. When a taxpayer of one Member State provides services in electronic form and carries out other transactions for the sale of works and services provided for in subparagraphs 1 - 4 of paragraph 29 of the Protocol, the place of sale of which is recognized as the territory of another Member State, the moment (date) of determining the tax base shall be the last day of the quarter or month (if the tax period according to the legislation of the Member State is a month) in which payment (partial payment) was received for the services rendered (work performed) or payment (partial payment) on account of the upcoming provision of services (performance of work).

When determining the tax base, the cost of the specified services (works) in foreign currency shall be converted into national currency at the exchange rate of the national (central) bank of the member state on the date corresponding to the moment (date) of determining the tax base, unless otherwise established by the legislation of the member state whose territory is recognized as the place of sale of such services (works).

16. Until the creation of the information resources provided for in paragraphs 9 and 14 of this Procedure, organizations providing services in electronic form, or organizations through which such services are provided, shall not have any obligation to calculate and pay (withhold) VAT.

Such an obligation shall be imposed accordingly on the organization (individual entrepreneur) purchasing services in electronic form, if this obligation is provided for by the legislation of the member state whose territory is the place of implementation of services in electronic form.

The provisions of this paragraph shall not apply to a taxpayer-seller who has carried out conditional registration with the tax authority of a Member State whose territory is the place of sale of services in electronic form.

to Agreement
on Eurasian Economic Union

Minute
on general principles and rules of competition
I. General provisions

1. This Minute is developed in accordance with section XVIII of Agreement on Eurasian economic Union (hereinafter – Agreement) and determines the features of its application, fine sanctions for violation of general rules of competition in the trans-border market in the territories of two and more member states (hereinafter – trans-border market), the procedure of carrying out of control of observance of general rules of competition in the trans-border markets by the Commission (including interaction with the authorized bodies of the member states), interaction of the authorized bodies of the member states between each other upon carrying out of control of observance of competitive (antimonopoly) legislation, as well as introduction of the state price regulation and challenge the decisions of the member states on its introduction.

2. The concepts used in this Minute, as well as for the purposes of section XVIII of Agreement shall have the following meanings:

1) “vertical agreement” – an agreement between the economic entities (market entities), one of which purchases the goods and is a potential purchaser, and another provides the goods or is a potential seller;

2) “substitutional goods” – the goods that may be compared by their functional purpose, application, quality and technical characteristics, price and other parameters so that the purchaser actually substitutes or is ready to substitute one product to others while consumption (as well as upon consumption for the production purposes);

3) “state price regulation” – establishment of prices (tariffs), surcharges to prices (tariffs), maximum or minimum prices (tariffs), maximum or minimum surcharges to prices (tariffs) by the bodies of the state power and bodies of local self-government of the member states in the manner established by the legislation of the member states;

4) “state or municipal preferences” – provision of advantage, which provides them more favorable conditions of activity, by transfer of the state or municipal property, other objects of civil rights or by provision of property benefits, state or municipal guarantees by the executive bodies, bodies of local self-government of the member states, other bodies or organizations, exercising the functions of the specified bodies to the separate economic entities (market entities);

5) “group of persons” – a set of individuals and (or) legal entities, corresponding to one or separate from the following characteristics:

economic society (partnership, economic partnership) and individual or legal entity, if such individual or legal entity has more than 50 percent from the total number of votes, corresponding to the voting stocks (shares) in the charter (reserve) capital of this economic society (partnership, economic partnership) by virtues of its participation in this economic society (partnership, economic partnership) or in accordance with powers, received, as well as on the basis of written agreement from other persons;

economic entity (market entity) and individual or legal entity, if such individual or legal entity exercises the functions of individual executive body of this economic entity (market entity);

economic entity (market entity) and individual or legal entity, if such individual or legal entity shall have a right to give the compulsory instructions to the economic entity (market entity) on the basis of constituent documents of this economic entity (market entity) or contract (agreement), concluded with this economic entity (market entity);

economic entity (market entities), in which more than 50 percent of the number of members of the collegial executive body and (or) the board of directors (supervisory council, foundation council) composes the same individuals;

an individual, his (her) spouse, parents (including adoptive parents), children (including adoptive persons), brothers and sisters;

the persons, each of them on any of the grounds, specified in the second-sixth items of this subparagraph included in the group with the same person, as well as other persons, included with any of these persons in the group on any of the grounds, specified in the second – sixth items of this paragraph;

economic society (partnership, economic partnership), individuals and (or) legal entities, which on any of the characteristics, specified in the second-seventh items of this subparagraph included to the one group of persons, if such persons have more than 50 percent from the total number of votes, corresponding to the voting stocks (shares) in the charter (reserve) capital of this economic society (partnership, economic partnership) by virtue of its joint participation in this economic society (partnership, economic partnership) or in accordance with powers, received from other persons.

Group of persons shall be considered as the unified economic entity (market entity), and provisions of section XVIII of Agreement and this Minute, relating to the economic entities (market entities) shall be distributed to the group of persons, except for the cases, provided by this Minute.

The definition of concept “group of persons” may be specified, as well as in a part of amounts of disposal (participation) of stocks (shares) of one person in the charter (reserve) capital of another person, upon that such disposal (participation) is recognized as a group of persons in the legislation of the member states for the purposes of implementation of competitive (antimonopoly) policy in the territories of the member states;

6) “discriminatory conditions” – conditions of access to the trade market, conditions of production, exchange, consumption, purchase, sale, other transfer of goods, upon which the economic entity (market entity) or several economic entities (market entities) are placed at unequal position in comparison with other economic entity (market entity) or other economic entities (market entities) in recognition of conditions, restriction and features, provided by Agreement and (or) other international treaties of the member states;

7) “dominant position” – position of an economic entity (market entity) (group of persons) or several economic entities (market entities) (groups of persons) in the market of certain goods, offering to such economic entity (market entity) (group of persons) or such economic entities (market entities) (groups of persons) possibility to have a decisive influence on the general conditions of circulation of goods on the relevant trade market and (or) remove from this trade market other economic entities (market entities), and (or) impede access to this trade market to other economic entities (market entities);

8) “competition” – competitiveness of economic entities (market entities), upon which the possibility of each of them to influence on the general conditions of circulation of goods in the relevant trade market on a unilateral basis is excluded or limited by the separate actions of each of them;

9) "confidential information" means all types of information to which access is restricted in compliance with the laws and regulations of the Member States, with the exception of information classified as a state secret (state secrets) in obedience to the laws and regulations of the Member States);

10) “coordination of economic activity” – coordination of actions of economic entities (market entities) by third person, not included to the same group of persons with any of these economic entities (market entities) and do not carry out activity on the trade market (trade markets) on which the coordination of actions of economic entities (market entities) are carried out;

11) “indirect control” – the possibility of legal entity or individual to determine decisions, adopted by a legal entity, through the legal entity or several legal entities, between which there is an indirect control;

12) “monopolistically high price” – a price, established by the economic entity (market entity), holding a dominant position, if this price exceeds the amount of expenses and profits, necessary for production and sale of such goods and price, which is formed in the conditions of competition in the market entity, comparable in composition of buyers or sellers of goods, to the conditions of circulation of goods, conditions of access to the market entity, state regulation, including taxation, customs and tariff regulation (hereinafter - comparable trade market), in the existence of such market in the territory of the Union or outside.

Monopolistically high price, established by the entity of natural monopoly may not be recognized within the tariff to such goods, determined in accordance with the legislation of the member states;

13) “monopolistically low price” – a price, established by the economic entity (market entity), holding a dominant position, if this price is lower than the amount of expenses and profits, actual and necessary for the production and sale of such goods and lower than the price, which is formed in the conditions of competition in the comparable trade market, in the existence of such market in the territory of the Union and outside;

A price cannot be recognized as monopolistically low if its establishment by the seller of the goods did not or could not lead to a restriction of competition due to a reduction in the number of economic entities (market participants) that are not included in the same group of persons with the sellers or buyers of the goods in the relevant goods market;

14) "unfair competition" - any actions of an economic entity (market entity) (group of persons) or several economic entities (market entities) (group of persons) aimed at acquiring advantages in entrepreneurial activity, which are contrary to the legislation of the Member States and (or) business customs, requirements of integrity, reasonableness and fairness and have caused or may cause damage to other economic entities (market entities) - competitors or have caused or may cause harm to their business reputation;

15) “signs of restriction of competition” – reduction in the number of economic entities (market entities), not included to the one of group of persons, in the market entity, increase or decrease in the price of goods, not related with relevant changes of other general conditions of circulation of goods in the market entity, refusal of economic entities (market entities), not included to the one group of persons, from independent actions in the trade market, determination of general conditions of circulation of goods in the trade market by agreement between the economic entities (market entities) or in accordance with instructions of other person, compulsory for implementation by them or in the result of coordination of their actions in the trade market by the economic entities (market entities), not included to the one group of persons, as well as other circumstances, making the possibility for the economic entity (market entity) or several economic entities (market entities) to influence on the general conditions of circulation of goods in the trade market in accordance with unilateral procedure;

16) “direct control” – the possibility of a legal entity or individual to determine the decisions, adopted by a legal entity, by one or several following actions:

exercise functions of its executive body;

obtainment of a right to determine the conditions of maintenance of entrepreneurial activity of legal entity; disposal of more than 50 percent of the total number of votes, corresponding to the stocks (shares), composing the charter (reserve) capital of a legal entity;

17) “agreement” – an agreement in written form, contained in the document of several documents, as well as the agreement in oral form;

18) “goods” – the object of civil rights (as well as the work, service, including financial service), intended for the sale, exchange or other introduction into circulation;

4) consideration of complaints, applications, settlement of disputes on issues of establishment and application of regulated tariffs (prices) as well as access to the services of the natural monopoly entities;

5) consideration, approval or coordination of the investment programs of the natural monopoly entities and control of their implementation;

6) ensuring of observance of restrictions, provided by the legislation of the member states on appropriation of information to the commercial secret by the natural monopoly entities;

7) carrying out of control of activity of the natural monopoly entities, as well as by conducting of verifications and other forms (monitoring, analysis, expert examination);

8) other functions provided by the legislation of the member states.

VI. The Competence of Commission

20.Commission shall exercise the following powers:

1) adopts a decision on expansion of the scopes of the natural monopolies in the member states in the case if the member state intends to include other scope of the natural monopolies, not specified in the annexes №1 and 2 to this Minute, to the scope of the natural monopolies, after relevant application of this member state to the Commission;

2) analyzes and suggests the methods of coordination, development and implementation of decision of the national bodies, relating to the scopes of the natural monopolies;

3) conducts the comparative analysis of the system and practice of regulation of activity of the natural monopoly entities in the member states with preparation of the relevant annual accounts and reports;

4) contributes to harmonization of regulation in the scopes of the natural monopolies in relation of environmental aspects, energy efficiency;

5) presents the results of conducted work, specified in subparagraphs 3-4 of this paragraph and coordinated with the national bodies of the member states for consideration of the Supreme Council, as well as suggestions on establishment of regulatory legal acts of the member states in the scope of the natural monopolies, coordinated with the member states, which are subject to convergence, and on determination of subsequence of implementation of relevant measures on harmonization of the legislation in this scope;

6) carry out control of execution of section XIX of Agreement.

7) approve plans of action (“road maps”) agreed upon with the authorized bodies of the Member States to determine the sequence of implementation of measures to harmonize the legislation of the Member States in the area of natural monopolies.

ANNEX №21
to Agreement on Eurasian
Economic Union

Protocol on the Common Electricity Market of the Eurasian Economic Union

Footnote. The title of Annex 21 - as reworded by Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan № 109-VII of March 16, 2022 (see Article 2 for the enactment procedure).

Footnote. Protocol as amended by Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan № 109-VII of 16.03.2022 (see Art. 2 for the enactment procedure).

I. General provisions

1. This Protocol has been elaborated under Articles 81 and 82 of the Agreement on the Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter - the Agreement) and establishes the legislative framework for the formation, operation and development of the common electric energy market of the Union.

2. The provisions of this Protocol and the acts envisaged by this Protocol shall not apply to relations associated with trade in electric energy of member states with third states, including relations concerning the interstate transmission of electric energy (power) through the territory of a member state to the territory of third states, from the territory of third states through the territory of a member state.

Interstate transmission of electric power (capacity) with the aim of fulfilling obligations in relation to the electric power industry entities of third states shall be governed by the legislation of the member state through the territory thereof the interstate transmission of electric power (capacity) is implemented).

3. The terms used in this Protocol shall have the following meaning:

“accession agreement” - an agreement executed under the rules of mutual electricity trade on the common electricity market of the Union, establishing mutual obligations between a participant of the common electricity market of the Union, the centralised trade operator (operators) for a certain type of centralised electricity trade and other infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union, enforcing contracts for the sale of electricity based on the results of centralised trading;

“access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector” - the possibility for the actors of the common electricity market of the Union to benefit from the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector on the common electricity market of the Union;

“electricity (capacity) substitution” - interconnected and simultaneous supply of equal amounts of electricity (capacity) to and from the electricity system via different supply points located on the border(s) of a member state;

“interstate power line” means a power line that crosses the state borders of member states;

“interstate electricity (capacity) transmission” means the provision of services by authorised organisations of member states for the transmission and/or substitution of electricity (capacity). Under the legislation of a member state, the relevant relations shall be established through contracts for the provision of electricity (capacity) transmission (transit) services or other civil law contracts, including contracts for sale of electricity;

“interstate section” - a technologically conditioned set of transmission lines of all voltage classes between energy systems (parts of energy systems) of 2 or more states, running across state borders of member states, as well as across state borders of member states and third states;

“interstate flow” - the flow of electricity (capacity) along an interstate transmission line;

"common electricity market of the Union" - the system of relations between the actors of the internal wholesale electricity markets of the different Member States, based on parallel electricity systems, associated with the purchase and sale of electricity (capacity), operating under this Protocol, the acts envisaged in paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol and the relevant agreements between the actors of the common electricity market of the Union;

"centralised trading operator" - an organisation offering services for the organisation of a certain type of centralised electricity trade on the common electricity market of the Union;

"transmission of electricity (capacity)" - ensuring flows of electricity (capacity) produced in the territory of one member state across the networks of another member state between supply points located on its border(s);

"electricity net flow" is the algebraic sum (considering the direction) of the inter-state electricity flows on all transmission lines included in the inter-state cross-section;

"free bilateral contract" - a contract concluded between the participants of the common electric power market of the Union, where the volumes, prices, delivery and settlement terms and other conditions of discharge of obligations are independently established by the parties to the contract, with due regard to the carrying capacity of interstate sections, other technological and regulatory constraints;

"network operator" refers to an organisation authorised under the laws of a member state to provide electricity transmission services across the territory of that member state;

"system operator" referred to as the organisation authorised under the legislation of a member state to exercise operational and dispatch control of the electric power system of the member state;

"fixed-term contract" - a contract for purchase and sale of electricity between participants in the common electricity market of the Union, comprising standardised conditions for the period and hours of electricity supply, as well as for other essential conditions, where the price and volume of electricity are specified during centralised trading under the regulations of the centralised trading operator for fixed-term contracts;

"domestic wholesale electricity market entities" - legal entities that are entities of the wholesale electricity market of a member state under the legislation of that member state;

"dead-end scheme" - a scheme whereby the electricity supply to electricity consumers in one member state is via interstate transmission lines that receive voltage from another member state;

"services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector" - services on electricity transmission, operational dispatch management in the electricity sector, delivered by natural monopoly entities to ensure mutual trade in the common electricity market of the Union and interstate transmission of electricity (capacity).

II. Principles for the formation, operation and development of the common electricity market of the Union

4. Establishment, operation and development of the common electricity market of the Union shall be based on the following principles:

1) cooperation based on equality, mutual benefit with no economic detriment to any of the member states;

2) observing the balance of economic interests of electricity producers and consumers, as well as other entities in the common electricity market of the Union;

3) prioritising the use of mechanisms based on market relations and fair competition to form a sustainable system for meeting electricity (capacity) demand in competitive activities;

4) ensuring unhindered access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector, within the limits of technical feasibility, given the priority use of these services to meet the internal needs of member states for the inter-state transmission of electricity (power);

5) gradual formation and development of a common electricity market of the Union based on the parallel electricity systems of the member states, considering the peculiarities of the existing electricity market models of the member states;

6) exploiting the technical and economic advantages of parallel operation of the member states' electricity systems, respecting mutually agreed conditions for parallel operation;

7) implementation of electricity trade between member state entities, considering the energy security of member states;

8) gradual harmonisation of the member states' electricity legislation including in terms of information disclosure by the actors of the common electricity market of the Union.

III. Regulations for the operation of the common electricity market of the Union

5. To the extent technically possible, member states shall ensure unhindered access to interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) on interstate transmission lines, subject to ensuring the internal electricity (capacity) needs of member states under the regulations governing the principles and procedure for access to interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) (hereinafter referred to as the access regulations).

Transmission of electric power (capacity) between states shall be performed under respective contracts between the organisation (organisations) authorised to perform interstate transmission of electric power (capacity) and the consumer of interstate transmission of electric power (capacity) services. The procedure for concluding, executing, amending, terminating, registering and recording these contracts shall be governed by the rules of access.

The Intergovernmental Council shall adopt the rules of access.

6. The rules approved by the Intergovernmental Council (hereinafter, the rules for mutual trade in electricity) shall govern the mutual trade in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union).

7. Legal relations related to the establishment and allocation of carrying capacity of interstate cross-sections shall be regulated under the rules governing the relations of the actors of the common electric power market of the Union in determining and allocating the carrying capacity of interstate power lines available for mutual electricity trade in the common electric power market of the Union and interstate transmission of electric power (capacity), as approved by the Intergovernmental Council.

8. Information interaction between the common electricity market actors of the Union, the public authorities of the member states and the Commission in the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union shall be performed under the rules determining the composition of data and the procedures for their provision by the actors of the common electricity market of the Union, the public authorities of the member states and the Commission in the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union and adopted by the Intergovernmental Council ((hereinafter referred to as the information exchange rules).

IV. Powers of the Commission

9. With a view to ensuring the establishment, operation and development of the common electricity market of the Union, the Commission shall exercise the following powers:

1) monitoring the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union under the procedure adopted by the Council of the Commission;

2) preparation of suggestions for improving the legal regulation in relation to the common electricity market of the Union;

3) other powers conferred by this Protocol.

V. Management and operation of the common electricity market of the Union

10. The common electricity market of the Union shall be managed and operated by the following authorities and organisations:

the public authorities of the member states authorised under the legislation of the member states to regulate and/or control the electricity sector;

infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union.

At the initiative of member states, auxiliary bodies (council of heads of public authorities of member states, working groups, special commissions) may be established by decision of the Supreme Council to ensure the proper functioning of the common electricity market of the Union.

11. The public authorities of the member states empowered under the legislation of the member states to regulate and/or control the electricity sector may include, but are not limited to:

the public authorities of the member states responsible for the implementation of the state policy in the electricity sector;

the public authorities of the member states competent for implementing and/or enforcing competition (anti-monopoly) policy; member state authorities vested with the power to regulate and/or control natural monopolies.

The public authorities of a member state, empowered under the legislation of that member state to regulate and/or control the electricity sector, shall exercise the following functions and powers in order to ensure the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union:

ensure the implementation of activities aimed at the implementation of this Protocol; promote the harmonisation of the member state's electricity legislation under the acts adopted in conformity with paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol; engage in the preparation and review of monitoring data on the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union;

monitor the compliance of the actors of the common electricity market of the Union registered in the territory of the member state with the competitive (anti-monopoly) legislation of the member state, the regulations for mutual trade in electricity and the rules of access in the territory of the member state;

regulate and control the activities of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector registered in the territory of the member state and operating in the common electricity market of the Union, under the legislation of the member state in the field of regulation and/or control of natural monopoly activities; examine complaints concerning breaches of access rules by a common electricity market entity of the Union registered in the territory of the Member State concerned; adopt methodological guidelines for determining prices (tariffs) for services of infrastructure organisations in the common electricity market of the Union registered in the territory of the respective member state that are not natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector;

other functions and powers specified in the instruments adopted pursuant to paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol and in the legislation of the member states.

The procedure for the exercise of the functions and powers mentioned in this paragraph by the public authorities of the member states empowered under the legislation of the member states to regulate and/or control the electricity sector shall be governed by the legislation of the member states concerned.

12. The composition of the infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union shall be established as described in paragraphs 21 to 23 of this Protocol.

This Protocol, the acts adopted under paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol and the legislation of the member states in so far as specified in such acts shall govern the rights and obligations (functions and powers) of the infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union regarding the functioning of the common electricity market of the Union.

13. Member states shall secure interaction between the public authorities of the member states empowered under the legislation of the member states to regulate and/or control the electricity sector, infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union and the participants in the common electricity market of the Union.

VI. Actors in the common electricity market of the Union

14. The actors in the common electricity market of the Union shall include:

1) participants in the common electricity market of the Union;

2) infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union.

15. The rights and obligations (functions and powers) of the entities of the common electricity market of the Union in the common electricity market of the Union shall be determined under this Protocol, the acts adopted by virtue of paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol and the legislation of the member states to the extent provided for in those acts.

16. The Register of the actors of the common electricity market of the Union shall contain details of the actors of the internal wholesale electricity markets of the member states entitled, under paragraphs 17 to 19 of this Protocol, to participate in the common electricity market of the Union, as well as details of the infrastructure organisations of the member states indicated in paragraph 21 of this Protocol, authorised to participate in the common electricity market of the Union. This data shall be compiled by the authorities (organisations) designated under the laws of the member states).

The register of the entities of the common electricity market of the Union shall be formed and maintained under the rules of information exchange.

VII. Participants in the common electricity market of the Union

17. Participants in the common electricity market of the Union shall include:

1) legal entities engaged in the sale (supply) of electricity and being actors on the internal wholesale electricity markets under the legislation of the respective member states;

2) legal entities purchasing electricity and being actors in the internal wholesale electricity markets under the legislation of the respective member states;

3) legal entities purchasing electricity from a neighbouring member state via inter-state transmission lines through a “dead-end scheme” in the absence of an alternative and possibility to purchase electricity in the domestic electricity market of their member state;

4) legal entities empowered, under the legislation of the member states, to settle hourly deviations of actual electricity balances from the planned values.

18. Prior to the entry into force of the decision of the Council of the Commission foreseen by paragraph 19 of this Protocol, each member state may, in accordance with its legislation, authorise an actor in the internal wholesale electricity market of the Union, as well as determine the list of legal entities entitled to participate in electricity trading in the common electricity market of the Union.

19. Following the entry into force of the international treaty on the establishment of a common Union gas market, as well as the acts of the Union authorities necessary for the running of the common Union gas market, the Commission Council shall adopt a decision whereby the member states shall provide conditions for the participation on a voluntary and competitive basis of any entities of the internal wholesale electricity markets in the common electricity market of the Union. Following the entry into force of the said decision of the Commission Council, Member States shall not authorise individual entities of the internal wholesale electricity market of the Union to participate in the common electricity market (excluding the cases stipulated in this Protocol).

20. Legal entities of the member states shall trade in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union, unless they simultaneously engage in (combine) natural monopoly and competitive activities in the electricity sector.

The provisions of the first indent of this paragraph shall not apply to trade in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union in the following circumstances:

electricity trade in the common electricity market of the Union is performed for the purpose of settling hourly deviations of actual electricity balances from the planned values;

electricity is purchased on the common electricity market of the Union by system and (or) network operators to compensate for losses in electricity grids in cases determined by the rules of mutual trade in electricity.

The provisions of the first indent of this paragraph shall not apply to legal entities of a member state involved in the production and/or sale of electricity if, as of the date of entry into force of this Protocol, the production and/or sale of electricity in that member state is classified as a natural monopoly under Annex No 2 to the Protocol on Common Principles and Rules Governing the Activities of Natural Monopolies (Annex № 20 to the Agreement).

Specifics of participation in electricity trade on the common electricity market of the Union of legal entities mentioned in the fifth indent of this paragraph shall be stipulated by the rules of mutual trade in electricity, considering the provisions of the Protocol on Uniform Principles and Rules Governing the Activities of Natural Monopolies (Annex № 20 to the Agreement).

VIII. Infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union

21. The infrastructure organisations of the common electricity market of the Union shall be composed of:

1) system operators;

2) network operators;

3) centralised trade operator(s);

4) other organisations rendering services to the actors of the common electricity market of the Union in mutual trade in electricity under the acts adopted by virtue of paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol.

22. The functions of several infrastructure organisations in the common electricity market of a Member State may be combined under the legislation of that member state.

23. The infrastructural organisations of the common electricity market of the Union shall offer services under the contracts concluded pursuant to the acts adopted as per paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol.

IX. Trading in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union

24. Modalities for trading in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union:

1) mutual trade in electricity between members of the common electricity market of the Union under free bilateral contracts;

2) centralised electricity trade between participants in the common electricity market of the Union, the types whereof are governed by the rules for mutual trade in electricity and include, inter alia, centralised day-ahead trade subject to its economic feasibility (hereinafter: centralised electricity trade);

3) settlement of hourly deviations of actual electricity balances from the planned values under the contracts concluded between the authorised organisations of the member states.

25. Electricity shall be traded on the common electricity market of the Union between the members of the common electricity market of the Union, being legal entities of different member states, at the respective interstate sections at the state borders of the member states under this Protocol, the rules for mutual electricity trade and under the contracts required to be concluded for electricity trade using a certain method of trade.

26. The mutual trade rules for electricity shall stipulate the actions that the participants in the common electricity market of the Union have to perform to initiate trading using the respective mode of trade.

The list of essential terms and conditions of contracts, the conclusion whereof is required for participation in electricity trade on the common electricity market of the Union using a particular mode of trade, including free bilateral contracts, and the procedure for concluding, performing, modifying, terminating, registering and recording said contracts shall be governed by the electricity mutual trading rules and the access rules. These rules shall establish the list of contracts required to participate in electricity trading on the common electricity market of the Union, to be concluded pursuant to standard forms approved by the Council of the Commission. The terms and conditions of contracts concluded under such forms may not be unilaterally changed by the participants in the common electricity market of the Union being parties thereto.

27. Electricity shall be mutually traded under free bilateral contracts by the participants in the common electric power market of the Union by concluding bilateral contracts for the purchase and sale of electricity at prices, in the volume and under the terms of supply that are established by the parties to the contracts independently, with regard to the carrying capacity of inter-state sections, other technological and regulatory constraints. Changes in the volume of electricity supply and termination of the free bilateral contract shall be done under the procedure and terms prescribed by the rules for mutual trade in electricity. Electricity volumes bought (sold) under free bilateral contracts registered in the Union common electricity market under the applicable procedure shall be accounted for on the internal wholesale electricity markets of the member states pursuant to the legislation of those member states.

28. Centralised electricity trade shall rely on the participants of the common electricity market of the Union via an electronic trading system, enabling the determination of prices and volumes of electricity purchases (sales) under the rules of mutual trade in electricity. Centralised electricity trade services shall be offered by the centralised trade operator(s) on a fee contractual basis.

The volumes of electricity purchased (sold) under the contracts signed as a result of centralised electricity trading on the common electricity market of the Union and registered in the prescribed manner on the common electricity market of the Union shall be registered and accounted for on the internal wholesale electricity markets of the member states under the legislation of those member states.

29. To regulate hourly deviations of actual balances of electricity flows from planned values and to enable participants in the common electric power market of the Union to trade electricity on a mutual basis via the respective interstate sections, organisations of neighbouring member states empowered to regulate deviations shall conclude hourly deviation purchase agreements or other agreements, in accordance with the rules for mutual trade of electricity, provided it does not contravene the legislation of the member states.

Electricity shall not be traded by the means indicated in sub-paragraphs 1 and 2 of paragraph 24 of this Protocol between the participants in the common electricity market of the Union of the member states concerned in the relevant section until the contracts mentioned in the first sub-paragraph of this paragraph have been concluded.

The procedure for calculating the values of hourly deviations and the procedure for their settlement shall be governed by the rules for mutual trade in electricity.

In inter-state sections where electricity is traded between participants in the common electricity market of the Union, associated with the supply of electricity to consumers under a "dead-end scheme" in the absence of an alternative and possibility to buy electricity in the internal electricity market of its member state, the deviations shall be settled under free bilateral contracts for the purchase and sale of electricity.

30. Based on its legislation, each member state shall designate the entity of the internal wholesale electricity market entrusted with participating in the settlement of hourly deviations of actual balancing flows of electricity from the planned values and concluding the relevant contracts.

Data on the conclusion of contracts for the settlement of hourly deviations of actual electricity balances from the planned values shall be made available to the common electricity market actors of the Union under the rules of information exchange.

31. For the implementation of electricity trade in the common electricity market of the Union by participants in the common electricity market of a Member State not sharing borders with other member states, across the territory of a third state contiguous with such a member state, contracts for the settlement of hourly deviations of actual electricity balances from the planned values shall be concluded between the authorised organisation of the member state not sharing borders with other member states and the organisation authorised to conclude relevant contracts under the laws of the third state.

A prerequisite for trading in electricity on the common electricity market of the Union by participants in the common electricity market of a member state not sharing borders with other member states shall also be the conclusion (availability) of electricity transit contracts through the third state in both directions.

X. Centralised trade operator(s)

32. The centralised trading of electricity on the common electricity market of the Union shall be organised by the organisation(s) of the member state(s) decided by the Council of the Commission based on the proposals of the member states.

33. The rules of mutual trade in electricity, the rules of information exchange, the accession agreement(s) and the regulations of the centralised trade operator(s) shall govern the rights and obligations (functions and powers) of the centralised trade operator(s).

34. Centralised electricity trading services shall be rendered through an appropriate electronic trading system - trading platform.

35. The form of the accession agreement(s), the standard forms of contracts and the regulations required by the acts adopted under paragraphs 5 to 8 of this Protocol shall be approved by the Council of the Commission based on the proposals of member states.

36. The principles for setting the price (tariff) for the services of centralised electricity trade operator(s) shall be stipulated in the rules for mutual trade in electricity.

XI. Technological framework for electricity trading in the common electricity market of the Union

37. The technological basis for electricity trade in the common electricity market of the Union shall consist of:

1) an information exchange system enabling the interaction of the common electricity market actors of the Union based on the data on the functioning of the electricity systems and electricity markets of the member states;

2) an electronic trading system enabling centralised trading of fixed-term contracts;

3) electronic trading system allowing centralised day-ahead trading.

XII. Regulation and supervision of the activities of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector on the common electricity market of the Union, as well as of other organisations empowered to conduct inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity)

38. Regulation and supervision of the activities of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector and other organisations entitled to perform interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) when they perform interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) shall be exercised under this Protocol, access rules and the legislation of the member state through the territory thereof the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) is performed).

The regulation and supervision of the activities of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector when they provide relevant services to the entities of the internal wholesale electricity market, engaged in the purchase (sale) of electricity on the common electricity market of the Union, shall be exercised under the laws of the member state concerned, with due regard to the principles specified in paragraph 3 of the Protocol on Common Principles and rules for the regulation of natural monopoly entities (Annex № 20 to the Agreement).

Natural monopoly services in the electricity sector for electricity transmission and for operational dispatch management in the electricity sector shall be offered only to domestic electricity market entities in the member state in the territory thereof these services are being offered, under the laws of the member state in question. In doing so, the actors of the internal wholesale electricity market that purchase (sell) electricity on the common electricity market of the Union shall be granted access to the services of the said natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector under the same terms as the access to the respective services is granted to the entities that purchase (sell) electricity only on the internal wholesale electricity market of the member state.

39. Pricing (tariff setting) with regard to the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector shall be done under the legislation of the member states.

Prices (tariffs) for the services of natural monopoly actors in the electricity sector in the common electricity market of the Union shall not exceed similar domestic prices (tariffs) for domestic wholesale electricity market entities.

Pricing (tariff setting) for the inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity) across the territory of a member state shall consider the compensation of the organisation empowered to conduct the inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity) for the costs (expenses) resulting from the provision of inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity) by such organisation in the domestic electricity market under the laws of the member state. However, if the price (tariff) for the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) is calculated based on the forecast values of the parameters considered when setting the price (tariff) under the legislation of a member state, the difference between the forecast and actual values of these parameters related to the previous calculation periods shall be considered in determining the price (tariff) for the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) in the subsequent calculation of the price (tariff).

Prices (tariffs) for interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) shall be established well in advance of the commencement of the next calendar month (billing period) within the period prescribed by the access rules, and shall not be amended with respect to the obligations of that calendar month (billing period)).

XIII. Antitrust regulation of the common electricity market of the Union

40. Antitrust regulation of the common electricity market of the Union shall be exercised under the laws of the member states and Section XVIII of the Agreement, with due regard to the particularities laid down in Sections XIX and XX of the Agreement and this Protocol.

XIV. Development of interstate electricity networks

41. A member state shall develop inter-state electricity networks on its territory under its legislation and under the regulation on the development of inter-state electricity networks approved by the Council of the Commission.

XV. Stages in the formation and development of the common electricity market of the Union

42. The timing for the enactment of the acts foreseen in this Protocol, as well as the stages of development of the common electricity market of the Union, shall be laid down by the Supreme Council.

XVI. Implementation of interstate transmission of electricity (capacity)

43. Within the meaning of this section, the following terms shall be used:

"domestic demand for electricity (capacity)" refers to the amount of electricity (capacity) required for their consumption in the territories of the respective member states;

"access to services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector" means the possibility for a domestic market actor in one member state to benefit from the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector in the territory of another member state;

"domestic electricity market actors" - persons who are actors of the electricity (capacity) market of a member state under the legislation of that member state, engaged in activities in the electricity sector, including production of electricity (capacity), purchase and sale of electricity (capacity), distribution of electricity, supply of electricity to consumers, provision of electricity (capacity) transmission services, operational dispatch management in the electricity sector.

44. To the extent technically possible, member states shall grant unhindered access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the electricity sector, providing that these services are used on a priority basis to satisfy the internal electricity (capacity) needs of member states, based on the following principles:

1) equality of requirements in relation to the domestic electricity (capacity) market entities imposed by the legislation of the member state within the territory thereof such services are provided;

2) consideration of the legislation of the member states when granting access to the services of natural monopolies in the electricity sector, given the priority use of these services to meet the domestic needs of the member states;

3) ensuring the proper technical condition of the electric power facilities affecting the modes of parallel operation of the electric power systems of the member states in the provision of services by natural monopoly entities in the electric power sector;

4) the contractual arrangements between the domestic electricity market entities of the member states;

5) the compensability of services delivered by the natural monopoly entities of the member states in the electricity sector.

45. Electricity (capacity) shall be transmitted between states based on the following principles:

1) the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) via the electricity system of a neighbouring member state is provided by the member states within the limits of available technical capacity, provided that the internal needs for electricity (capacity) of the member states are prioritised;

2) determination of the technical feasibility of inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity) shall be based on the following priority:

ensuring the internal electricity (capacity) needs of the member state through the electricity system thereof the inter-state transmission is planned to take place; securing the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) from one part of the electric power system of a member state to another part thereof through the electric power system of a neighbouring member state; securing the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) via the electricity system of a member state from the electricity system of one member state to the electricity system of another member state;

providing for the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) via the electricity system of a member state to fulfil obligations with regard to electricity entities in third states;

3) for interstate transmission of electricity (capacity), the authorised organisations of the member states are guided by the compensation principle for interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) based on the legislation of the member state;

4) the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) for the purpose of fulfilling obligations in relation to electricity entities of third states is governed on a bilateral basis, with due regard to the legislation of the member state concerned.

46. To ensure smooth inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity) via the member states' electricity systems, a set of coordinated preparatory measures shall be implemented, namely:

prior to the commencement of the calendar year of electricity (capacity) supply, the authorised member states announce the planned volumes of electricity (capacity) intended for interstate transmission to be included in the national forecast balances of electricity (capacity) production and consumption, including for the purpose of considering such supplies when setting the tariffs for services of natural monopoly entities;

based on the calculations of the planned cost of inter-state transmission of electricity (capacity), the organisations authorised by the member states enter into contracts in pursuance of the agreements reached.

Aiming to ensure smooth interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) via the electric power systems of member states, the authorised bodies of member states shall apply the Methodology for Interstate Transmission of Electricity (Capacity) between Member States, comprising the procedure for determining technical conditions and volumes of interstate transmission of electricity (capacity), as well as harmonised approaches to pricing (tariff setting) for services related to interstate transmission.

Organisations designated under the laws of member states shall ensure the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) through their state pursuant to the said Methodology.

47. The interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) and the operation of power grid facilities required to secure the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) shall be implemented under the regulatory legal and regulatory and technical documents of the member state offering services related to the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity).

48. Should the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) be refused, the organisations empowered by the member states shall provide substantiating material on the grounds for the refusal.

49. Regulating relations concerning the interstate transmission of electricity (capacity) shall be implemented with reference to other international treaties in force.

Methodology of carrying out of interstate transfer of electric energy (power) between the member states 1. The basic provisions of procedure of filling of applications and formation of annual forecast volumes of interstate transfer of electric energy (power), subjected to inclusion in the forecast balances of production and consumption of electric energy (power), as well as considered upon calculation of tariffs for the services of natural monopoly entities.

Footnote. Section 1 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII dated 15.02.2021; Law of the RK № 64-VII dated 15.09.2021; Law of the RK № 65-VII dated 18.09.2021.

1.1. In the territory of the Republic of Belarus.

1.1.1. Annual forecast volumes of interstate transfer of electric energy (power) (hereinafter – IHP (Международная гидрологическая программа) on the national electrical grid of the Republic of Belarus shall be determined by organization, authorized for its implementation, on the basis of filed application.

1.1.2. Application for the forthcoming calendar year shall be filed not later than 1 April of the previous year. The application shall include the annual IHP and the maximum power, broken down by month.

1.1.3. Authorized organization of the Republic of Belarus shall be guided by the value of available technical possibility, determined in accordance with this Methodology upon consideration of application.

Authorized organization of the Republic of Belarus shall direct the reasoned refusal to the organization, filed an application upon exceeding of the applied value of IHP of the value of available technical possibility for the whole year or any month of the year.

1.1.4. Applied volumes of IHP, coordinated by the authorized organization of the Republic of Belarus shall be executed as the annex to agreement for the transfer of electric energy and considered upon calculation of tariffs for the services on transfer of electric energy.

1.1.5. Volumes of electric energy, supposed to IHP may be corrected by coordination of the authorized organizations of the member states before 1 November of the year, preceding the year of the planned IHP.

1.2. In the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

1.2.1. Annual forecast volumes of IHP on the national electrical grid of the Republic of Kazakhstan shall be determined on the basis of application, filed by the organization authorized for implementation of IHP to the system operator of the Republic of Kazakhstan for implementation of IHP.

1.2.2. Application for the forthcoming calendar year shall be filed not later than 1 April of the previous year. The application shall include the annual volume of IHP, broken down by month and specification of receiving points and points of output of electric energy in the border of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

1.2.3. System operator of the Republic of Kazakhstan shall be guided by the value of available technical possibility, determined in accordance with this Methodology upon consideration of application. System operator of the Republic of Kazakhstan shall direct the reasoned refusal to the organization, filed an application upon exceeding of the applied value of IHP of the value of available technical possibility for the whole year or any month of the year.

1.2.4. Applied volumes of IHP, coordinated by the system operator of the Republic of Kazakhstan shall be executed as the annex to agreement for the transfer of electric energy and considered upon calculation of tariffs for the services on transfer of electric energy.

1.2.5. The volumes of supply of electric energy on bilateral interstate agreements shall be determined and coordinated with subjects of wholesale market after formation of forecast balance of electric energy and power on the Unified energy system of the Republic of Kazakhstan (hereinafter – UES of Kazakhstan) before 15 October of the year, preceding the planned.

1.2.6. Volumes of electric energy, supposed to IHP may be corrected at the suggestion of subjects, authorized for organization and implementation of IHP before 1 November of the year, preceding the year of planned supply.

1.3. In the territory of the Russian Federation.

1.3.1. In obedience to the Procedure for the formation of a consolidated forecast balance within the Unified Energy System of Russia by constituent entities of the Russian Federation, by 1 April of the year preceding the year of the planned supply, the authorised organisation (organisation for the management of the Unified National (All-Russian) Power Grid (hereinafter referred to as the "UNPG") of the Russian Federation) shall send proposals, agreed with the authorised organisations of the Member States managing the national electricity grid, to the body authorised to form a consolidated forecast balance of electricity (capacity) production and consumption by constituent entities of the Russian Federation, as well as to the system operator of UES of Russia.

1.3.2 The agreed proposals shall be considered by the authority responsible to form a consolidated forecast balance of electricity (capacity) production and consumption by the constituent entities of the Russian Federation, and shall be taken into account when forming a consolidated forecast balance of electricity (capacity) production and consumption by the constituent entities of the Russian Federation for the next calendar year, within the time frame stipulated by the legislation of the Russian Federation.

1.3.3. Volumes of electric energy and power, supposed to IHP, approved as a part of the indicators of consolidated forecast balance of production and consumption of electric energy (power) on the subjects of the Russian Federation for the year of supply shall be considered upon calculation of prices (tariffs) for the services of natural monopolies in the electrical energy industry.

1.3.4. Volumes of electric energy and power, supposed to IHP may be corrected by suggestion of organization on management of the UNEG upon condition of existence of coordination by the authorized bodies (organizations) of the member states before 1 November of the year, preceding the year of the planned supply, with conducting of relevant correction of the established prices (tariffs) for the services of natural monopolies in the electrical energy industry.

1.4. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

1.4.1. Annual forecast volumes of inter-state electricity transmission (IET) via the electric energy system of the Republic of Armenia (hereinafter referred to as EES of Armenia) shall be determined by an organisation authorised to organise IET (hereinafter referred to as the system operator of EES of Armenia), based on an application

1.4.2. The application for the upcoming calendar year shall be submitted no later than 1 April of the preceding year. The application shall indicate the annual volume of the IET by months, specifying the points of reception and delivery of electricity at the border of the Republic of Armenia.

1.4.3. When considering an application, the Armenian EES System Operator shall be guided by the value of the available technical capacity of the Armenian EES, determined in compliance with this Methodology. If the value of the IET application exceeds the available technical capacity of the Armenian EES for the whole year or in any month of the year, the system operator of the Armenian EES shall send a motivated refusal to the applicant organisation.

1.4.4. The declared IET volumes agreed by the Armenian EES System Operator shall be drawn up as an annex to the electricity transmission contract and taken into account in the calculation of tariffs for electricity transmission services.

1.4.5. After the formation of forecast balances of electricity and capacity in the Armenian EES, the volumes of electricity supply under bilateral interstate contracts shall be determined and agreed upon with the wholesale market entities by October 15 of the year preceding the planned year.

1.4.6. The electricity volumes expected to be supplied by IET may be adjusted upon proposal of the entities authorised to organise and implement IET by 1 November of the year preceding the year of planned supply.

1.5. On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic.

1.5.1. The annual IET forecasts for the National Power Grid of the Kyrgyz Republic (hereinafter referred to as the Kyrgyz NPG) shall be determined by the organisation authorised to implement IET (hereinafter referred to as the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation) based on an application.

1.5.2. The application for the upcoming calendar year shall be submitted no later than 1 April of the preceding year. The application shall indicate the annual volume of IET and maximum capacity broken down by months and indicating the points of reception and delivery of electricity at the border of the Kyrgyz Republic.

1.5.3. In reviewing the application, the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation shall be guided by the value of the available technical capacity of the Kyrgyz NPG as determined in conformity with this Methodology. If the IET application exceeds the available technical capacity of the Kyrgyz NPG for the whole year or in any month of the year, the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation shall send a reasoned refusal to the applicant organisation.

1.5.4. The declared IET volumes agreed with the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation shall be drawn up as an annex to the electricity transmission contract and taken into account in the calculation of tariffs for electricity transmission services.

1.5.5. The electricity volumes expected to be supplied by IET may be adjusted as agreed by the authorised organisations of the Member States before 1 November of the year preceding the year of planned supply.

2. Procedure of determination of technical possibility and planned volumes of IHP on the basis of planning of annual, monthly, daily and per diem modes of work of electrical power systems, including provisions, determining functions and powers of planning coordinator

Footnote. Section 2 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan: № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; № 65-VII of 18.09.2021; dated 16.03.2022 № 109-VII (see Article 2 for the procedure for entry into force).

2.1. Terminology.

The following concepts shall be used for the purposes of section 2 of this Methodology:

Controlled section – a set of power transmission lines (PTL) and other elements of electric grid, determined by the dispatch centers of the system operators of electrical power systems of the member states, flows of power of which are controlled for the purposes of ensuring of the stable work, reliability and survivability of electrical power systems.

The maximum allowable power flow – the highest flow in the network section, complying with all requirements to the normal conditions.

The interstate section – a point or a group of the points of supply, located in the interstate PTL, connecting the electrical power systems (separate energy areas) of neighboring states, technologically conditioned by the tasks of planning and management of electric power modes of parallel work, determined by the system operators of electrical power systems of the member states.

Other terms used shall have the meaning assigned to them by the Protocol on the Common Electricity Market of the Eurasian Economic Union (Annex № 21 to the Agreement on the Eurasian Economic Union).

2.2. General provisions.

2.2.1. Tasks solved at the stages of planning:

- annual planning: verification of technical possibility of implementation of applied volumes of supplies of electric energy (power) between the member states and IHP between the member states, taken into account in the forecast balances of production and consumption of electrical energy industry (power) in recognition of annual planned repair schedules of electrical grid equipment, limiting the export-import section, and their correction if necessary;

- monthly planning: verification of technical possibility of implementation of applied volumes of supplies and IHP between the member states, taken into account in the annual forecast balances of production and consumption of electric energy (power) in recognition of monthly planned repair schedules of electrical grid equipment, limiting the export-import section, and their correction if necessary;

- daily planning and per diem correction of modes: verification of technical possibility of implementation of hourly volumes of supplies, applied the day-ahead and IHP between the member states in recognition of real circuit-regime situation, planned, unplanned and emergency shutdown of the electrical grid equipment, limiting the export-import section, volumes of supplies and IHP between the member states.

2.2.2. Planning (calculation of the feasibility of planned IET volumes between the Member States) shall be performed between the UES of Russia and the UES of Kazakhstan, between the UES of Russia and the United Energy System of Belarus (UES of Belarus), and between the UES of Russia and the UES of Armenia (via power systems of third countries) using a calculation model of parallel operating electric power systems (hereinafter, the calculation model).

2.2.3. The calculation model shall be a mathematical model of technologically interrelated parts and (or) equivalents of the UES of Russia, the UES of Kazakhstan, the ES of Kyrgyzstan, the UES of Belarus, the EES equivalents of Armenia and energy systems of third countries through which electricity (capacity) is transferred between the UES of Russia and the EES of Armenia, to the extent necessary for planning, and shall include a description of:

- columns and equivalent circuit parameters of electrical grid;
- active and reactive nodal loads;
- active and reactive generation in the node;
- minimum and maximum active and reactive power generation;
- transmission constraints.

2.2.4. Calculation model shall be formed on the basis of equivalent circuit, coordinated by the system operators of electrical power systems of the member states, as a rule, for the basic modes, corresponding to the agreed hours of winter maximum and minimum load, and summer maximum and minimum load (basic calculation schemes). The maximum permissible power flows shall be specified in the controlled interstate sections, as well as in the internal controlled sections for the typical circuit-regime situations, if they essentially effect on the implementation of interstate supplies (exchanges).

2.2.5. The planning coordinator is the system operator of the UES of Russia.

2.2.6 Composition of calculation models and updated information for each planning stage, including lists of energy facilities and electricity systems (electric power system equivalents) included in the calculation model, the procedure and time schedule for their formation and updating, formats and method of data exchange for planning annual, monthly, daily and intraday operation modes of electric power systems shall be established by documents, approved by the system operator of the UES of Russia and the UNPG management organisation with the organisation performing the functions of the system operator of the UES of Belarus and the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, and the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan and the NPG management organisation of Kyrgyzstan in agreement with the system operators of third countries, whose power systems operate in parallel within the Central Asia Unified Energy System, as well as by the Armenian EES system operator by agreement with the system operators of the energy systems of third countries through which electricity (capacity) is transmitted between the UES of Russia and the Armenian EES.

2.3. Functions and powers of planning coordinator and separate system operators of electrical power systems of the member states.

2.3.1. The planning co-ordinator shall:

- form basic calculation models;

- organise information exchange with the organisation performing the functions of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including for recording the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Armenian EES system operator for planning purposes;

- carry out calculations of electric power regimes based on the data received from the organisation performing the functions of the Belarusian UES system operator, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including taking into account the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Armenian EES system operator for planning purposes;

- adjustment of interstate flows between electricity systems (parts of electricity systems) of member states in case the calculation shows unrealisable electric modes or exceeds the maximum permissible flows in the controlled sections of the calculation model at the declared supply volumes and IHL, with due regard to ensuring the priority principles specified in sub-paragraph 2 of paragraph 4 of the Protocol on the Common Electricity Market of the Eurasian (Annex № 21 to the Agreement on the Eurasian Economic Union):

1) to meet the domestic needs of the Member State via the electricity system of which the IET is to be implemented;

2) ensuring IET electricity (capacity) from one part of the electricity system of a Member State to another part via the electricity system of a neighbouring Member State;

3) ensuring IET electricity (capacity) via the electricity system of a Member State from the electricity system of one Member State to the electricity system of another Member State;

4) ensuring IET electricity (capacity) via the electricity system of a Member State in order to fulfil obligations towards the electricity entities of third countries outside the Union;

- communicating the results of the above calculations to the organisation performing the function of the Belarusian UES system operator, the Kazakhstan UES system operator, and the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation.

2.3.2. If the calculation reveals unrealizability of electric modes or exceeds the maximum permissible flows in the monitored sections of the calculation model, the planning coordinator shall send to the organisation performing the function of the Belarusian UES system operator, the Kazakhstan UES system operator, and the Kyrgyz NPG management organization, as well as the organisation managing the UNPG the values of necessary adjustments of the values of balance flows (balances) of electric power systems.

The organisation performing the function of system operator of the Belarus UES, a system operator of the Kazakhstan UES, a management organisation of the Kyrgyzstan NPG, a system operator of the Armenian UES and a management organisation of the UNPG shall adjust the volumes of electricity (capacity) supply under all contracts, including IET based on the above priority, or take other measures to remove violations of permissible flows in the monitored cross-sections, as identified by the calculations of the planning co-ordinator.

Information on the adjusted contractual volumes of electricity (capacity) supply under all contracts, including the IET between the Member States shall be communicated by the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the organisation managing the NPG of Kyrgyzstan and the organisation managing the UNPG to the entities of the internal electricity markets of the Member States under the concluded contracts.

2.3.3. In case of failure to receive up-to-date data for planning from the organisation performing the function of system operator of the Belarus UES, system operator of the Kazakhstan UES, management organisation of the Kyrgyzstan NPG, system operator of the Armenian EES or receipt of data containing technical errors or deliberately unreliable data, the planning coordinator shall be entitled to use substitute information the content and application procedure of which shall be established by documents approved by the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the Belarus UES, the system operator of the Kazakhstan UES, the management organisation of the Kyrgyzstan NPG, the system operator of the Armenian EES and the system operator of the Russian UES.

2.4. Annual planning.

2.4.1. Annual planning shall be carried out within the time limits and pursuant to the procedure determined by the organisation performing the function of system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the management organisation of the NPG of Kyrgyzstan, the system operator of the EES of Armenia and the system operator of the UES of Russia.

2.4.2. The organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan and the UNPG management organisation shall form draft schedules on repairs of electric grid equipment for the planned calendar year and shall submit them to the planning coordinator. The planning coordinator shall bring into accordance the schedule on repairs of electric grid equipment for the planned calendar year and submit it to the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, to the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan and to the organisation for the UNPG management. The list of power grid facilities the repairs of which are subject to agreement as part of the annual (as well as monthly) repair schedule, as well as the time regulations for its formation shall be established by the organisation performing the function of system operator of the Belarus UES, the system operator of Kazakhstan UES and the system operator of Russia UES.

The EES System Operator of Armenia and the Kyrgyz NPG shall form and submit to the planning coordinator repair schedules for electric grid equipment of EES of Armenia and ES of Kyrgyzstan included in the calculation model. Repair schedules of power grid equipment of the Armenian and Kyrgyz ES included in the calculation model shall not be subject to approval by the planning coordinator.

2.4.3. The organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including for recording the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the system operator of the Armenian EES shall provide the planning coordinator with information for annual planning for the respective national electricity system (consumption, generation, flow balances, repairs of grid equipment), formed by them based on the forecasts.

2.4.4. The planning results shall be the refined projected balance of exchange between the UES of Russia and the UES of Kazakhstan, the UES of Kyrgyzstan and the UES of Kazakhstan, the UES of Russa and the UES of Belarus, as well as the projected volume of electricity (capacity) transfer between the UES of Russia and the EES of Armenia.

2.4.5. The planning coordinator shall calculate the modes and send the results of the calculations to the organization performing the function of system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the organization managing the NPG of Kyrgyzstan, the system operator of the EES of Armenia.

2.5. Monthly planning.

2.5.1. Monthly planning shall be performed within the time and procedure determined by the system operator of the Belarus UES, the system operator of Kazakhstan UES, the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation, the system operator of Armenia EES and the system operator of Russia UES, pursuant to the same scheme as annual planning, with data and results exchanged on a monthly basis.

2.6. Daily and per diem planning.

2.6.1. Daily and intraday planning shall be carried out within the terms and procedure determined by the organisation performing the function of system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the management organisation of the NPG of Kyrgyzstan, the system operator of the EES of Armenia and the system operator of the UES of Russia.

2.6.2 Daily organization performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including taking into account the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the system operator of the Armenian EES shall provide the planning coordinator with data for updating the calculation model for the planned day (hereinafter referred to as day X) in the form of sets of 24-hour updated data (from 00.00 to 24.00), which shall include:

- planned repairs of elements of electric grid equipment of 20 kV and above of the electricity system;
- hourly consumption and generation schedules for the electricity system as a whole (including individual energy districts as determined by the organisation performing the function of system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the organisation managing the NPG of Kyrgyzstan, the system operator of the EES of Armenia and the system operator of the UES of Russia when forming the composition of the calculation model);
- hourly flow balance graphs (the surplus flow balance of the electricity system shall be taken as its deficit).

The UNPG management organisation shall submit to the planning coordinator the aggregate values agreed with the organisation performing the function of system operator of the Belarus UES, the system operator of the Kazakhstan UES, including with regard to the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, and the system operator of the Armenian EES the hourly schedules of electricity supply volumes between the UES of Russia, UES of Belarus, UES of Kazakhstan, ES of Kyrgyzstan and EES of Armenia under all types of contracts, including the IET between the Member States.

2.6.3. In case the data for updating the calculation model have not been transferred by the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus to the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including with due regard for the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) and the IET supplies across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, to the planning coordinator, the latter one shall use the substitute information established by the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, including with allowances made for the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and the IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Armenian EES system operator and the Russian UES system operator as agreed between them when forming the composition of the calculation model.

2.6.4. The planning coordinator shall carry out updating of the calculation model and performance of calculations of the electric modes.

2.6.5. The planning coordinator shall calculate the modes and transfer the results of the calculations in an agreed format to the organisation performing the function of the Belarusian UES system operator, the Kazakhstan UES system operator, the Kyrgyz NPS management organisation, the Armenian EES system operator.

2.6.6. In case the declared values of supply volumes and the IET between the Member States are not realisable, the organisation performing the function of the Belarusian UES system operator, the Kazakhstan UES system operator, the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation, the Armenian EES system operator and the UNPG management organisation shall take measures to adjust supply volumes and the IET with due regard for the priorities determined in paragraph 2.3.1 of this Methodology.

2.6.7. Where, as a result of unpredictable changes in electricity consumption and/or circuit conditions and/or changes in the terms of supply contracts, adjustments to the planned supply volumes and the IET between Member States are required, within the operational day, the organisation performing the function of the Belarusian UES system operator, the Kazakhstan UES system operator, including with regard to the declared volumes of electricity (capacity) supply and the IET across the state border between the Kyrgyz Republic and the Republic of Kazakhstan, the Armenian EES system operator shall submit to the planning coordinator:

- data to update the calculation model for the current day in the form of hourly updated data sets for the remaining hours of day X to the extent corresponding to the information transferred for day-ahead planning purposes;

- a request with a proposed volume of change in planned supply and IET between the Member States.

2.6.8. The time limit of data submission ("the closing time of the gate") and bringing of results of calculations shall be established for each temporary stage within a day. The transfer of data after "the closing time of the gate" shall not be allowed. Planning coordinator shall carry out updating of calculation model and performance of calculations of electrical regimes for the remaining hours of the day X.

2.6.9. The result of planning is the refined planned hourly schedule of volumes of supplies and IHP between the member states for the remaining hours of the day X. If it is found impossible to perform the refined planned hourly schedules by virtue of the change of circuit-regime conditions after the time of per diem correction of regimes, the change of volumes of supplies and IHP between the member states shall be allowed on the conditions of provision of emergency aid or mandatory supplies of electric energy according to the relevant special agreements for supply of electric energy between the authorized economic entities of the member states.

3. The list of subjects of the member states, authorized for organization and implementation of the IHP with specification of functions, executed by each organization within ensuring of the IHP

Footnote. Section 3 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan: Law of the RK № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; Law of the RK № 65-VII of 18.09.2021.

3.1. In the territory of the Republic of the Belarus.

3.1.1. Organization and implementation of IHP shall be assigned on organization, exercising the function of management of the UES of the Belarus and organization exercising the function of the system operator of the UES of the Belarus in the territory of the Republic of Belarus, with execution of the following functions:

- rendering of services on transfer of electric energy through the transmission electric power grid (organization, subordinated to organization exercising the function of management of the UES of the Belarus, upon general coordination of organization exercising the function on management of the UES of the Belarus);

- rendering of services on technical dispatching of IHP (organization exercising the function of the system operator of the UES of the Belarus);

- interaction with electrical power system of contiguous states on management of parallel work and ensuring of stability (organization exercising functions of the system operator of the UES of the Belarus).

3.2. In the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

3.2.1. Organization and implementation of IHP shall be assigned on the system operator in the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan with execution of the following functions:

-rendering of services on transfer of electric energy through the National electrical grid;

- rendering of services on technical dispatching of supply to the network and consumption of electric energy;

- rendering of services on organization of balancing of production – consumption of electric energy;

- interaction with electrical power systems of contiguous states on management and ensuring of stability of regimes of parallel work.

3.3. In the territory of the Russian Federation.

3.3.1. Ensuring of IHP between the member states through the UES of the Russia in accordance with the legislation of the Russian Federation shall involve implementation of the complex of actions, related with:

3.3.1.1. Rendering of services on operational dispatch management in the electrical energy industry, as well as on management of regimes of parallel work of the UES of the Russia and electrical power systems of other member states, ensuring of replacement of electric energy (power) and coordinated planning;

3.3.1.2. Rendering of services on transfer (movement) of electric energy through the Unified National (All-Russia) Electricity Grid, as well as for ensuring of IHP between the member states;

3.3.1.3. The features of circulation of electric energy and power on the wholesale market of electric energy and power of the Russian Federation, as well as in the case of necessity of ensuring of interrelated and simultaneous supply of equal volumes of electric energy (power) in the UES of the Russia and from it through the different supply points, located in the border (borders) of the Russian Federation with the member states.

3.3.2.IHP between the member states shall be ensured by the following authorized organizations:

3.3.2.1. System operator of the UES of the Russia – in a part of organization and management of regimes of parallel work of the UES of the Russia with the UES of the Kazakhstan and UES of the Belarus;

3.3.2.2. Organization on management of the UNEG – in a part of rendering of services, related with movement (with the use of principle of replacement) of electric energy upon IHP between the member states through the UES of the Russia and organization of the parallel work of the UES of the Russia with the UES of the Kazakhstan and UES of the Belarus, as well as interaction with foreign authorized organizations on planning of IHP (annual, monthly , hourly), separation of actual hourly volumes of electric energy, moved through the state border of the Russian Federation and member states in recognition of corrected planned volumes on commercial contracts; determination of hourly deviations of actual volumes, moved through the state border between the Russian Federation and the member states from planned; carrying out of commercial accounting of electric energy in the supply points, located in the general boundaries of the member states;

3.3.2.3. Commercial operator – organization exercising the function on organization of the wholesale trade of electric energy, power and other goods and services, admitted to circulation in the wholesale market;

3.3.2.4. Organization exercising the function on rendering of services on calculation of requirements and obligations of participants of wholesale trade;

3.3.2.5. Commercial agent – participant of wholesale market of electric energy and power, carrying out of export-import operations, in a part of organization of an access to participation of volumes of electric energy (power), applied for ensuring of IHP between the member states , in relations in the wholesale market of electric energy and power and regulation of relations, related with deviations of actual net power flows from the planned.

3.4. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

3.4.1. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia, the Armenian EES system operator shall be responsible for organising the IET in terms of organisation and management of the operation modes of electric connections between the Armenian EES and the energy systems of third countries, through which electric power (capacity) is transferred between the Armenian EES and the UES of Russia, with the following functions:

- short-term planning and dispatch management of the Armenian EES;
- operational management of the Armenian EES;
- transmission network development planning;
- ensuring the parallel operation of the Armenian EES with the regional electricity systems, as well as performance of other non-exclusive functions as stipulated in the license conditions and market rules;
- interaction with system operators of electric power systems of third countries to organise and manage the operation modes of electric connections between the EES of Armenia and those of third countries.

3.4.2. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia, the implementation of IET shall be entrusted to the authorised organisation engaged in transmission of electric power (capacity) across the territory of the Republic of Armenia (hereinafter, the Armenian grid operator), with the function of providing services for the transmission of electric power via the Armenian EES and the transit of electric power (capacity) to third countries.

3.4.3. Within the territory of the Republic of Armenia, control and accounting of the IET shall be entrusted to the authorised organisation providing market operator services, with the following functions:

- organisation of the operation of Armenia's internal wholesale electricity market;
- accounting for the participants of the Armenian internal wholesale electricity market;
- recording of contracts concluded between the participants of the Armenian domestic wholesale electricity market and contracts providing for import or export of electricity;
- recording of electricity (capacity) purchased and sold in compliance with the contracts concluded in the Armenian domestic wholesale electricity market, as well as contracts providing for import or export of electricity;
- preparation and submission of documents to participants of the Armenian domestic wholesale electricity market and service providers;
- performing other non-exclusive functions as provided for in the licence conditions and market rules.

3.5. On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic.

On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic, the organisation and implementation of the IET shall be entrusted to the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation with the following functions:

- provision of electricity transmission services on the national 110-500 kV power grids;
- operational and dispatch management of the national electricity grid;
- real-time management of electricity and capacity production and consumption regimes in the Kyrgyz Republic;
- provision of services to cover irregularities in daily power flow schedules (capacity regulation);
- interaction with authorised organisations of the electricity systems of neighbouring states for the management and sustainability of parallel operation.

4. The list of the elements of the natural monopoly entities upon carrying out of IHP, included to the tariff

Footnote. Section 4 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; Law of the RK № 65-VII of 18.09.2021.

4.1. In the territory of the Republic of Belarus.

4.1.1. Expenses Cset for the services on IHP on the transmission network of the Republic of Belarus (hereinafter – TN), included to the tariffs of the natural monopoly entities upon implementation of IHP between the member states, calculated according to the formula:

$Cset = C(1+IF)(1+PR)(1+T)$, where

C – general costs for maintenance and operation of TN, attributable to IHP between the member states, determined in the manner established by the authorized state body;

IF – a share of assignments to the innovation fund;

PR – a share of assignments for the profit, determined in the manner established by the legislation of the Republic of Belarus;

T – a share of allocations for taxes;

General costs 3 includes: the costs for operational and repair service; salary; depreciation; other cash expenses (auxiliary materials, energy from side, social insurance contributions and other); the costs for compensation of electric energy losses.

4.1.2. Tariff for services on IHP through the networks of the UES of the Belarus shall be calculated according to formula:

$$T = \frac{Cset}{Et}, \text{ where}$$

T – tariff for services on IHP through the networks of the UES of the Belarus;

Et – summary volume of IHP between the member states through the networks of the UES of the Belarus.

4.2. In the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

4.2.1. Tariff for services on transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP between the member states, applied for consumers, carrying out the transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP through the networks of the national electrical grid (hereinafter – NEG) shall be calculated according to formula:

$$T = \frac{Z+P}{Wsum} \text{ (tenge/kilowatt-hour), where:}$$

T – tariff for services on transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP between the member states, applied for consumers, carrying out the transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP through the networks NEG (tenge/kilowatt-hour);

Z – the general costs of the NEG of the Republic of Kazakhstan for the services on transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP, determined in the manner established by the legislation (mln. tenge);

P – a level of profit, necessary for effective functioning of NEG upon rendering of services on transfer of electric energy, as well as IHP, determined in the manner established by the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan (mln. tenge);

Wsum – a summary volume of transfer of electric energy of NEG (mln. kilowatt-hour), applied on agreements and contracts.

4.2.2. The general costs for the services on transfer of electric energy through the NEG and level of profit, necessary for effective functioning upon rendering of services on transfer of electric energy (determined on the basis of involvement of assets) shall be included to the tariff income in accordance with the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan upon calculation of tariff for the services on transfer of electric energy through the NEG.

The costs included to the tariff for the services on transfer of electric energy shall be determined in accordance with the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

4.3. In the territory of the Russian Federation.

4.3.1. General provisions.

The tariff for rendering of services on transfer of electric energy through the UNEG shall be established in the form of 2 rates in accordance with the legislation of the Russian Federation: the rates for the maintenance of electrical grids and rates for the compensation of electrical energy losses in the UNEG.

The same for the elements of expenses which included to the tariff for the rendering of services on IHP between the member states through the UES of the Russia shall be subdivided into the element of expenses of tariff for the services on IHP between the member states for the maintenance of objects of the UNEG and element of expenses of tariff for the services on IHP between the member states for compensation of electric energy losses and power in the UNEG.

4.3.2. Determination of expenses, included to the tariffs of the natural monopoly entities upon implementation of IHP between the member states.

4.3.2.1. The list of the elements of expenses of tariff for the services on IHP between the member states for the maintenance of objects of the UNEG.

The power applied to IHP between the member states, determined in the “exit point” of flow of electric energy from the electrical power system of the state, through the electrical grids of which the IHP between the member states is implemented.

The following economically justified expenses, established by the national regulatory body for the relevant accounting period shall be considered upon calculation of the rate for the maintenance of objects of the UNEG:

- operating expenses;
- independent expenses;
- return on invested capital (depreciation deductions) on investments;
- return on invested capital;

4.3.2.2. The list of the components of expenses of tariff for the services on IHP between the member states for the compensation of electric energy losses and power in the UNEG.

Expenses for the compensation of electric energy losses and power in the UNEG shall be determined on the basis of regulatory losses of electric energy in the UNEG, reduced by the amount of electric energy losses, considered in the equilibrium prices for the electric energy, and prices of purchase of electric energy and power, formed in the wholesale market according to the results of each accounting period on TSG (technical support group), corresponding to the "exit point" of flow of electric energy from electrical power system of the state, through the electrical grids of which the IHP between the member states is implemented in recognition of the cost of services of infrastructure organizations of the relevant national market.

4.4. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

4.4.1. In compliance with the legislation of the Republic of Armenia, the tariff for electricity transmission services on high voltage electricity networks, including the IET between the Member States shall be approved by the authorised state body of the Republic of Armenia and shall be calculated pursuant to the following formula:

$$T = \frac{RI}{Wtotal} \text{°(dram/kWh)}$$

T is the tariff (without value added tax) for electricity transmission services on high voltage electricity networks, including interstate transmission between Member States (dram/kWh);

RI is the required annual income of the grid operator of the Republic of Armenia that transmits electricity via high-voltage power grids, which is determined in conformity with the legislation of the Republic of Armenia and includes the necessary and reasonable costs of electricity transmission services via high-voltage power grids, depreciation of fixed and intangible assets, as well as profit necessary for the efficient functioning of the maintaining high voltage electricity network organisation in the provision of electricity transmission services (dram);

Wtotal is the total annual volume of electricity transmission through the high voltage power grids, as declared under contracts and agreements, both for consumers in the Armenian domestic wholesale electricity market and for exports (kWh).

4.4.2. Value added tax on electricity transmission services on high voltage electricity networks shall be determined in conformity with the legislation of the Republic of Armenia.

4.5. On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic.

4.5.1. In compliance with the legislation of the Kyrgyz Republic, the tariff for electricity transmission services over national electricity grids, including the IET between the Member States shall be calculated based on the following formula:

$$T = \frac{C+P}{V} \text{ (KGS/kWh)}$$

where:

T is the tariff (excluding value added tax) for electricity transmission services on the national electricity grid (KGS/kWh);

C is the total annual costs of the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation for electricity transmission services over the national electricity grid, determined in compliance with the procedure established by the legislation of the Kyrgyz Republic (million KGS);

P is the annual rate of profit (million KGS);

V is the annual cumulative volume of electricity transmission declared under contracts and agreements (million kWh).

4.5.2. The total annual costs of the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation for electricity transmission services on the national electricity grid shall include maintenance costs (including material labour and other costs), debt service (loans) and depreciation on assets invested, capital investments, costs of compensation for electricity losses, purchase of electricity, deductions to state authorities, etc.

The costs included in the tariff for electricity transmission services on national electricity grids shall be determined in compliance with the legislation of the Kyrgyz Republic.

5. The list of elements, related with implementation of IHP, not included to the tariffs of the natural monopoly entities

Footnote. Section 5 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; Law of the RK № 65-VII of 18.09.2021.

5.1. In the territory of the Republic of Belarus.

The system costs Csyst shall include the costs for the maintenance of generating reserve margin, approved by the authorized state body in the Republic of Belarus for ensuring of IHP between the member states, determined in recognition of the share of power of IHP in the total value of power, transferred through the grids of the UES of the Belarus, as well as for the services on technical dispatching of IHP between the member states.

5.2. In the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

The expenses shall not be considered in accordance with the legislation of the Republic of Kazakhstan upon formation of the tariff for the services on IHP between the member states.

5.3. In the territory of the Russian Federation.

The volumes of electric energy, subjected to IHP between the member states shall be considered in the wholesale market upon filling of price bids, conducting of competitive selection of price bids for the day-ahead, determination of market prices and shares of the system costs, related with interrelated and simultaneous supply of equal volumes of electric energy (power) in the different supply points in the border (borders) of the UES of the Russia for the purposes of ensuring of replacement of electric energy (power). The system costs include the following elements:

5.3.1. The element related with compensation of the cost of the load losses of electric energy and system restrictions upon implementation of IHP between the member states through the UES of the Russia (the difference in nodal prices):

$$S_m^1 = \sum_{h \subset m} (\max\left[(\lambda_h^{вых} - \lambda_h^{вх}); 0\right] \times V_h^{МГП}),$$

where

$\lambda_h^{вых}$

- the price, established according to the result of competitive selection of the price bids for the day-ahead in the hour h of month m for the section of export-import, corresponding to the " exit point" of flow of electric energy from the UES of the Russia within the IHP;

$\lambda_h^{вх}$

- the price, established according to the result of competitive selection of price bids for the day-ahead in the hour h of month m for the section of export-import, corresponding to the " exit point" of flow of electric energy from the UES of the Russia within the IHP;

$V_h^{МГП}$

- the volume of IHP through the UES of the Russia in the hour h of month m.

5.3.2. The element related with necessity of availability of generating reserve margin for implementation of working regimes of the UES of the Russia, ensuring the IHP:

S_m^2= PeakmЧ(Rplan.FPTZires-1)ЧPCOM_prelim.FPTZi, where:

Peakm - peak capacity, corresponding to the maximum applied hourly volume of IHP in the month m;

Rplan.FPTZires - a planned cash reserve ratio in the FPTZi, considered by the system operator upon conducting of competitive selection of power for the relevant year;

PCOM_prelim.FPTZi - preliminary price of competitive selection for the consumers in the FPTZi for the relevant year (determined by the system operator in accordance with the rules of wholesale market of electric energy and power);

FPTZi – a free power transfer zone, which includes the supply points, corresponding to the "exit point" of electric energy from the UES of the Russia upon implementation of the IHP.

The difference between the planned prices for buyers, determined according to the results of competitive selection of power, in the free power transfer zones (groups of free power transfer zones), corresponding to the points of "entry" and "exit" of IHP shall be also considered upon determination of the cost of IHP.

5.4. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

The tariff for the IET services between the Member States shall not include expenses in pursuance of the legislation of the Republic of Armenia.

5.5. On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic.

When setting the tariff for the IET services between the Member States, the costs pursuant to the legislation of the Kyrgyz Republic shall not be taken into account.

6. IET contractual requirements in conformity with the legislation of the Member States

Footnote. Section 6- as amended by Law of the RK № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; as reworded by Law of the RK № 65-VII of 18.09.2021;

6.1. On the territory of the Republic of Belarus.

The IET between the Member States via the electricity system of the Republic of Belarus shall be implemented under the condition that the volumes of electricity and capacity intended for IET according to section 1 and paragraphs 2.4 - 2.6 of section 2 of this Methodology and the IET contracts with the authorised organisation of the Republic of Belarus are agreed upon.

The cost of the IET services for each contract shall be determined pursuant to the following formula:

$C_{IET}=Z_{gr}+Z_{syst.}$

6.2. On the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan.

On the territory of the Republic of Kazakhstan, the IET between the Member States shall be performed under the contracts for the provision of electricity transmission services, concluded in compliance with the standard form, approved by the Government of the Republic of Kazakhstan. At the same time, the IET contracts may consider peculiarities of such transmission.

6.3. On the territory of the Russian Federation.

6.3.1. The IET between the Member States via the UES of Russia shall be subject to the following agreements:

6.3.1.1. Commercial agent agreements with an authorised organisation from the Republic of Belarus, or the Republic of Kazakhstan, or the Kyrgyz Republic, or the Republic of Armenia to ensure access to services of natural monopoly entities and interconnected and simultaneous supply of equal volumes of electricity (capacity) declared for the IET at different supply points at the border (borders) of the UES of Russia.

The cost of the IET between the Member States via the UES of Russia in month m shall be determined in such contracts pursuant to the following formula:

$$Qm^{IET} = Qm^{MO_IET} + Qm^{SO_IET} + Qm^{CS_IET}$$

where:

Qm^{MO_IET} - the cost of the services of the organisation for the management of the UNPG , payable in compliance with the legislation of the Russian Federation;

Qm^{SO_IET} - the cost of system operator services payable in conformity with the legislation of the Russian Federation;

Qm^{CS_IET} - cost of services related to actions on the wholesale electricity (capacity) market accompanying the IET through UES of Russia in month m;

$$Qm^{SO_IET}=Sm^{1}+Sm^{2}+Qm^{ATS_IET}+Qm^{DGT_IET}+Qm^{AGENT_IET}$$

where:

Qm^{ATS_IET} - the cost of the commercial operator's services for organising wholesale trade in electricity, capacity and other goods and services admitted to circulation on the wholesale market in month m;

Qm^{DGT_IET} - the cost of a comprehensive claims and liabilities calculation service, as determined by the contract for joining the wholesale market trading system in month m;

Qm^{AGENT_IET} - the costs of the commercial agent, determined bilaterally in contracts concluded by the commercial agent.

In case of the IET through the territory of the Russian Federation for the purpose of supplying electricity to the Republic of Armenia (from the Republic of Armenia), the indicated value shall also include the compensation of expenses, confirmed by reporting documents of commercial infrastructure organisations of the Russian Federation, incurred by the commercial agent on the wholesale electricity (capacity) market of the Russian Federation , related to the specifics of determining the actual volume of the IET in such cases.

6.3.1.2. Agreements (technical agreements) on the parallel operation of electricity systems between the organisations of neighbouring Member States that perform the functions of operational dispatch management in the electricity sector and the transmission (relocation) of electricity on the national electricity grid.

6.3.1.3. Power purchase and sale agreements between authorised organisations of the Russian Federation (in compliance with Section 3 of this Methodology) and neighbouring Member States concluded in order to compensate for the values of deviations of actual balances of power flows across interstate cross-sections from the planned values arising from the movement of electricity across state borders of the Member States and determined in conformity with the procedure agreed upon by the Member States.

6.3.2. The IET through the territory of the Russian Federation for the purpose of supplying electricity to the Republic of Armenia (from the Republic of Armenia) shall be implemented with the settlement of issues related to:

- the provision of parallel operation of the UES of Russia and the power system of a third state between the respective authorised organisations;

- the organisation of the exchange of commercial metering data on hourly actual volumes of inter-state electricity flows between the relevant economic entities of the Russian Federation and a third country;

- the determination of the actual balances of electricity flows transferred across the state borders of the Russian Federation and the third state, and hourly deviations of actual electricity flows from the planned values arising from electricity flows across the state borders of the Russian Federation and the third state and determined in obedience to the procedure agreed upon by such states;

- the allocation of the volume of electricity transferred across the state borders of the Russian Federation and the third country under contracts concluded between economic entities of the Russian Federation and the third country, including IET volumes;

- the purchase and sale of electricity for the purpose of settling hourly deviations of actual balances of electricity flows from the planned values arising from the movement of electricity across the state borders of the Russian Federation and a third state, and determined in accordance with procedures agreed upon by such states, between authorised economic entities of the Russian Federation and the third state.

6.4. On the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

The IET shall be performed based on the contracts for electric power transmission services, concluded in compliance with the standard form, approved by the authorised state body of the Republic of Armenia. At the same time, the IET contracts may take into account peculiarities of such transmission, related to the transmission of electric energy through energy systems of third countries.

6.5. Issues related to the need for transmission of electricity (capacity) between the Republic of Armenia and the Russian Federation across the territories of third countries in the implementation of the IET shall be regulated on a bilateral basis by the economic entities of the Member States interested in the implementation of IET with the relevant economic entities of the third countries.

6.6. On the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic.

In the territory of the Kyrgyz Republic, the IET between the Member States shall be performed based on contracts for electricity transmission services, concluded with the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation in compliance with this Methodology.

7. Procedure of organization of data exchange of commercial accounting on hourly actual volumes of interstate flows of electric energy between the economic entities of the member states

7.1 This Procedure shall determine the basic directions of bilateral cooperation in terms of reception of hourly data of commercial accounting; procedure of determination of operational6 hourly flow of electric energy through the interstate transmission lines (hereinafter – ITL(interstate transmission lines)) between the Republic of Kazakhstan and Russian Federation in recognition of the use of hourly data of commercial accounting and coordinated methods before calculation of specified data of commercial accounting to values

??at the supply points; procedure, determining the procedures of data exchange of commercial accounting and coordination of data of commercial accounting, led to the values in the supply points.

Conditions and procedure of formation and exchange of hourly data of commercial accounting of electric energy through the ITL shall be determined in accordance with bilateral Agreements on data exchange of hourly values of flows of electric energy on the points on the ITL.

7.2. Operational exchange of information.

The relevant economic entities of the member states shall form the values of hourly flows of electric energy through the ITL, exchange the data received, perform the relevant calculations, make conformity assessment of data on a daily basis (or in coordination of the member states in a different time period).

The coordinated formats of data transmission shall be used for operational exchange of information, contained the values of hourly flows of electric energy, transferred through the ITL.

7.3. Calculation of hourly values at the supply point.

Calculation of hourly values at the supply point shall be performed in accordance with methods of calculation of actual volumes of transferred and received electric energy, coordinated in bilateral Agreements.

[6] Operational hourly flow shall be regarded as hourly data of commercial accounting (half-hour or hourly), received in relation of all accounting points, included in the flow from automated systems of commercial accounting of electric energy (hereinafter – ASCAEE) with the use of technical possibilities of complexes of commercial accounting.

8. Procedure of determination of actual net power flow of electric energy on interstate transmission lines of the member states

Footnote. Section 8 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

This procedure, which determines actual volumes moved through the interstate sections of electric energy for the calendar month, is intended for the use by the authorized organizations of the member states.

Actual net power flow of electric energy, moved through the interstate sections of the member states shall be determined as the algebraic sum of the amount of electric energy, received (WП1_гран) and/or given (WО1_гран) for each calendar month in each supply point (WСальдо_гран).

The values of electricity brought to the customs border of the Union and/or the state border of a Member State with other Member States (to the delivery point) for a calendar month for all the of interstate power lines included in operation in the "Receive", "Return" and balance modes shall be calculated according to the formulas:

$$W\Pi1_гран = \sum W(фактП1)i,$$
$$WO2_гран = \sum W(фактO1)i,$$

WСальдо_гран, = WП1_гран + WO1_гран, where:

W(factП1)i – actual amount of received electric energy in each supply point on i-th ITL for the calendar month. The value is taken in recognition of the sign (direction of flow) for substitution in the formula of calculation of the net power flow;

W(fact01)i – actual amount of electric energy given in each supply point on i-th ITL for the calendar month. The value is taken in recognition of the sign (direction of flow) for substitution in the formula of calculation of the net power flow;

R – the amount of ITL in the interstate section, included to the work during a calendar month.

9. Procedure of calculation of volumes and the cost of deviations of actual flows on the interstate sections from the planned upon carrying out of IHP within the Union

Footnote. Section 9 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan: Law of the RK № 64-VII of 15.09.2021; Law of the RK № 65-VII of 18.09.2021.

Actual supplies on the interstate sections shall include the following elements: volumes of IHP, volumes of commercial agreements, concluded by the economic entities of the member states, volumes of emergency aid and volumes, conditioned by the deviation of actual values of net power flows from the planned.

Calculation of hourly deviations of the actual balancing flow from the planned one and determination of the volume of deviations depending on their initiative shall be performed by the UNPG management organisation, the system operator of the UES of Russia, the organisation performing the function of the system operator of the UES of Belarus, the system operator of the UES of Kazakhstan, the organisation managing the NPG of Kyrgyzstan, the system operator of the EES of Armenia based on the following principles:

- when carrying out the IET on the territory of the Russian Federation, hourly values of the IET volumes shall be taken as equal to the corresponding planned values taken into consideration in the daily dispatcher's schedule. When carrying out the IET on the territory of the Russian Federation for the purpose of supplying electricity to the Republic of Armenia (from the Republic of Armenia), the actual balance of electricity flows transferred across the state borders of the Russian Federation with a third country and across the state borders of a third country with the Republic of Armenia, considering the priority determined in paragraph

2.3.1 of this Methodology, is less than the planned value, then the actual hourly IET volume under the commercial agent contracts with the concerned economic entities of the Member States, as well as the actual hourly electricity transmission volume under the contract for electricity transmission services with the relevant economic entity of the third country, shall be taken equal to the minimum value of the respective values of the actual balances of electricity exchanges, moved across the state borders of the Russian Federation with a third state and across the state borders of a third state with the Republic of Armenia.

- actual hourly volumes of supply of electric energy on commercial agreements in each hour of calculation period shall be taken to be equal to the relevant planned values, considered in the per diem dispatch schedule in recognition of corrections, coordinated in the established procedure;
- volumes of hourly deviations, regulated within relations with electrical power systems of third states, (external balancing) shall be considered in the volumes of deviations within the Union. Procedure of determination of volumes of external balancing shall be coordinated by the system operators (with participation of organization on management of the UNEG) of adjacent electrical power systems of the member states;
- volumes of rendering of emergency aid shall be determined by conditions of agreements of sale and purchase upon rendering of emergency aid, concluded between the subjects of internal national markets.

Volumes of hourly deviations shall subject to financial regulation between the authorized economic entities of the member states in accordance with agreements, conclusion of which in ensuring of IHP for each member states is provided by section 6 of this Methodology.

The cost of deviations shall compensate to the subjects of internal national markets of electric energy (power) the reasonable costs, which they bear in the results of participation in relations on balancing of system in the national market of electric energy (power) based on the need of observance of terms of agreements (technical agreements) on parallel work of electrical power systems, as well as in a part of regulation of frequency in the electrical power systems of the member states and maintenance of coordinated net power flows on the interstate sections.

Calculation of the cost of deviations shall be performed in recognition of special order of accounting of volumes of purchase and sale of electric energy (power) for the purposes of technological support of parallel work of electrical power systems in the volumes, not exceeding values, established in agreements (technical agreements) on parallel work of electrical power systems or other agreements, regulating relations in the scope of electrical energy industry between the member states.

When carrying out the IET across the territory of the Russian Federation, when transmission of electricity (capacity) to the Republic of Armenia (from the Republic of Armenia) and/or to the Kyrgyz Republic (from the Kyrgyz Republic) is not required, the quantitative and price parameters of electricity (capacity) purchased and sold for compensation of deviations used in the calculation shall be confirmed by reporting documents of commercial infrastructure organisations of the Russian Federation.

When carrying out the IET across the territory of the Russian Federation for the purpose of supplying electricity (capacity) to the Kyrgyz Republic (from the Kyrgyz Republic), the quantitative and price parameters of electricity (capacity) purchased and sold to compensate for deviations at the supply points on the state borders of the Russian Federation with the Republic of Kazakhstan used in the calculation, shall be confirmed by reporting documents of commercial infrastructure organisations of the Russian Federation, and at the state borders of the Republic of Kazakhstan with the Kyrgyz Republic - by reporting documents drawn up between the system operator of the Republic of Kazakhstan and the Kyrgyz NPG management organisation.

When carrying out the IET through the territory of the Russian Federation to supply electricity to the Republic of Armenia (from the Republic of Armenia), the quantitative and price parameters of electricity (capacity) purchased and sold to compensate for deviations at delivery points on the state borders of the Russian Federation with a third country, that are used in calculation, shall be confirmed by reporting documents of commercial infrastructure organisations of the Russian Federation, and at the state borders of the third country with the Republic of Armenia by reporting documents of the authorised organisation providing market operator services on the territory of the Republic of Armenia.

Repeated accounting of volumes of electric energy (power) shall not be allowed upon calculation of the cost of supplies on agreements.

to Agreement on Eurasian
Economic Union

MINUTE
on rules of access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the scope of gas transportation through the gas pipeline systems, including the basics of pricing and tariff policy

1. This Minute shall determine the basics of cooperation in the gas scope, principles and conditions of ensuring of access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the scope of gas transportation through the gas pipeline systems, including the basics of pricing and tariff policy, for satisfaction of needs of the member states in accordance with Articles 79, 80 and 83 of Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – Agreement).

2. The concepts used in this Minute shall have the following meanings:

“internal needs for water” – volumes of gas, necessary for consumption in the territory of each member states;

"gas" - gaseous mixture of hydrocarbon gases and other gases, recovered and (or) produced in the territory of the member states, consisting essentially of methane transported in a compressed gaseous state through the gas pipeline systems;

"gas producing member states" – member states, in the territory of which the gas consumed more than recovered and produced;

"gas-consuming member states" – member states, in the territory of which the gas consumed more than recovered and produced;

"gas pipeline systems" – constructions for gas transportation, including main gas pipelines and objects related with it by the unified technological process, except for the gas distribution networks;

"access to the services of the natural monopoly entities in the scope of gas transportation" – provision a right to use the gas pipeline systems, controlled by the natural monopoly entities of the member states, for gas transportation;

"equal-netback pricing for gas"- wholesale prices for gas, formed for satisfaction of internal needs based on the following principles:

for the gas producing member states, formation of wholesale market price is carried out by deduction from the selling price of gas in the external market of value the duties, charges, taxes and other payments, collected in these states, and the costs of gas transportation outside the gas producing member states in recognition of difference in the cost of gas transportation in the external and internal markets of gas supplier;

for the gas-consuming member states - wholesale market price, formation of which is carried out by producer of gas producing member state by deduction of duties, charges, taxes, other payments, as well as the costs of gas transportation outside the gas producing member states from the selling price of gas in the external market;

"gas transportation services" – services for the movement of gas through the gas pipeline systems;

"authorized bodies" – state bodies, authorized by the member states for control of implementation of this Minute.

3. The member states shall carry out the gradual formation of common gas market of the Union, as well as ensure an access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the scope of gas transportation through the gas pipeline systems of the member states based on the following principles:

7. After execution by the member states the complex of measures, stated in paragraph 5 of this Minute, the member states shall ensure an access of economic entities of other member states to the gas pipeline systems, located in the territories of the member states, for gas transportation, intended for satisfaction of internal needs of the member states within existing technical possibilities, free capacity of gas pipeline systems, in recognition of coordinated indicative (forecast) gas balance of the Union and on the basis of civil law agreements of economic entities, according to the following rules:

economic entities of the member states shall have an access to the gas pipeline systems of another member state on equal conditions, including tariffs, with gas producers, that are not the owners of gas pipeline system of the member state, along the territory of which transportation is carried out; volumes, prices and tariffs for gas transportation, as well as commercial and other conditions of gas transportation through the gas pipeline systems shall be determined by the civil law agreements between the economic entities of the member states in accordance with the legislation of the member states.

The member states shall contribute to the proper implementation of existing agreements for gas transportation through the main gas pipelines between the economic entities, carrying out activity in the territory of their states.

8. Authorized bodies of the member states shall develop and coordinate indicative (forecast) gas balance of the Union (production, consumption and supply for satisfaction of internal needs, as well as mutual), which is made for 5 years and annually clarified until 1 October, with participation of Commission, in accordance with Methodology of formation of indicative (forecast) gas balances, oil and petroleum products.

The member states shall provide an access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the scope of gas transportation to the internal markets of the member states in recognition of coordinated gas balance.

9. The member states shall seek to develop long-term mutually beneficial cooperation in the following scopes:

1) gas transportation through the territories of the member states;

2) construction, reconstruction and operation of gas pipelines, underground storage facilities and other objects of infrastructure of gas complex;

3) rendering of services, necessary for satisfaction of internal needs for gas of the member states.

10. The member states shall ensure unification of regulatory and technical documents, regulating functioning of gas pipeline systems, located in the territories of the member states.

11. This Minute shall not affect the rights and obligations of the member states, following from other international treaties, participants of which they are.

The legislation of the member states shall be applied to relations of the member states in the scope of gas transportation, not regulated by Agreement.

12. Provisions of section XVIII of Agreement shall be applied to the natural monopoly entities, carrying out gas transportation in recognition of features, provided by this Minute.

13. Bilateral agreements, concluded between the member states in the field of gas supply shall have effect for the period before entering of international treaty on formation of common gas market of the Union, provided by paragraph 3 of Article 83 of Agreement into legal force, if relevant member states do not agree otherwise.

ANNEX №23
to Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union

MINUTE
on procedure of organization, management, functioning and development of general markets of oil and petroleum products

1. This Minute shall determine the basics of cooperation in the oil scope, principles of formation of common market of oil and petroleum products of the Union, as well as principles of ensuring of access to the services of natural monopoly entities in the scope of transportation of oil and petroleum products in accordance with Articles 79, 80 and 84 of agreement on Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter-Agreement).

19. Regulation of access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariff policy shall be carried out in the manner provided by annex №2 to this Minute, as well as international treaties.

Annex №1
to the Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy

Procedure
of carrying out of transport (motor) control at the external border of Eurasian Economic Union

1. This Procedure is developed in accordance with paragraph 9 of Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy (annex №24 to Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union) and determines procedure of carrying out of transport (motor) control at the external border of the Union.

This Procedure shall not apply in a Member State which does not share a land frontier with other Member States.

Footnote. Paragraph 1 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

2. The concepts used in this Procedure shall have the following meanings:

“overall and weight parameters of transport vehicles” - values of mass, axle load and dimensions (across the width, height and length) of the transport vehicle with cargo or without;

“external border of the Union” – limits of customs territory of the Union, sharing the territory of the member states and territory of states, that are not the members of Union;

"control point" – fixed or mobile unit (post), as well as point of passage across the state border, in which the transport (motor) control is carried out, equipped in accordance with requirements of legislation of the member states;

"bodies of transport (motor) control" – competent bodies, authorized by the member state for carrying out of transport (motor) control in the territory of the member state;

"carrier" – legal entity or individual, using the transport vehicle on the right of ownership or on other legal basis; upon transportation of cargo – truck, truck-trailer, truck (road) tractor or truck tractor lorry (tractor semitrailer), chassis;

"transport vehicle""

upon carriage of passengers – motor vehicle, intended for carriage of passengers and luggage, having more than 9 seats, including driver seat, as well as a trailer for carriage of luggage;

"transport (motor) control" – control of implementation of international motor transportation.

Other concepts that are not specifically defined in this Procedure shall be used in the meanings established by international treaties as well as international treaties within the Union.

3. This Procedure determines unified approaches to implementation of transport (motor) control by bodies of transport (motor) control at the external border of the Union of transport vehicles, entering (leaving, by transit) in the territory of the member states.

4. Transport vehicles, moving to the territory of one member state through the territory of another member state shall subject to transport (motor) control in the control points, located at the external border of the Union, in accordance with the legislation of the member states through the territory of which the specified transport vehicles follow, and with the paragraphs 7 and 8 of this Procedure.

5. Verification of transport vehicles, documents, necessary for the purposes of transport (motor) control, and formation of its results shall be carried out in accordance with the legislation of the member states, the territory of which they cross at the external border of the Union, and this Procedure.

6. Bodies of transport (motor) control shall mutually recognize the documents, executed by them according to the results of transport (motor) control.

7. Body of transport (motor) control of the member state, through the state border of which the entry to the customs territory of the Union is carried out, in the control points besides the actions on transport (motor) control, provided by the legislation of specified member state shall carry out:

1) verification of compliance of weight and overall parameters of transport vehicle with the rules, similar established by the legislation of other member states, along the territory of which the passage is carried out, as well as details, specified in the special permissions for transportation of oversize and (or) heavy load cargo or for the passage of large and (or) heavy vehicle along the territories of other member states;

2) verification of existence of carrier's permits for passage along the territories of other member states, on which the passage is carried out, their compliance with the type of performed transportation and compliance of characteristics of transport vehicle with requirements, provided by such permissions;

3) verification of existence of carrier's special permissions for transportation of oversize and (or) heavy load cargo, for the passage of large and (or) heavy vehicle, as well as special permissions for transportation of dangerous cargo along the territories of other member states, on which the transportation or passage is carried out;

4) verification of existence of carrier's permissions (special permissions) for transportation to the third countries (from third countries) in the territory of other member states, on which the transportation is carried out;

5) issuance of accounting voucher to the carrier on the form, coordinated by bodies of transport (motor) control, in the case, if implementation of transportation is allowed without permission for passage along the territories of other member states in accordance with the legislation of other member states, as well as in the case, if transportation is carried out in accordance with multilateral permission.

8. Bodies of transport (motor) control at the exit of transport vehicle through the external border of the Union besides actions, specified in paragraph 7 of this Procedure, in the control points shall carry out verification of:

1) existence of carrier's receipt on payment of duties for passage of transport vehicle on the auto roads of the member states, along the territories of which the passage is carried out, if the payment of such duties is mandatory in accordance with legislation of the member states;

2) existence of carrier's (driver) receipt, approving the payment of fine for violation of order of performance of international motor transportations in the territory of member state or decisions of judicial bodies on settlement of complaint for regulation on imposition of relevant administrative penalty on the carrier (driver) in the case, if the permission for passage along the territory of one of the member state or the accounting voucher has a mark of body of transport (motor) control on imposition of such fine on carrier (driver);

3) existence of access of transport vehicle of carriers of member states to the international motor transportations;

4) existence of necessary documents of carrier in the case of reception of notification, specified in paragraph 9 of this Procedure, from body of transport (motor) control of another member state.

9. Upon establishment of nonconformity of controlled parameters of transport vehicle, absence or nonconformity of documents, provided by the legislation of the member states in the course of controlled actions, provided by paragraph 7 of this Procedure, the body of transport (motor) control of one of the member state shall issue to the driver a notification on the form, coordinated by bodies of transport (motor) control of the member states, containing information on:

identified inconsistencies;

necessity of reception of missing documents before arrival to the territory of another member state; nearest control point of body of transport (motor) control of another member state, in which the carrier shall offer the evidences for removal of nonconformity of controlled parameters of transport vehicle and (or) documents, specified in notification in recognition of route of transport vehicle.

10. Information on issuance of notification shall be directed to the body of transport (motor) control of another member state and introduced to the information base of body of transport (motor) control, identified inconsistences.

11. In the case if notification is issued to the carrier by body of transport (motor) control of one of the member state in accordance with paragraph 9 of this Procedure, the body of transport (motor) control of another member state in the control point shall have a right to carry out verification of performance of this notification and in the existence of grounds to take measures to the carrier (driver) in accordance with the legislation of another member state.

The transport (road) control authority that carried out the verification of the implementation of the notification at the control point shall enter the information on the results of the verification into the information base and send this information to the transport (road) control authority that issued the notification.

Footnote. Paragraph 11 as amended by Law of the RK № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

12. Release of transport vehicle from the territory of Union shall not be carried out before presentation of documents by carrier, existence of which is provided by paragraphs 7 and 8 of this Minute.

13. Body of transport (motor) control of one of the member state upon departure of transport vehicle through the external border of the Union, moving from the territory of this state to the territory of another member state shall inform the body of transport (motor) control of another member state on establishment of nonconformity of controlled parameters of transport vehicle, absence or nonconformity of documents, provided by the legislation of the member states.

14. The member states shall take measures on harmonization of its legislation, methods and technologies of carrying out of transport (motor) control at the external border of the Union on the basis of reciprocity, in a part of:

1) requirements to the weight parameters of transport vehicles during traffic on public roads, which is a part of the international transport corridors;

2) creation of control system of full payment of duties for passage of transport vehicles on public roads of another member state;

3) formation of mechanism on regulation of disputes in the case of their occurrence with carriers of third countries;

4) formation of mechanism of return (detention) of transport vehicles in the case of violation of established requirements on execution of conditions of international motor transportation along the territory of the Union.

15. Permissions (special permissions) are invalid in the following cases:

1) such permissions are executed or used with violation of the legislation of the member state, the competent bodies of which issued them;

2) weight and (or) overall parameters of transport vehicle, specified in the special permission do not correspond to results of weighting and measuring the dimensions of transport vehicle;

3) characteristics of transport vehicle do not correspond to the characteristics of transport vehicle, provided by permission for passage along the territories of the member states.

16. Body of transport (motor) control of one member state shall have a right to promptly request an approval of validity of permission from the body of transport (motor) control of another member state in the case of establishment of nonconformity of parameters (characteristics) of transport vehicle to the parameters (characteristics), specified in the permission in the course of control actions.

17. For the purpose of implementation of this Procedure, the bodies of transport (motor) control shall:

1) conclude separate minutes, bring provisions of regulatory legal acts of its states, regulating requirements for the implementation of transport (motor) control to the bodies of transport (motor) control of another member state, inform each other on changes, introduced to the specified acts, as well as exchange the samples of documents, necessary for implementation of transport (motor) control in accordance with this Procedure;

2) mutually and regularly exchange information, received in the result of transport (motor) control. Form and procedure of exchange of specified information, as well as its composition are determined by bodies of transport (motor) control;

3) organize database maintenance on transport vehicles, moving by transit through the territory of one member state to the territory of another member state, and mutually exchange information, contained in this base.

18. Exchange of information, received according to the result of transport (motor) control shall be carried out in electronic form.

19. Bodies of transport (motor) control may present other information on transport vehicles of international transportation, transferring the goods, received according to the result of transport (motor) control.

20. For formalizing and recording the results of transport (automobile) control and vehicles, transport (automobile) control authorities shall use information resources containing information on the results of additional actions on transport (automobile) control carried out in accordance with paragraphs 7–9 of this Procedure (including on the results of the carrier's compliance with the requirements of the transport (automobile) control authority specified in the notification provided for in paragraph 9 of this Procedure), and shall also ensure the mutual use of these information resources.

Footnote. Paragraph 20 as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

21. The member states shall inform the competent bodies of states that are not the members of Union on change of procedure of carrying out of transport (motor) control at the external border of Union in the established procedure.

Annex №2
to the Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy

Procedure
of regulation of access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariff policy

1. This Procedure is developed in accordance with Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy (annex №24 to Agreement on Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – Agreement)), determines procedure of regulation of access to the services of railway transport , including the basics of tariff policy, and applies to relations between organizations of railway transport, by consumers, authorized by bodies of the member states in the scope of services of railway transport.

4. The member states shall ensure an access of carriers of the member states to the services of infrastructure with observance of principles and requirements, specified in the annexes №1 and 2 to this Procedure.

Provisions of annexes №1 and 2 to this Procedure shall be applied to the relations between the carriers of the member states on rendering of services for the use of locomotives and locomotive crews in the sites of infrastructure of the member states, which are provided on the basis of contracts (agreements), concluded between such carriers in accordance with the legislation of the member states.

5. Procedure and conditions of rendering of other services of railway transport within formation of common market of transport services shall be determined by international treaties within the Union, if it is necessary.

6. Tariffs for services of railway transport and (or) their limiting level (price limits) shall be established (changed) in accordance with the legislation of the member states and international treaties with ensuring of possibility of differentiation of tariffs in accordance with the legislation of its member state with observance of the following principles:

1) compensation of economically reasonable expenses directly related to the rendered services of railway transportation;

2) ensuring the development of railway transport in accordance with the legislation of the member states;

3) ensuring of transparency of tariffs for the services of railway transport, as well as the possibility of additional revision of such tariffs and (or) their limiting level (price limits) with a sudden change in economic conditions with the prior informing of the member states;

4) ensuring publicity of decision-making on the establishment of tariffs for the services of railway transport;

5) application of a harmonized approach to the determination of the nomenclature of cargo and rules for establishment of tariffs for the services of railway transport, provided under conditions of natural monopoly;

6) determination of the currency of tariff for the services of railway transport in each member state in accordance with the legislation of its member state.

7. Establishment (change) of tariffs for the services of railway transport and (or) their limiting levels (price limits) shall be carried out in accordance with the legislation of its member state, in recognition of this Procedure.

8. Unified tariffs on types of communications (export, import and interstate tariffs) shall be applied upon transportation of cargo by railway transport along the territories of the member states.

9. The right of making decisions, on the basis of economic feasibility, on the change of the level of tariffs for services of railway transport on transportation of cargo within the limiting levels (price limits), established or coordinated by the authorized bodies of the member states in accordance with the legislation of the member states shall be provided to the organizations of railway transport in order to improve competitiveness of railway transport of the member states, creation of favorable conditions for implementation of transportation of cargos by railway transport, involvement of new cargo traffics, that are not previously carried out by the railway transport, ensuring of possibility of the use of unused or little involved routes of transportation of cargos by railways, stimulating the growth of volumes of transportations of cargos on the railways of the member states, stimulation the introduction of new techniques and technologies.

10. Organization of railway transport shall implement a right, provided them in order to change the level of tariffs for the services of railway transport on transportation of cargo within the limiting levels (price limits) in accordance with methodology (methods, procedure, rules, instructions or other regulatory acts), approved (determined) by the authorized bodies of the member states in accordance with the legislation of the member states, with observance of basic principle of inadmissibility for creation of advantages for specific commodity producers of the member states.

11. Decision on change of the level of tariffs for the services of railway transport on transportation of cargo shall subject to official publication in accordance with legislation of the member states, compulsory direction to the authorized bodies of the member states and Commission not later than 10 business days before the date of their entering into legal force.

12. Repealed by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

13. Each Member State shall apply a unified tariff established in accordance with its legislation for the carriage of goods by rail:

between Member States, including through the territory of another Member State (territories of other Member States) and/or the territories of third countries;

between the territories of a Member State through the territory of another Member State (territories of other Member States) and/or the territories of third countries; from the territory of one Member State through the territory of another Member State (territories of other Member States) and (or) the territory of third countries to third countries through the seaports of Member States and in the opposite direction.

Footnote. Paragraph 13 – as amended by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 30.01.2024 № 56-VIII.

14. Concerted (coordinated) tariff policy shall be conducted in accordance with the Concept for establishment of coordinated tariff policy in the railway transport of the participant-states of Commonwealth of Independent States dated 18 October, 1996 upon transportations of cargo from the territory of one member state in transit through the territory of another member state to the third countries and in the opposite direction (except for the transportations of cargo via seaports of the member states), as well as upon transportations of cargos from third countries to the third countries in transit through the territory of the member states.

15. The member states shall assign the authorized bodies, responsible for implementation of this Procedure.

16. The member states shall inform each other and Commission on assignment and official name of their authorized bodies not later than 30 days from the date of entering of Agreement into legal force.

Annex №1
to Procedure of regulation of an access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariffs policy

Rules of an access to the services of infrastructure of railway transport within the Eurasian Economic Union

I. General provisions

1. These Rules shall regulate relation of carriers and operators of infrastructure in the scope of provision of an access to the services of infrastructure of railway transport at the sites of infrastructure within the Union.

2. Regulation of relations of carriers and operators of infrastructure in the scope of provision of an access to the services of infrastructure within the territory of one member state, except for the relations, provided in paragraph 1 of these Rules shall be carried out in accordance with the legislation of this member state.

II. Determination

3. The concepts used in these Rules shall have the following meanings:

"train table" – a technical standard document of operator of infrastructure, establishing organization of train traffic of all categories at the sites of infrastructure, graphically displays the passage of trains on the coordinate scale in the conventional day and is divided into standard (the planning year), variant (in certain periods of time) and operational (the current planning day);

"long term agreement for the rendering of services of infrastructure" – an agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure, concluded between the operator of infrastructure and carrier for the period not less than 5 years;

"additional application" – an application for provision of access to the services of infrastructure, received from the carrier for implementation of additional transportations in the period of action of regulatory train table;

"access to the services of infrastructure" – a possibility of reception of services of infrastructure by carriers for implementation of transportations;

"national (network-wide) carrier" – carrier, carrying out activity on transportation of cargos, passengers, luggage, cargo-luggage, postal items and ensuring implementation of a plan for formation of trains on the entire infrastructure of the member state, as well as on special and military transportations. Status of national (network-wide) of carrier shall be determined by the legislation of the member state;

"train path" – graphic display on the train table of the route of passage of train with specification of points of departure, assignment and passage, departure time, arrival, technological parks, average time of travel, as well as other technical and technological parameters of train;

"operator of infrastructure" – organization of railway transport, which owns the infrastructure and lawfully use the infrastructure and (or) rendering the services of infrastructure in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

"train formation plan" – regulatory and technical document, approved by the operator of infrastructure on the basis of projects of train formation plans of carriers and establishing categories and assignment of trains, formed at the railway stations in recognition of traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure and estimated capacity of stations;

"traffic capacity of site of infrastructure" - the maximum number of trains and pair of trains, which may be passed on the site of infrastructure for the accounting period of time ( day) depending on technical and technological possibilities of infrastructure, rolling-stock and methods of organization of train traffic in recognition of passage of trains of different categories;

"train schedule" – a document, containing information on train traffic on the specific calendar dates based on the train table;

"certificate of safety" – a document, certifying compliance of safety management system of participant of transportation process with the rules of safety in the railway transport, issued in the manner established by the legislation of the member state;

"authorized body" – a body of executive power (state management) of the member state, the competence of which includes the issues of the state regulation and (or) management in the field of railway transport, determined in accordance with the legislation of each of the member states;

"site of infrastructure" – a part of infrastructure of railway transport, adjacent to the junction of two adjacent infrastructures of the member states within the infrastructure of site for the treatment of locomotive, established by the operator.

4. Other concepts used in these Rules shall have the meanings determined in the Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy, Procedure of regulation of access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariff policy, as well as Rules of rendering of services of infrastructure of railway transport within the Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – Rules of rendering of services).

III. General principles of access to the services of infrastructure

5. Access to the services of infrastructure shall be provided in the sites of infrastructure and based on principles:

1) equality of requirements to the carriers, established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, in recognition of technical and technological possibilities within the traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure;

2) application of unified price (tariff) policy in the scope of services of infrastructure in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located in relation of carriers;

3) accessibility of information on the list of services of infrastructure, procedure of their rendering, based on the technical and technological possibilities of infrastructure, on tariffs, payment and charges for these services;

4) rational planning of works on repair, maintenance and service of infrastructure for the purposes of effective use of its traffic capacity and ensuring of непрерывности of transportation process, integrity and safety of technological processes;

5) protection of details, containing commercial or state secret, which became known in the process of planning, organization of transportation activity and rendering of services of infrastructure;

6) priority (sequence) of provision of access to the services of infrastructure to the carriers in the conditions of restricted traffic capability of infrastructure in accordance with regulatory train table;

7) ensuring of a proper technical state of the railway vehicles, used by them, by the carriers.

6. Principle of priority (sequence) of provision of access to the services of infrastructure to the carriers shall be implemented by the following levels of selection:

1) determination of train class, priority (sequence) of which is determined in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, or acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

2) in the case of identity of train classes depending on:

existence of long-term agreements for rendering of services of infrastructure in recognition of execution of contractual obligations in terms of volumes of transportations;

intensity of use of transportation capacity of sites of infrastructure by the carrier; existence of current agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure;

3) in the case of identity of the criteria, specified in subparagraphs 1 and 2 of this paragraph, carrying out the competitive procedures in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

IV. Conditions of provision of access to the services of infrastructure

7. Access to the services of infrastructure shall be provided by the operator of infrastructure in the existence of carrier:

1) licenses for carrying out of transportation activity, issued by the authorized body of the member state in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

2) security certificated, issued by the authorized body of the member state in the manner established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

3) in the staff of qualified employees, involved in the organization, management and carrying out of transportation process, having the documents, approving their qualification and professional preparation in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

8. Access to the services of infrastructure shall be provided on the basis of:

1) technical and technological possibilities of infrastructure for organization of train traffic and shunting movement within the site of infrastructure;

2) plan of formation of freight trains and train table;

3) available traffic capacity of infrastructure and proposals of carriers on the use of sites of infrastructure and distribution of traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure by the operator of infrastructure on the basis of principles of access to the services of infrastructure, determined in the section III of these Rules;

4) absence of prohibitions and restrictions, preventing the implementation of railway transportation in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

5) existence of the carrier of coordination with other bodies and organizations in the cases , if it is provided by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

9. A right of access to the services of infrastructure on defined train paths may be provided to the carriers for the period, not exceeding the term of validity of the train schedule, except for the rights, arising from the long-term agreements.

V. Provision of an access to the services of infrastructure

10. Provision of an access to the services of infrastructure shall be carried out in recognition of requirements of the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located and includes the following stages:

1) development and publication of technical specification of sites of infrastructure by the operator of infrastructure;

2) filing of an application for the access to the services of infrastructure of railway transport by the carrier within the Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – application) on the form according to the annex;

3) consideration of application by the operator of infrastructure;

4) approval of train table and train schedule;

5) conclusion of agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

Filing of an application and conclusion of agreement shall not be required in the case if the carrier is also the operator of infrastructure.

11. Provision of access to the services of infrastructure on additional transportations, not provided by regulatory train table shall be carried out on the basis of additional applications in the manner established by these Rules.

VI. Technical specification of sites of infrastructure

12. Operator of infrastructure shall annually, not later than 3 month before the date of receipt of applications, make, approve and publish the technical specification of sites of infrastructure in the manner established by the acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

13. Technical specification of sites of infrastructure shall include:

1) technical characteristics of sites of infrastructure and stations, necessary for organization of train traffic and shunting movement, with specification of length of sites of infrastructure and the form of haulage, standards of weight and the length of the trains, train speed of different categories;

2) projects of paths of train table for international passenger service;

3) predicted time of reception – transfer (exchange) of freight trains on each interstate division point, determined by decision of the Council on railway transport of the participant-states of the Commonwealth of Independent States;

4) traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure, except for the traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure, necessary for the national (network-wide) carrier for implementation of transportations in accordance with requirements of the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

14. Operator of infrastructure may specify other details and conditions for planning of transportations and organization of train traffic on the sites of infrastructure in the technical specification of sites of infrastructure.

VII. Filing and consideration of application

15. Carrier shall file an application to the operator of infrastructure.

16. Terms of beginning and termination of reception, consideration of applications, formation of original project of regulatory train table, as well as terms of provision of information, provided by paragraphs 24 and 26 of these Rules shall be established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, and (or) acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

17. Application shall include:

1) project of planned train paths;

2) information on planned annual volumes of transportations (broken down by quarter and months, as well as on types of cargo);

3) information on the number of trains, planned for transportation;

4) information on types and characteristics of locomotives, provided by carrier for ensuring of transportations;

5) documents, approving compliance of carrier with requirements, established by paragraph 7 of these Rules.

18. Application, filed by the carrier to the operator of infrastructure in hard copy and attached documents:

shall be bound, numbered and sealed by the carrier, and signed by the head or authorized person; shall be presented in Russia language or in the state language according to the place of legal registration of operator of infrastructure and shall not contain corrections or additions, and in the case of their presentation in other language shall be accompanied by the translation in Russia language, certified in the established procedure.

Documents, attached to application shall represent the originals and copies. In the case of presentation of copies of documents, the head or authorized person, signing the application shall approve their accuracy and completeness in written form.

19. An application, filed in electronic form shall be presented in accordance with paragraph 17 of these Rules in recognition of requirements of electronic document control and shall be signed by electronic digital signature.

20. An application shall subject to registration by the operator of infrastructure with issuance of document to the carrier, in which the sequential registration number, the date of reception of application and the list of accepted documents are specified.

21. Operator of infrastructure shall verify received applications for compliance with the requirements, established by paragraphs 17-19 of these Rules.

22. In the case of non-compliance of application with requirements, established by these Rules, operator of infrastructure shall notify the carrier on refusal to accept the application for consideration, in written form with specification of reasons of refusal, during 5 business days from the date of reception of application.

23. If it is necessary the operator of infrastructure shall have a right to request additional details (data), necessary for formation of regulatory train table from the carriers during consideration of applications (but not later than 1 month before the expire of the term of termination of consideration of applications).

Additional details (data), requested by operator of infrastructure shall be presented by the carrier during 5 business days from the date of reception of request from operator of infrastructure in recognition of observance of requirements for filing and execution of application.

24. The original project of regulatory train table shall be made by operator of infrastructure in recognition of applications of carriers, accepted for consideration and maximum use of traffic capacity of sites of infrastructure.

Operator of infrastructure shall inform the carrier on results of consideration of its application in the terms, determined by operator of infrastructure.

25. In the case of disagreement of carriers with original result of consideration of application, the operator of infrastructure may organize coordination procedures of harmonization, directed to resolution of disagreements (conflicts) between the interested carriers, by conducting of negotiations, in the course of which the operator of infrastructure shall have a right to propose other train paths to the carrier, other than those for which the application was filed.

26. Operator of infrastructure shall inform the carrier on coordination (inconsistency) of application in recognition of its corrections (in its existence) after conducting of all procedures, provided by this section.

VIII. Formation, development and approval of regulatory train tables and train schedule

27. Regulatory train table and train schedule shall be developed and approved by operator of infrastructure for the annual period in the manner, established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, in recognition of applications and results of conducted coordinated procedures of harmonization, accepted from the carrier.

28. Regulatory train table shall be formed by operator of infrastructure in recognition of:

1) safety ensuring of train traffic;

2) most efficient use of traffic and transportation capacity of sites of infrastructure and estimated capacity of railway stations;

3) possibility of conducting of works on maintenance and repair of sites of infrastructure.

29. Development of regulatory train table shall be carried out in recognition of principle of priority (sequence).

30. The normative train timetable shall come into force and cease to be in force on the dates determined by the decisions of the Council of Rail Transport of the Member States of the Commonwealth of Independent States.

Footnote. Paragraph 30 as reworded by Law of the RK № 6-VII dated 15.02.2021.

31. Regulatory train table and train schedule may be corrected for the freight trains in the manner, established by operator of infrastructure.

IX. Conclusion of agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure

32. Agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure shall be concluded after coordination of application by operator of infrastructure, but not later than 10 calendar days before the date of entering of regulatory train table into force.

33. Agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure shall be concluded in recognition of provisions, provided by Rules of rendering of services.

Agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure on additional applications shall be concluded not later than 1 month before commencement of the calendar month of implementation of transportations.

34. Operator of infrastructure shall have a right to refuse to the carrier in conclusion of agreement in the existence of the carrier's debts to operator of infrastructure for the rendered services of infrastructure, as well as in other cases, provided by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

35. Additional application shall be formed in accordance with requirements, provided by paragraphs 17-19 of these Rules.

36. Additional application shall subject to registration by the operator of infrastructure with issuance of a document to the carrier, in which the sequential registration number, the date of receipt of additional application and the list of accepted documents are specified.

37. Additional application shall be filed not later than 2 months before commencement of calendar month of implementation of transportations.

38. Additional applications shall be considered for compliance with requirements, established by these Rules, during 1 month from the date of their reception. The contract or additional agreements to the concluded contracts may be concluded according to the results of consideration of additional applications.

39. Operator of infrastructure may consider the possibility of allocation of additional train paths according to the additional applications of carriers.

40. Applications received after the term, established by paragraph 16 of this Rules shall not be recognized upon formation of regulatory train table and considered as additional applications.

41. Allocation of the train paths according to the additional applications shall be carried out in the manner provided by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

42. The carriers shall bear the risks of partial satisfaction or rejection of additional applications.

XI. Procedure of provision of information

43. Operator of infrastructure shall post the technical specification of sites of infrastructure, the list of regulatory legal acts, as well as acts of operator of infrastructure, regulating procedure of access to the services of infrastructure, in recognition of requirements of legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, on its official website in the Internet.

44. Operator of infrastructure and carriers shall observe requirements of legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, as well as requirements of ensuring of national security, in recognition of restrictions for distribution of information, containing details, referred to the state secret (state secrets) or details of limited distribution.

XII. Procedure of resolution of disputes

45. All disputes and disagreements between the carrier and operator of infrastructure, arising in the course of application of these Rules shall be resolved by conducting of negotiations.

46. In the case if in the course of negotiations the carrier and operator of infrastructure do not achieve consent, all disputes and disagreements shall be resolved in the manner established by legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

to Procedure of regulation of access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariff policy

Rules of rendering of services of infrastructure of railway transport within the Eurasian Economic Union

I. General provisions

1. These Rules shall determine procedure and conditions of rendering of services in the borders of sites of infrastructure of railway transport of the member states within the planning and organization of transportation activity, the list of such services, unified control principles and allocation of traffic capacity of infrastructure, essential conditions of agreements for rendering of services of infrastructure, rights, obligations and responsibility of operator of infrastructure and carriers.

II. Definitions

2. The concepts used in these Rules shall have the following meanings:

"extraordinary trains" – the trains, not provided by the train table (emergency and fire trains, snow plows, locomotives without cars, special self-propelled rolling stock), intended for elimination of obstacles to the train movement, performance of unforeseen works and relevant redeployment of transport vehicles (procedure of their movement shall be determined by the legislation of member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, or acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located);

"control of transportation process" – control process, management of train traffic and shunting operation in the operational conditions;

"shunting movement" – operations on change of train formation (coupling (uncoupling) of rolling-stock), formation (splitting) of trains, transportation of trains from park to the park, movement and interposition of locomotive of the train or exclusion of locomotive from this train, car supply on driveways or removal from such paths and other operations;

"emergency situation" – a circumstance, threatening the safety of train traffic as a result of failure of objects of infrastructure or create obstacles for the passage of trains;

"operator of infrastructure" – organization of railway transport, having the infrastructure and lawfully using infrastructure and (or) rendering the services of infrastructure in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

"transportation planning" – development of transportation plan at the objects (sites and stations) of infrastructure for the established period of time (year, month, day) in accordance with concluded agreements for rendering of services;

"daily plan of train traffic" – a document, executed by operator of infrastructure for control of transportation process and organization of train traffic in the planned day;

"technical plan" – a document, executed by operator of infrastructure on the basis of composite plan of transportations, technical plans of transportations and information of Counsel on railway transport of the participant-states of Commonwealth of Independent States.

3. Other concepts, used in these Rules shall have the meanings determined in the Minute on concerted (coordinated) transport policy, Procedure of regulation of access to the services of railway transport, including the basics of tariff policy, as well as in the Rules of access to the services of infrastructure of railway transport within the Eurasian Economic Union (hereinafter – the Rules of access).

III. Services, rendered by operator of infrastructure

4. The list of services of infrastructure of railway transport (hereinafter – the list of services) shall include the basic services, related with the use of infrastructure for implementation of transportations according to the annex to these Rules.

5. The list of operations (works), including to the composition of services of infrastructure shall be determined in recognition of technological features of transportation process and requirements of legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

6. Services of infrastructure, specified in the annex to these Rules shall be provided with observance of requirements of the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, as well as in a part of ensuring of national security.

7. Operator of infrastructure shall have a right to render other services, not specified in the annex to these Rules, in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, by agreement with carrier.

IV. Procedure for rendering of services of infrastructure

8. Rendering of services of infrastructure shall provide interaction of operator of infrastructure and carrier within the following processes of organization and implementation of transportations:

1) technological planning and regulation of transportations;

2) monthly and operational planning of transportations;

3) implementation of transportations within agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure of railway transport (hereinafter – an agreement);

4) data exchange between the operator of infrastructure and carrier.

9. Planning and regulation of transportations, correction of volumes of transportation and train table shall be carried out in the manner determined in accordance with these Rules,

Rules of access, legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, as well as acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

10. Operator of infrastructure and carriers shall execute an approved daily plan of train traffic (train table and coordinated technical plan, as well as exchange plan of trains, cars on the interstate division points, determined by decision of the Council on railway transport of participant-states of Commonwealth of Independent States).

11. Implementation of transportation shall represent a set of organizational and technologically interrelated operations of operator of infrastructure and carriers and shall be carried out in accordance with these Rules, legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, and acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

12. Use of infrastructure shall be carried out in accordance with these Rules with observance of regulations, established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, as well as in accordance with requirements on traffic safety, as well as acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

13. Maintenance of infrastructure shall be carried out in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

14. The unified principles of control of transportation process and distribution of traffic capacity shall be:

1) control of train traffic at the served sites of infrastructure by one controller;

2) execution of technological regulations and standards, contained in the train table, technological processes and technical regulations of operational work;

3) ensuring the safety of train traffic and labour protection of employees;

4) provision of priority of traffic by controller.

15. Control of transportation process shall be carried out by operator of infrastructure or authorized body for the purposes of ensuring the safety of passage of trains in the infrastructure.

Control of transportation process shall be carried out in accordance with the train table, approved daily plan of train traffic, and in the manner established by the rules of technical operation, instructions on train traffic and shunting operation at the stations, on signaling and communication, approved by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located and (or) acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

16. Processes of reception, departure and passage of trains, shunting movement of any transport vehicle (rolling-stock) or self-propelled machine, used at the site of infrastructure shall be regulated by operator of infrastructure.

Orders (instructions) of operator of infrastructure in relation of specified processes, as well as relating to ensuring of requirements of safety train traffic, standards of train table, technological processes of work of operating units of infrastructure are compulsory for all participants of transportation process.

17. Operator of infrastructure and carriers shall use information systems of operator of infrastructure for information (data) exchange in the volume, provided by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located for the purposes of carrying out of transportation process.

18. Additional information in relation to the basic information shall be presented to the carrier on the basis of separate agreements by the operator of infrastructure.

19. Operator of infrastructure may refuse to the carrier in rendering of services of infrastructure in the existence of concluded agreement in the case of:

1) termination or introduction of restriction of transportation, as well as restriction of import and (or) export of cargo, luggage, cargo-luggage in accordance with requirements of the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

2) impossibility of rendering of services of infrastructure due to occurrence of emergency situations;

3) implementation of transportations by extraordinary trains;

4) occurrence of a threat of national security or occurrence of emergency situations, circumstances of insuperable force, military operations, blockade, epidemic or other circumstances, independent of operator of infrastructure and carriers, preventing the execution of obligations on agreement;

5) establishment of another order of rendering the services of infrastructure by the authorized body by decision of the Government of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located;

6) other cases provided by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

20. Operator of infrastructure shall inform the carrier on impossibility of execution of obligations in the manner provided by agreement upon refusal to the carrier in rendering of services of infrastructure in the cases, provided by paragraph 19 of these Rules.

21. Operator of infrastructure shall take necessary measures for organization of passage of trains, moving with deviation from the train table or not provided by this schedule.

22. A fact of rendering of services by operator of infrastructure and their actual volume separately for each type service shall be approved by documents, the form of which is approved in accordance with the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, and (or) acts of operator of infrastructure, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

V. An agreement for rendering of services of infrastructure and its essential conditions

23. Services of infrastructure shall be rendered on the basis of agreement, concluded in written form between the operator of infrastructure and carrier.

24. The agreement shall not contain the regulations, contradicting to the principles and requirements, established by the Rules of access and these Rules, as well as legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located.

25. Operator of infrastructure shall have a right to terminate an agreement in the manner established by the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, in the case if during the validity of agreement, unreliability of information (except for the predicted indicators), specified in paragraph 17 of Rules of access, presented by the carrier and provided by agreement is established.

26. Assignment of right of demand of carrier, arising from the agreement, except for the cases provided by paragraph 27 of these Rules shall be prohibited.

27. If it is found impossible to use the rights, arising from agreement, the carrier may transfer this right to other carrier in the existence of concluded agreement of the last, with the consent of operator of infrastructure, on the conditions, provided by agreement.

28. The agreement shall contain the following essential conditions:

1) subject of an agreement (scope of services, share of traffic capacity of infrastructure (number of train paths), sites of infrastructure);

2) conditions and terms of rendering of services of infrastructure;

3) cost of services (tariffs, prices, rates of charges) or procedure of its determination;

4) procedure and conditions of payment of services (procedure of calculations, payment methods, currency of payment);

5) responsibility of parties on agreement for infliction of damage, non-performance or improper performance of obligations on agreement (penalties, fines, compensation of losses);

6) force majeure circumstances (circumstance of insuperable force);

7) term of validity, grounds and procedure of termination of validity (termination) of agreement, including conditions of termination of validity (termination) of agreement.

29. One-time agreement may be concluded between the operator of infrastructure and carrier in the existence of concluded agreement (or additional agreement to the contract) upon filing of additional application for the additional transportation.

VI. Rights and obligations of operator of infrastructure and carrier

30. Carrier shall have a right to:

1) direct proposals on organization of transportations to the operator of infrastructure;

2) receive information in the volume, necessary for organization of transportations in accordance with these Rules and Rules of access, with compulsory observance of requirements of the legislation of the member state, in the territory of which the infrastructure is located, as well as requirements of ensuring of national security, in recognition of restrictions for distribution of information, containing details, referred to the state secret (state secrets) or details of limited distribution;

3) obtain access to the services of infrastructure and services of infrastructure for carrying out of transportation activity, as well as in the route of the train in accordance with conditions of agreement;

Footnote. Paragraph 2 as amended by Laws of the Republic of Kazakhstan № 265-V of 24.12.2014; № 346-V of 02.08.2015; № 6-VII of 15.02.2021.

II. Specific subsidies

3. The following principles shall be applied in order to determine whether a subsidy is specific for industrial enterprise or branch of industry or group of industrial enterprises or branches of industry (hereinafter – certain enterprises) within the territory, on which the powers of subsiding body are distributed:

1) if an access to subsidy is restricted by the subsidizing body or legal act, in accordance with which the subsiding body operates, only for the certain enterprises, such subsidy shall be considered as specific upon condition that the group of industrial enterprises or group of branches of industry does not include all industrial enterprises or branches of industry in the territory of subsiding member state;

2) if objective criteria or conditions (criteria which are neutral, not an advantage for some enterprises than others, are economic by nature and horizontal according to the method of application, such as the number of employees or size enterprises) are established by the subsidizing body or legal act, in accordance with which the subsiding body operates, such subsidy shall not be considered as specific upon condition that the right to receive it is automatic and that such criteria and conditions are strictly executed. Criteria and conditions shall be determined in the Law, instruction, legal act or other official documents so that they may be verified;

3) if in spite of appearance of non-specificity, resulting from application of the principles, specified in paragraphs 1 and 2 of this paragraph, there are grounds to believe that the subsidy may in fact be specific, it may be taken into account the following factors (upon that it is necessary to bear in mind the degree of diversification of economic activity within the territory, in which the powers of subsidizing body and the time duration during which the subsidy operates are distributed):

use of subsidy by a limited number of certain enterprises;

preferential use of subsidies by certain enterprises;

provision a disproportionately large amounts of subsidies to certain enterprises;

using of discrete method, which the subsidizing body has upon making decision on provision of subsidies (in this regard, in particular, it is taken into account information about the frequency of failures or approvals of applications for subsidy and the motives of relevant decisions).

4. A subsidy the use of which is restricted by the certain enterprises, located in a designated geographical area that is a part of territory, in which the powers of subsidizing body are distributed shall be specific. Introduction or change by the state body of the member state the tax rates remaining in force within the entire territory, in which its powers are distributed shall not be considered as specific subsidy.

5. Any subsidy falling under provision of section III of this Minute shall be considered as specific.

Establishment of the fact that a subsidy is specific in accordance with this section shall be based on the evidences of existence of specific subsidies.

6. The member state shall have a right to apply to Commission for the purposes of coordination of provision by it a specific subsidy.

The member states shall not apply the compensatory measures to subsidies, which are provided in term, on conditions and volumes which are coordinated by Commission.

The member states shall direct the regulatory legal acts, providing provision of specific subsidies to the Commission in the manner of compulsory informing within the period established by international treaty within the Union provided by paragraph 7 of this Minute.

In the case if one of the member states has the grounds to believe that provision of specific subsidy to other member states may cause damage to the branch of national economy , such member state shall have a right to initiate conducting of relevant proceedings by Commission.

If the existence of damage to the branch of national economy is approved according to the results of proceeding, the Commission shall make decision on that the member state, providing such specific subsidy is obliged to eliminate conditions that lead to damage, if the member states involved in the proceedings do not agree otherwise during the term established by the international treaty within the Union provided by paragraph 7 of this Minute.

Commission shall establish the reasonable time for execution of such decision.

If the member state, in relation of which the specified decision is made, does not execute this decision of Commission in the established period, other member states may apply to the Court of the Union.

Application of provision of this paragraph shall be carried out in recognition of transitional provisions provided by paragraph 1 of Article 105 of Agreement.

7. The member states shall determine by the international treaty within the Union:

procedure of voluntary coordination with Commission of specific subsidies and adoption of relevant decisions by Commission; procedure of conducting of proceedings by Commission (as well as on facts of violation of commission, procedure of provision and use of specific subsidies, established by this Minute);

criteria on the basis of which the Commission will make decision on admissibility of inadmissibility of specific subsidies (as well as in recognition of development of existing and new cooperation ties between producers of the member states); procedure and conditions of request of information on provided subsidies by Commission.

The term of entering of specified international treaty into legal force is provided by paragraph 1 of Article 105 of Agreement.

8. In the case if the requirement in relation of receiver of subsidy (producer) on necessity of implementation of technological operations upon production of certain goods for reception of specific subsidy is established by the member state, implementation of such operations by producer of another member state in other member states shall be recognized as the proper implementation of such requirement in accordance with procedure determined by the Superior Council.

III. Prohibited subsidies

9. The following types of subsidies are prohibited:

export subsidy – subsidy, provision of which is linked as the single or one of several conditions with results of export of industrial goods from the territory of the member state providing this subsidy to the territory of another Member State;

replacement subsidy – a subsidy provision of which is linked as the single or one of the several conditions with the use of industrial goods, originating from the territory of the member state providing this subsidy.

The linkage shall be also regarded as existence of facts, certifying that provision of subsidy which is not legally conditioned by results of export of industrial goods from the territory of subsidizing member state or the use of industrial goods, originating from the territory of such member state, in fact is related with actual and expected export (exportation), or export earnings (earnings upon export), or requirement on the use of industrial goods, originating from the territory of subsiding member state.

The mere fact that subsidy is provided to the economic entity, carrying out export may not serve as a basis to consider it as export subsidy.

10. In the case if the result of provision of specific subsidy by one member state is causing a damage to the branch of national economy of another member state, such subsidy shall be prohibited.

Causing damage to the branch of national economy shall be proved in accordance with section V of this Minute.

11. The member states shall not preserve and introduce the measures, which are applied on the basis of regulatory legal act or legal act of subsiding body, observance of which is necessary for reception of specific subsidies and which correspond to the one of the following conditions:

1) contains requirements on:

conducting of procurements or the use by the economic entity the industrial goods, originating from the territory of the member state, which introduces a measure or from any other source (regardless of whether the specific goods, their volume or the cost or share of volume or the cost of the local production are determined), specified by subsiding body;

restriction of procurements or the use by the economic entity the industrial goods, imported from the territory of any of the member state in the amount related with volumes or cost of exported by this economic entity industrial goods, originating from the territory of the member state, which introduces a measure,

2) restrict to:

import by the economic entity the industrial goods from the territory of the member state, used in the local production or related to such production (as well as depending on the volume or the cost of goods, originating from the territory of the member state, which introduces a measure, and exported by this economic entity to the territory of another member state);

import by the economic entity the industrial goods from the territory of the member state, used in the local production or related to such production by restriction of access of economic entity to the currency of any member state in the volume of currency supply, due to the enterprise;

export of industrial goods by the economic entity to the territory of any member state or sale of industrial goods by economic entity to the territory of any member state (depending on specification of goods, their volume or the cost or share of volume of the cost of their local production, carrying out by this economic entity).

12. Specific subsidies, provision of which leads to a serious infringement of interests of any of the member states shall be prohibited. Serious infringement of interests of one member state shall arise in the case if the result of provision of specific subsidy by other member state is:

1) displacement of similar goods from market of subsiding member state or controlling the growth of import of similar goods, originating from the territory of any of the member state to the market of subsiding member state;

2) displacement of similar goods originating from the territory of any member state, from the market of third member state or controlling the growth of export of such similar goods to the territory of third member state;

3) significant underpricing of industrial goods, upon production, transportation or export from the territory of subsiding member state of which the specific subsidy is used, concerning the price of similar goods, originating from the territory of another member state in the same market of any of the member states or significant controlling the price increase, reduction of prices or foregone sales in the same market.

13. Serious infringement of interests specified in paragraph 12 of this Minute shall be determined in accordance with this section and approved in accordance with section V of this Minute.

14. In the territories of the member states shall not be provided and preserved the measures, specified in paragraph 11 of this Minute, as well as prohibited subsidies, as well as the following (upon that the export of goods shall be regarded as the export of goods from the territory of subsiding member state to the territory of another member state):

1) the programs, exempting the exporter from compulsory sale of part of currency earnings to the member state or allowing the use of multiple rate of currency through the partial depreciation of the national currency, in connection with which the exporter receives a benefit due to currency difference;

2) internal transportation and freight rates for export shipments, established or collected by the member state on the conditions more favorable in comparison with transportations in internal market;

3) provision of goods and services used in production of exported goods on more favorable conditions than for similar goods, used in production, sold in the internal market;

4) full or partial exemption from payment, deferment or reduction of taxes or any other deductions, paid or payable by the economic entities, linked to results of export or the use of goods, originating from the territory of the member state, providing the specified benefits. Upon that deferment shall not be necessarily a prohibited subsidy, if the fines payable for non-payment of taxes are collected. Collection of added-value tax on the zero rate from the exported goods shall not be a sign of prohibited subsidy;

5) special deductions, linked to results of export, reducing the tax base of goods, in the high volume in comparison with similar goods, sold in the internal market;

6) exemption, reduction, deferment of tax payment or special deductions applied to calculate the tax base on goods and services used in the production of export goods, to a greater extent than the exemption from payment, reduction, deferment of taxes or special deductions applied to calculate the base tax on goods and services used in the production of similar goods, sold in the domestic market;

7) collection of customs payments for raw materials and other materials, used in the production of export products, at a lower rate than for the same raw materials and other materials, used in the production of similar products for consumption in the internal market, or return of customs payments for raw materials and other materials, used in the production of export products, in the high volume than for the same raw materials and other materials used in the production of similar goods, sold in the internal market;

8) reduction or return of import duties which are collected from imported raw materials and other materials, used in the manufacture of products, if existence of domestic raw materials and other materials in the manufactured products is compulsory (independent of whether the specific goods, their volume or cost or share of volume of the cost of their local reduction are determined);

9) collection of premiums, insufficient to cover long-term operating expenses or losses on the guarantee programs or insurance of export credits, insurance or guarantee from cost increase of export goods or currency risks;

10) granting of export credits on the rates below those which the recipients of such credits actually have to pay for the use of comparable credit (the same repayment period of credit, credit currency and so on) in the market conditions, or payment of all or part of expenses, incurred by exporters or financial institutions in connection with reception of credit. Export credit practice, complying with provisions on interest rates of Arrangements on official export credits of Organization of economic cooperation and development shall not be considered as the prohibited subsidy;

11) reduction of tariffs for electric energy or energy carrier, released to the enterprise upon condition that such subsiding is linked to results of export or the use of domestic goods instead of imported.

15. Commission guided by this Minute shall not coordinate the prohibited subsidies as permissible.

Application of provisions of this paragraph shall be carried out in recognition of transitional provisions, provided by paragraph 1 of Article 105 of this Agreement.

16. In the case if one member state has the reason to believe that subsiding body of another member state provides the prohibited subsidies and (or) introduces the measures, observance of which is necessary for reception of specific subsidies, in accordance with this Minute, first member state shall have a right to apply to another member state with request on conducting of consultations on cancellation of such prohibited subsidies and measures.

17. If the member states do not reach a mutual agreement during 2 months from the date of reception of notification for conducting of consultations, specified in paragraph 16 of this Minute through the official diplomatic channels, existing differences shall be resolved in accordance with Article 93 of Agreement.

If the decision that one of the member states provides the prohibited subsidies, specified in paragraphs 9 and 12 of this Minute and (or) applies the measures, specified in paragraph 11 of this Minute is adopted according to the results of procedure of dispute resolution, this member state shall immediately cancel such prohibited subsidies and measures, regardless of whether the result of such prohibited subsidies or measures is causing of damage to the national economy or other member states and shall introduce the compensatory measure in relation of such prohibited subsidies in accordance with paragraphs 89-94 of this Minute.

18. Subsiding bodies shall have a right to provide subsidies by application of measures according to the annex to this Minute during established transitional period.

19. Subsidies which are not prohibited and specific in accordance with this Minute shall be regarded as permissible subsidies, provision of which does not distort the mutual trade of the member states.

The member states shall have a right to provide such subsidies without restrictions and in relation of such subsidies the provisions of this Minute, relating to application of compensatory and response measures or prohibition on provision of subsidies do not have effect.

20. The member states shall have a right to provide the permissible subsidies provided by this section without coordination with Commission.

Application of provisions of this paragraph shall be carried out in recognition of transitional provisions provided by paragraph 1 of Article 105 of Agreement.

21. Subsidies, specified in the section VII of this minute, which are specific in accordance with section II of this Minute, but are not recognized as distorting the mutual trade by the member states shall not give grounds for adoption of compensatory measures in accordance with section VIII of this Minute.

V. Procedure of conducting of investigations

22. Investigation for the purposes of analysis of compliance of subsidies, provided in the territory of the member states with provisions of this Minute, as well as establishment of existence of damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsiding body from the territory of the member state, provided a specific subsidy, or displacement of similar goods from market of subsiding member state shall be conducted by competent body on the basis of application of national producers of similar goods, registered in the territory of this member state, filed in accordance with this Minute in written form or on its own initiative of the competent body (hereinafter-application).

23. 10) details on the change in the volume of export of similar goods (in quantitative and value terms) from the customs territory of the Union for 3 calendar years, preceding the date of filing the application;

11) analysis of other factors, which may have an impact on branch of national economy in the analyzed period.

25. Monetary unit, established by Commission to conduct the foreign trade statistics shall be used for the purposes of comparability upon specification of cost indicators.

26. Application with annex of its non-confidential copy (if the application contains confidential information) shall be presented to the competent body and subject to registration in a day of reception of application to this body.

27. An application shall be rejected on the following grounds:

non-compliance of applicant with requirements, established by paragraph 23 of this Minute;

non-presentation of details, specified in paragraph 24 of this Minute;

unreliability of details, presented by applicant.

Rejection of application on other grounds shall not be allowed.

28. The competent body shall inform an authorized body of the member state, in the territory of which the considered specific subsidy is provided, on reception of application in written form before adoption of decision on commencement of investigation.

29. The competent body shall study the adequacy and reliability of the evidences and details, contained in the application, in accordance with paragraph 24 of this Minute during 30 calendar days from the date of registration of application for the purposes of adoption the decision on commencement of investigation. If necessary to receive the additional details from applicant by the competent body, the specified term may be extended but shall not exceed 40 calendar days from the date of registration of application.

30. Application may be withdrawn before commencement of investigation or in the course of its conducting.

In the case if application is withdrawn before commencement of investigation, such application shall be considered as unfiled.

In the case if application is withdrawn in the course of conducting of investigation, this investigation shall be terminated or continued by decision of competent body.

31. The competent body shall offer to conduct the consultations in order to clarify existence, amount and use, as well as consequences of provision of specific subsidies and in order to achieve a mutually acceptable decision, to the authorized body of the member state, provided the specific subsidy after acceptance of application for consideration and before adoption of decision on commencement of investigation. Such consultations may be conducted in the course of investigation.

32. Conducting of consultations in order to clarify existence, amount and consequences of provision of specific subsidy shall not prevent to adopt a decision on commencement of investigation by the competent body, as well as on preparation of conclusion on compliance of specific subsidy, provided in the territory of another member state, with provisions of this Minute according to the results of such investigation and (or) on causing damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods from the territory of the member state, provided the specific subsidy, and transfer the statement on application of compensatory measure to the member state, in the territory of which the considered specific subsidy is provided.

33. The competent body shall adopt decision on commencement of investigation or on refusal to conduct it before expiration of the term, specified in paragraph 29 of this Minute.

Upon adoption of decision on refusal to conduct investigation, the competent body shall notify the applicant on the reason of refusal to conduct investigation in written form in the term not more than 10 calendar days from the date of adoption of such decision.

Upon adoption of decision on commencement of investigation, the competent body shall notify an authorized body of the member state, provided a specific subsidy, as well as other interested persons, known to it on adopted decision in written form and shall ensure publication of notification on commencement of investigation in the term not more than 5 business days from the date of adoption of decision on commencement of investigation. The date of publication of notification on commencement of investigation shall be recognized the date of commencement of investigation.

34. The competent body may adopt decision on commencement of investigation (as well as on its own initiative) in the case if the body has the evidences of existence of the facts of violation of this Minute and (or) existence of damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods to the territory of this member state or displacement the similar goods by the subsidized goods from the market of the member state, provided a specific subsidy, or other member state.

In the case if the evidences are insufficient for conducting of investigation; such investigation may not be commenced.

35. The competent body shall direct the list of questions, to which they answer for the purposes of conducting the investigation, to the national producers of similar goods known to it and producers of subsidized goods, that are the object of investigation after adoption of decision on commencement of investigation.

The list of questions shall be considered as received from the date of transfer directly to the representative of national producer of similar goods or producer of subsidized goods or after 7 calendar days from the date of sending this list by mail.

National producers of similar goods and producers of subsidized goods, that are the object of investigation, to which the list of question was directed shall present their answers to the competent body during 30 calendar days from the date of reception them of such list. The specified term may be extended by the competent body but not more than 10 calendar days at the request of national producers of similar goods and producers of subsidized goods that are the object of investigation, motivated and set out in written form.

36. The competent body may conduct investigation in the territory of the member state, provided a specific subsidy, upon condition of obtaining the consent for that by the relevant producer of subsidized goods, that are the object of investigation, as well as upon condition of preliminary notification the representatives of the government of relevant member state and absence of any objections in relation of conducting of investigations in its territory from that member state, for the purposes of verification of details, presented in the course of investigation or reception of additional details, related with conducted investigation.

The competent body shall have a right to direct their representatives to the location of national producers of similar goods, conduct consultations and verifications with interested persons, get acquainted with the samples of subsidized goods that are the object of investigation and take other actions necessary for conducting of investigation, not contradicting to the legislation of the member state, conducted the investigation for the purposes of verification of details, presented in the course of investigation or reception of additional details, related with conducted investigation.

37. The competent body may direct the requests on provision of information, related to the conducted investigation to the authorized bodies of the member state, provided or providing the considered subsidy, as well to the interested persons in the course of conducting of investigation.

38. The interested persons shall have a right to provide details (as well as confidential information), necessary for conducting of investigation with specification of source of their reception not later than the date, specified in notification on commencement of investigation. The competent body shall have a right to request additional details from the interested persons

39. Evidences and details relating to investigation shall be presented to the competent body in the state language of the member state, conducted the investigation, and originals of documents in a foreign language shall be accompanied by translation, certified in the established procedure.

40. The competent body shall make an opportunity to get acquainted with details, presented in written form by any interested person as the evidences relating to investigation, to the interested persons on their request in written form in recognition of the need to protect the confidential information in accordance with this Minute in the course of investigation. The competent body shall make an opportunity to get acquainted with other information, relating to investigation and used by it in the course of investigation, but is not confidential in accordance with this Minute, to the participants of investigation.

41. Bodies of the state power (management) of the member states, authorized in the field of customs affairs, maintenance of the state statistics, other bodies of the state power (management) of the member states and territorial (local) bodies of the member states (management) shall render assistance in conducting of investigation and provide details (as well as containing confidential information), necessary for conducting of investigation, at the requests of competent body.

42. The term of conducting of investigation shall not exceed 6 months from the date of commencement of investigation.

Investigation shall be considered as completed in the day of direction the results of investigation by the competent body for consideration to the government of its state.

43. The competent body shall prepare conclusion on compliance of subsidy, provided in the territory of another member state with provisions of this Minute according to the results of investigation.

44. In the case if violation of this Minute and (or) causing damage to the branch of national economy are proved on the results of investigation, the member state, competent body of which is conducted the investigation shall transfer application on introduction of compensatory measure to the member state in the territory of which the considered specific subsidy is provided.

45. Upon determination of the branch of national economy, the territory of the member state, the competent body of which conducts an investigation may be considered as the territory, on which there are two or several competitive markets, and national producers of similar goods within one of such markets may be considered as separate branch of national economy, if such producers sell not less than 80 percent of similar goods, produced by them in this market, and demand for the similar goods in this market is not satisfied to a significant extent by the national producers of these goods, located in the rest of the territory of the member state, conducted the investigation.

In such cases the existence of damage to the branch of national economy may be established even if the damage is not caused to the main part of branch of national economy, upon condition that sale of subsidized goods is focused on one of the competitive markets and import of subsidized goods causes damage to at least 80 percent of national producers of similar goods within one of such market.

46. The amount of specific subsidy shall be determined on the basis of amount of benefit, accrued by recipient of such subsidy. Upon calculation of amount of benefit, the competent body shall consider the following:

1) participation of subsidizing body in the capital of organization shall not be considered as provision of specific subsidy, if such participation does not regard as not corresponding to the usual investment practice (including provision of risk capital) in the territory of relevant member state;

2) a credit provided by subsiding body shall not be considered as specific subsidy, if the difference between the amount, which organization – credit recipient pays for the state credit, and the amount, which it would have paid for comparable commercial credit, which this organization may receive on the credit market of relevant member state is absent. Otherwise the benefit is the difference between these amounts;

3) guaranteeing of credit by subsiding body shall not be considered as provision of specific subsidy, if the difference between the amount, which organization - guarantee beneficiary pays for the credit, guaranteed by subsiding body and the amount, which it would have paid for comparable commercial credit without state guarantee is absent. Otherwise the benefit is the difference between these amounts as adjusted for the difference in fees;

4) supply of goods by subsiding body or rendering of services or procurement of goods shall not be considered as provision of specific subsidy, if the goods or services are supplied for less than adequate remuneration or procurements are not carried out for more than adequate remuneration. The adequacy of remuneration shall be determined on the basis of existing market conditions of procurement and sale of such goods and services in the market of relevant member state (including the price, quality, availability, liquidity, transportation and other conditions of procurement or sale of goods).

47. Calculation of the amount of subsidy shall be carried out on the unit price (ton, cubic meter, piece, etc.), imported to the territory of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation or sold in the market of the member state, in the territory of which a specific subsidy is provided or in the market of another member state.

48. Inflation rates shall be considered in the relevant member state upon calculation of amount of subsidy in the case, if the rates of inflation are so high that it may distort the results obtained.

49. The amount of subsidy on the unit of goods shall be established based on the amount of expenses of the member state provided a specific subsidy for these purposes.

50. Upon calculation of amount of subsidy on the unit of goods, the cost of such goods shall be determined as the total cost of sales of recipient of subsidy for 12 months that preceded to receive subsidies, and for which there is the necessary data.

51. Upon calculation of amount of subsidy it is necessary to deduct amount of any of registration charges or other expenses, incurred for reception of subsidy from the total amount of subsidy.

52. If the subsidy is not provided in relation of certain number of produced, exported or transported industrial goods, the calculation of amount of subsidy on the unit of goods shall be carried out by dividing the total cost of subsidy by the volume of production, sale or export of such goods for the period of provision of subsidies, if necessary, in recognition of the share of imported subsidized goods in the total volume of production, sale or export of goods.

53. If the subsidy is provided in connection with development or acquisition of basic funds, the calculation of amount of subsidy shall be carried out by distribution of subsidies for the average depreciation period of such basic funds in the considered branch of economy of the member state, provided a specific subsidy. Calculation of amount of subsidy on the unit of goods shall also include subsidies, which are provided for acquisition of basic funds before commencement of period covered by the investigation, but the depreciation period of which has not yet expired.

54. Upon calculation of the amount of subsidy in the case if the value of subsidy, provided at different times or for different purposes for the same goods, is different, weighted average amounts of subsidy shall be applied based on the volume of production, sales and export of goods.

55. If the subsidy is provided in the form of tax exemptions, the cost of goods shall be determined by calculating the total cost of its sales for the last 12 months, during of which the tax exemptions are applied.

56. Subsidies provided during a calendar year by different subsiding bodies and (or) for execution of different programs shall be added.

57. The fact of displacement of similar goods from the market of subsiding member state or from the market of another member state, or controlling the growth of import of similar goods to the territory of subsiding member state or controlling the growth of export of goods to the territory of another member state shall be established in the case if it is proved that there has been an adverse change of share of similar goods in the market of subsiding member state or in the market of another member state concerning the subsidized goods. The specified fact shall be established for the period, sufficient to prove the clear trends in the development of market of relevant goods, which in the normal conditions is not less than 1 year.

58. Adverse changes of share of similar goods in the market of subsiding member state or in the market of another member state shall include one of the following situations:

1) a market share of subsidized goods increases;

2) a market share of subsidized goods remains unchanged in the circumstances, upon which it shall be reduced in the absence of specific subsidy;

3) a market share of subsidized goods is falling, but at a slower rates than it would occur in the absence of specific subsidies.

59. Underpricing shall be established on the basis of price comparison of subsidized goods in the relevant market with the prices of goods, upon production, transportation or export to the territory of any of the member state of which the specific subsidy is not used. Comparison shall be made on the same level of trade and for comparable time periods. Any factors affecting on the price comparability shall be taken into account in the course of comparison. In the case of the specified comparison is impossible to make, the existence of underpricing may be established on the basis of average export prices.

60. In the case if two member states conduct a dispute in accordance with Article 93 of Agreement on existence of serious infringement of interests according to paragraphs 12, 57-59, 61 and 62 of this Minute in the market of third member state, such member state shall provide its statistical information, relating to the subject of dispute, in relation of changes of share of goods, originating from the territory of the member states that are the parties of dispute in the market of such third member state, as well as statistical information on the prices of relevant goods to the member states that are the parties of dispute.

61. The fact of existence of serious infringement of interest may not be established in the existence of the following consequences during the relevant period of time:

1) existence of prohibition or limitations of export of goods from the territory of the member state, establishing the fact of existence of serious infringement of interests, or prohibition or restrictions of import of goods from the territory of such member state to the market of another member state;

2) adoption of decision to redirect import from the member state, establishing the fact of existence of serious infringement of interests to import from another member state for non-commercial reasons by the authorized body of the member state, which imports the similar goods and practices the trade monopoly or the state trading of these goods;

3) natural disasters, strikes, transport disruptions or other force majeure, which have a serious negative impact on production, quality, quantity or price of goods intended for export from the member state, establishing the fact of a serious infringement of interests;

4) the existence of arrangements limiting export from the member state which establishes the fact of a serious infringement of interests;

5) voluntary reduction of possibility for export of industrial goods from the member state which establishes the fact of a serious infringement of interests (including the situation where the economic entities of this member state autonomously redirect the export of these similar goods to new markets);

6) non-compliance with standards and (or) other administrative requirements in the member state, to the territory of which the goods are imported.

62. The existence of serious infringement of interests shall be determined on the basis of information, provided to the Court of the Union or received by the Court of the Union independently in the absence of circumstances, specified in paragraph 61 of this Minute.

63. A damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsiding goods shall be established on the basis of results of analysis of volume for import of subsidized goods and impact of such import on the price of similar goods in the market of the member state, the competent body of which conducts investigation, and on the national producers of similar goods.

64. The competent body shall determine whether there was an increase in the import of subsidized goods (in the absolute terms or relative to production or consumption of the similar goods in the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation) upon analysis of volume of import of subsidized goods.

65. Upon analysis of impact of import of subsidized goods on the price of similar goods in the market of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation, the competent body shall establish:

1) whether the prices of subsidized goods were below the prices of similar goods in the market of this member state;

2) whether the import of subsidized goods led to decrease in prices of similar goods in the market of this member state;

3) whether the import of subsidized goods are prevented to the growth of prices of similar goods in the market of this member state, which would have occurred in the absence of such import.

66. Analysis of impact of import of subsidized goods on the branch of national economy shall be concluded in the assessment of economic factors, relating to the state of branch of national economy as well as:

1) happened or possible reduction of production, sale of similar goods, its share in the market of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation, profits, productivity of labour, incomes from investments or capacity utilization in the future;

2) factors having an effect on the prices of similar goods in the market of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation;

3) happened or possible negative impact on movement of money flow, stocks of similar goods, employment level, salary, rates of increase of production, possibility of attraction of investments in the future.

67. Impact of import of subsidized goods on the branch of national economy shall be estimated relating to production of similar goods in the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation, if the existing data allow to allocate production of similar goods on the basis of such criteria as the production process, sale of goods by its producers and profit. In the case if the existing data do not allow allocating production of similar goods, impact of import of subsidized goods on the branch of national economy shall be estimated relating to production of the most narrow group or nomenclature of goods, which includes the similar goods and which has the necessary data.

68. Establishment of damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods shall be based on analysis of all evidences and details, relating to the case and available to the competent body. Competent body shall also analyze dynamics and impact of import supplies of similar goods on the customs territory of the Union, supplies from other member states. Upon that neither one, nor several factors of the number of volume of import of subsidized goods, established in the result of analysis and impact of such import on the branch of national economy may not have crucial significance for establishment of damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods. In addition to the import of subsidized goods, the competent body shall analyze other known factors as a result of which damage is caused to the branch of national economy in the same period. Specified damage shall not be related by the competent body to the damage of branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods.

69. Upon establishment of a threat of causing material damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods, the competent body shall consider all factors, as well as the following:

1) the nature, amount of subsidy or subsidies and their possible impact on trade;

2) the growth rates of import of subsidized goods, certifying the real possibility of a further increase of such import;

3) the existence of producers of subsidized goods in the subsiding member state sufficient opportunities to increase the import of subsidized goods or apparent inevitability to increase such opportunities;

4) price level of subsidized goods, if such price level may lead to reduction or controlling the price of similar goods in the market of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation and to further growth in demand for subsidized goods;

5) stocks of subsidized goods of producer.

70. Upon that neither one, nor several factors specified in paragraph 69 of this Minute may not have crucial significance for establishment of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of national economy due to import of subsidized goods.

71. Decision on existence of a threat of causing of material damage to the branch of national economy shall be adopted in the case if, the competent body came to conclusion on inevitability of continuing of import of subsidized goods and causing material damage to the branch of national economy by such import in the case of non-adoption of compensatory measure in the course of investigation according to the results of analysis of factors, specified in paragraph 69 of this Minute.

72. The interested persons upon conducting of investigation shall be:

1) national producer of similar goods, association of national producers, majority of participants of which are producers of similar goods;

2) producer of subsidized goods that are the object of investigation, association of producers of such subsidized goods, majority of participants of which are producers of these goods;

3) subsidizing member state and (or) authorized body of subsiding member state;

4) public associations of consumers (in the case if subsidized goods that are the object of investigation are consumed mainly by individuals);

5) consumers of subsidized goods that are the object of investigation (in the case if they use these goods upon manufacture of products) and associations of such consumers.

73. The interested persons specified in paragraph 72 of this Minute shall act in the course of investigation independently or through their representatives, which have duly executed powers in accordance with the legislation of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation.

In the case if the interested person in the course of investigation acts through the authorized representative, the competent body shall bring all details on subject of investigation to the interested person only through this representative.

74. Information presented by interested person to the competent body shall be considered as confidential upon presentation the grounds by this person, certifying on that disclosure of such information provides an advantage in the conditions of competition to the third person or entails adverse consequences for person, presented information or for person which has received this information.

Confidential information shall not be disclosed without permission of interested person presented it, except for the cases provided by the legislation of the member states.

The competent body shall have a right to request presentation of non-confidential copy from the interested person, presented confidential information. Non-confidential copy shall contain details sufficient to understand the essence of presented confidential information. If in response on this requirement the interested person claims that confidential information may not be presented in such form, this person shall present other grounds.

actions, taken in wartime or in other emergency circumstances in international relations;

3) as an obstacle to any member state to take any actions in execution of its obligations on the United Nations Charter for preservation the world peace and international security.

77. Provisions of this Minute shall not prevent to the member states to use the specific subsidy, distorting the trade, if such subsidies are introduced in the exceptional circumstances (upon condition that the purpose of these measures is not the restriction of import of goods from the territory of other member states and such measures are not discriminatory) and if their introduction is conditioned by the need of protection:

1) public morality, public legal order and national security;

2) life or health of people, animals and plants;

3) national treasures of artistic, historic or archaeological value;

4) intellectual property rights;

5) exhaustible natural resources (if such measures are conducted simultaneously with restriction of internal production or consumption).

VII. Specific subsidies, provision of which is the ground for adoption of compensatory measures

78. Provision of such specific subsidy as assistance for research activity, carried out by economic entities, as well as institutions of higher education and scientific institutions with the economic entities on a contract basis shall not be the ground for adoption of compensatory measures, upon condition that such assistance covers not more than 75 percent of the cost of industrial researches or 50 percent of the cost of development at the pre-competitive stage and that it is provided exclusively for cover:

1) expenses for employees (researchers, technicians and other support personnel exclusively engaged in research activity);

2) expenses for instruments, equipment, land and constructions used exclusively and permanently for research activity (except for the sale on a commercial basis);

3) expenses for consultative and equivalent services used exclusively for research activity (including procurement the results of scientific researches, technical knowledge, patents, etc.) ;

4) additional overhead expenses incurred directly as a result of the research activity;

5) other current expenses (on materials, support, etc.), incurred directly as a result of the research activity.

79. The industrial researches shall be regarded as planned researches or most important researches, directed to discovery of new knowledge in reliance on that such knowledge may be useful in development new goods, technological processes or services, as well as for significant improvement of existing goods, processes or services for the purposes of this section.

The development at the pre-competitive stage shall be regarded as transfer of results of industrial researches into the plan, drawing or model of new, modified or improved goods, technological processes or services, intended for sale or use (including creation of the first prototype, unsuitable for commercial use). Specified development may also include formulation of the concept and design of alternative goods, methods or services, as well as initial demonstration or pilot projects upon condition that they may not be adapted or used for industrial use or commercial operation. Specified development shall not be applied to current and periodic changes in the existing goods, production lines, production processes, services, and other ordinary operations, even if such changes lead in improvement.

80. Permissible level of aid, specified in paragraph 78 of this Minute, not giving the grounds for adoption of compensatory measures shall be established in relation to total amount of relevant expenses, incurred for the period of carrying out of specific project.

In the case of implementation of programs, combining industrial researches and development at the pre-competitive stage, permissible level of aid, not giving the grounds for adoption of measures shall not be higher than the average arithmetic mean of permissible levels for these two categories, calculated in recognition of all expenses, specified in paragraph 78 of this Minute.

81. Provisions of this Minute shall not be applied to the basic scientific researches, conducted by institutions of higher education or scientific institutions independently. The basic scientific researches shall be regarded expansion of the general scientific and technical knowledge, not related with industrial or commercial purposes.

82. Help to disadvantaged regions in the territory of the member state, which is provided in the general framework of regional development shall be nonspecific (in recognition of provisions of section II of this Minute) and distributed between the regions upon condition that:

1) each disadvantaged region shall represent clearly marked compact administrative and economic zone;

2) such region is considered as disadvantaged on the basis of neutral and objective criteria , indicating that the region's difficulties arise not only because of temporary circumstances (such criteria shall be clearly determined in the Laws, rules or other official documents so that they may be verified);

3) criteria specified in subparagraph 2 of this paragraph shall include the measurement of economic development, which is based on at least one of the following indicators, measured over the 3-years period (such measurement may be complex and may consider other indicators):

income per capita or per household or the size of the gross domestic product per capita, which shall not exceed 85 percent of the average index for the relevant territory;

the level of unemployment, which shall be at least 110 percent of the average index for this territory.

83. The general frameworks of regional development shall mean that regional programs of subsiding are the part of the internally consistent and universally applicable policy of regional development and that subsidy for regional development are not provided for certain geographical points, have no or almost no effect on the development of the region.

Neutral and objective criteria shall mean the criteria which do not provide the benefits to certain regions in addition to what is necessary to eliminate or reduce differences between the regions within the policy of regional development. In this regard, the regional programs of subsidizing shall include the maximum amounts of duties, which may be provided for each subsidized project. Such maximum amounts are differentiated according to the level of development of regions, to which the assistance is rendered, and are expressed in the form of expenses for investment or job creation. Within these amounts, the assistance shall be distributed widely enough to avoid preferential use of subsidies or provision of disproportionate amounts to the certain enterprises in accordance with section II of this Minute.

84. Assistance in adapting of existing production facilities (which are regarded as production facilities in operation for at least 2 years before introduction of new requirements for environmental protection) to the new requirements in relation of environmental protection, imposed by the legislation and (or) regulatory acts which entail additional restrictions and strengthening the financial load for economic entities shall not be the ground for adoption of compensatory measures, upon condition that such assistance:

1) is one-time, non-recurrent measure;

2) has not more than 20 percent of expenses on adaptation;

3) does not cover expenses for change and operation of subsidized equipment, which are assigned to enterprise;

4) is directly related and proportional to the reduction of pollution planned by the economic entity and does not cover savings in production expenses which may be reached;

5) is available for all economic entities that may cross over to the new equipment and (or) production processes.

VIII. Introduction and application of compensatory measures and response measures

85. The competent body of one of the member state shall have a right to conduct investigation on compliance of subsidies, provided in the territories of other member states with provisions of this Minute or investigation on the subject of application of measures, specified in paragraph 11 of this Minute by other member states in the manner established by section V of this Minute. The competent body initiated an investigation shall inform the member states on commencement of investigation. The competent bodies shall have a right to request necessary information on the course of conducting of investigation.

86. In the case if the competent body of one member state in the result of conducted investigation establishes that the subsiding body of another member state provides a specific subsidy and this specific subsidy causes damage to the branch of national economy of the member state, the competent body of which conducts the investigation, such competent body may transfer the statement on application of compensatory measure to the subsiding member state. The specified statement shall contain the evidences of non-compliance of subsidy with provisions of this Minute.

87. In the case if the existence of damage to the branch of national economy of one of the member states is approved by Commission based on the results of proceedings, held in accordance with paragraph 6 of this Minute, the competent body of such member state may transfer the statement on application of compensatory measure to the subsiding member state. The specified statement shall contain the evidences of inadmissibility of subsidy in accordance with subparagraph 3 of paragraph 6 of Article 93 of Agreement.

The member states shall not apply the compensatory measures to subsidies, coordinated by Commission in accordance with paragraph 6 of this Minute.

Application of provisions of this paragraph shall be carried out in recognition of transitional provisions, provided by paragraph 1 of Article 105 of this Agreement.

88. The statement on application of compensatory measure may be granted voluntary by the member state, received such statement, in the term not exceeding 2 months or according to the results of resolution of disputes.

89. The member state received the statement on application of compensatory measure, legality of which is recognized voluntarily by such member state or based on the results of resolution of disputes in accordance with Article 93 of Agreement shall introduce the compensatory measure in accordance with statement during 30 calendar days.

90. The compensatory measure, introduced in accordance with paragraph 89 of this Minute shall be composed of the sum of provided subsidy, specified in the statement on application of compensatory measure and interest, accrued on the amount of subsidy for the entire period of use of these funds (property).

The amount of subsidy is calculated in accordance with this Minute.

The interest rate is equal to the one and a half amount of the rate of refinancing, effective on the date of provision of subsidy and established by the national (central) bank of the subsidizing member state. Upon that the interest rate is calculated by applying a compound interest in relation of all period from the date of provision of subsidy to the date of execution of compensatory measure.

Compound interest means the interest accrued each year in the amount with interest accrued in the previous year.

91. The compensatory measure is executed after that the amount of subsidy was withdrawn from receiver of subsidy and transferred in the budget of subsiding member state in recognition of relevant interest.

92. The compensatory measure is not executed if it is collected from sources other than those specified in paragraph 91 of this Minute.

The source of collection of compensatory measure may be changed by mutual agreement of the claimant state and respondent state exclusively for the avoidance of evasion of payment of means composing the compensatory measure by the recipient of subsidy.

93. Execution of compensatory measure is sufficient basis for that the granted statement on application of compensatory measure was executed. Upon that the member state shall execute such statement in the term not exceeding 1 calendar year from the date of granting of such statement.

94. In the case if the member state does not execute the granted statement on application of compensatory measure in the established term, the stated member state shall have a right to apply the response measures which are approximately proportionate to the compensatory measure.

The response measures shall be regarded as temporary suspension of execution of obligations in relation of the member state, against whom the response measure is introduced, arising out of existing agreements of trade and economic nature between them (except for the relating to the oil and gas industry) by the member state, which introduces the response measure for the purposes of this Minute.

The response measures shall have temporary nature and shall be applied by the claimant state only as long as the measure, violating provisions of Agreement will be cancelled or amended so as to comply with the provisions of Agreement or until the member states agree otherwise.

IX. Notifications

95. The member states (authorized bodies of the member states) shall annually, not later than 1 December, notify each other and Commission of all subsidies, planned to provide in the next year, at the federal (republican) and regional (municipal, local) levels.

The member state shall not refer information on provided subsidies to confidential, except for the cases provided by paragraph 76 of this Minute.

96. Information sources for notifications shall be the items of expenditures of projects of federal/republican budget, as well as budgets of administrative and territorial units in accordance with paragraph 95 of this Minute.

97. Repealed by the Law of the Republic of Kazakhstan dated 19.04.2024 № 75-VIII.
